It is the climax.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE bids you welcome.

A year of planning and preparation is being concentrated into a few hours this evening. All the planning, all the preparation has had one goal in view, to put into being an ear filling, eye filling feast of music, pageantry, dance, light, to make the Chicagoland Music Festival a great festival.

Unless all those who have been making the plans have gone entirely blind and deaf within the last few weeks, it will be great.

Enormous massed bands, huge choruses, a regiment of drummers and buglers, an army of costumed dancers, the most brilliant soloists, prize bands, and prize choruses to be found in all Chicagoland, and a group of famous band directors, choral conductors, community sing leaders to bring them up on their toes—yours, too, sir and madame, when you hear them. These, and more besides, will be on Soldiers' field tonight.

Figures Tell the Story.

Nine hundred thirteen drummers and buglers in their respective corps units, marching and countermarching in proudest parade stride about the field.

Eighteen hundred eighty-seven bandsmen in a collective group and playing the most inspiring of the Sousa marches under the batons of Arthur Pryor and A. A. Harding.

Six hundred Negroes singing spirituals with all the inspired fervor of their emotional souls. James A. Mundy and J. Wesley Jones, two of the most brilliant choral conductors of their race, will conduct.

Musicians from Many States.

Two hundred thirty players from the National Music camp of Interlochen, Mich., the picked high school musicians of 38 states, making their first appearance on these programs, and directed by Joseph E. Maddy.

Three thousand choristers of the Choral Directors' guild, an extra fine chorus, also newcomers on these programs, directed by George L. Tenney.

Five thousand singers in the Hallelujah chorus from Handel's "The Messiah," singing under the inspired leadership of Noble Cain, and from the beginning one of the high spots of the festival programs.

Largest Community Sing.

Do you take delight in adding your voice to the greatest community sing ever put together? When the whole audience (in Soldiers' field, 125,000 strong, suddenly lifts up its collective voice in "Sweet Adeline" and some of the other best loved songs, it is a cosmic, lyric outburst beyond all description. It is almost as though Lake Michigan had all at once decided to burst into song.

Or are you moved—and who is not?—by a magnificent display of fireworks? There will be a great patriotic finale at the end of the program tonight, a gigantic matter of band, song and especially constructed pyrotechnic apparatus warranted to bring you to your feet in a burst of emotion. So

THE PRESENT STATUS OF THE WAR DEBTS

GREEN EXULTS OVER NRA O. K. OF UNION RIGHTS

Warns Auto Chiefs Law Backs Labor.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Organized labor exulted today in its new strength under the national recovery act and trumpeted defiant demands for higher wages, shorter hours, for freedom to organize, as hearings on the automobile manufacturing code were begun and closed in four and a half brief hours.

The conclusion of the hearings meant that the country's motor car makers—composing one of the major four groups of industrial America—had been pushed another step nearer the entrance of the big top of the NRA.

Forum for Labor Chief.

The meeting was a forum for William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. Through the din of argument and counter-argument over the open shop and hours and pay his voice rose loudest, shouting out the news that the federal government has at last committed itself in black and white and by virtue of act of congress to the side of organized labor.

Mr. Green fairly reveled in the famous section 7A of the recovery act, which requires every code to guarantee the employés' right to bargain collectively without managerial interference, which prohibits membership in a company union from being made a condition of employment.

"We went to congress and congress wrote those provisions into the act," he declared. "The employers had their day in court, too, but congress refused to listen to any modification. And now section 7A is as fixed and eternal as the stars in heaven."

Turns on Motor Magnates.

Then he wheeled upon the motor magnates clustered upon the stage of the commerce department auditorium and scattered among the audience seats.

The code submitted by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, of which all the major motor companies except the Ford company are members, contains a provision seeking to perpetuate the open shop. Labor charges the provision with meaning a closed shop for union workers.

"It is poor sportsmanship," cried Mr. Green, "and indefensible conduct for them to come here and argue that the code should include the modifications which congress refused to accept."

Ford Company Not In.

If Mr. Green was headliner of the show he had as close second a man who wasn't even in the theater, and that was Henry Ford. The Ford company did not join in submitting the code, had no representatives in attendance, and many were the conjectures concerning the plans of the boss of Dearborn. Some thought he would come in at the last with a headline-making fanfare. Some figured he would await the adoption of the code and then put into effect still higher wages, thus seeking to preserve his open shop status.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, in opening the meeting didn't mention Mr. Ford's name. But he made it perfectly plain that the Ford company is going to have to travel in the same boat with its competitors.

Gen. Johnson tickled the pockets of his hearers by predicting that the recovery campaign would send citizens in a rush to buy new cars for the ancient ones they have made last through the depression; he visioned a "blue eagle on every car."

Fears Price Increases.

Then he said:

"It is a matter of regret to me that the industry as here represented does not include 100 per cent of automobile manufacturers. I hope that that condition will not be long continued, because certain it is that in the administration of this law and in the placing of the insignia of cooperation on the product and the merchandise of every manufacturer no exception can be made in favor of a manufacturer, whether he is large or whether he is small. We are going to execute this law as we find it. We are going to execute it without exception and without fear and without favor."

Donald R. Richberg, general counsel, also spoke on behalf of the recovery administration. In his official capacity he warned the automobile men that though they might provide in their code that employment and advance ment would be without regard to

New Suspect in Kidnaping of Hamm Seized

Arthur I. Reese, 38 years old, an alleged member of the Touhy gang, wanted for questioning in the kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer, for which Roger Touhy, gang boss, and three of his men are being held, was arrested yesterday in La Salle, Ill., by Sheriff E. J. Welter of La Salle county.

This was the newest development in the investigation in which federal authorities and state and Chicago police are coöperating. Earlier in the day Chief of Detectives Schoemaker revealed the identities of two gunmen who, he said, figured in last Tuesday's fiasco in which two gang members escaped a trap of 250 policemen. In this instance the gang had demanded a post-kidnaping ransom from "Jake" Factor.

Revolver Found in Car.

Reese was caught with a revolver in his automobile. Six other weapons, including several rifles and a shotgun, were seized in his room in the home of John Rolando of Ladd, Bureau county, whose wife is a cousin of Reese. Sheriff Welter also seized $1,080 belonging to Reese. Of this amount $700 was in $100 bills. This money will be checked against the Hamm ransom money.

Reese's arrest, it was said, was caused by a woman acquaintance. He had been in and out of La Salle for the last week, sometimes staying at the Rolando home, sometimes in La Salle. He refused to talk about the guns or money. He said he had been questioned once by federal agents about the Hamm case, but had been released.

In the Chicago developments the men identified by Chief Schoemaker as figuring in the trap escape were named as Basil Banghardt, 39 years old, professional gang chauffeur, and Ludwig [Dutch Louie] Schmidt, 52, a safeblower and prison breaker. Schmidt, Schoemaker said, was once a pal of Gerald Chapman, who was hanged, and George [Dutch] Anderson, who was slain by police.

"Wizard Driver" Eludes Trap.

Banghardt, the chief added, was the "wizard driver" who with twenty-seven squad cars and two airplanes closing in piloted the gang's sedan back and forth on country roads like a base runner between fielders in a ball game until the sedan was wrecked in a woods, whence he and another of the gang escaped on foot.

His companion in the car, police have established, was Charles (Ice Wagon) Connors, whose connection with the case was disclosed Thursday night. Connors, an old time bank robber, now 51 years old, has been discovered to be the same individual as the Eugene Crotty to whom the license for the sedan was issued. While Banghardt drove the car and Connors seized the package, Schmidt was nearby in another machine to make certain that the taxi carrying the disguised policemen was not trailed.

Confirm Police Theory.

Study of the records of Banghardt, Schmidt and Connors confirms the theory the police have long entertained that the Touhy gang is comprised of a loosely knit band of the most notorious desperadoes in the country, most of them fugitives from justice.

The leader of the mob, Roger Touhy, and three other henchmen, captured three weeks ago by a constable at Elkhorn, Wis., and subsequently indicted by a federal grand jury for the kidnaping of Hamm, were to be transferred today to St. Paul from the Milwaukee county jail, where they have been lodged.

Their attorney, William Scott Stewart of Chicago, unexpectedly waived a removal hearing yesterday when the four were arraigned before Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger in Milwaukee.

INDUSTRY WILL GIVE PLAN TRIAL FOR 3 MONTHS

Agree for Labor to Organize.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19 [Saturday].—An agreement upon a code for the steel industry was reached early this morning at an after-midnight conference between Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, and the heads of the country's major steel corporations.

The agreement on the steel code ended a day in which President Roosevelt and the officials of the recovery administration bent every effort toward completion of the all-important steel, oil, and coal codes before tonight's deadline set by the President.

The steel code embraces a 90 day trial period during which an average 40 hour week with a maximum of 48 hours of six days a week will be in effect. Minimum wages fixed by the code, it is estimated, will exceed an average of 40 cents an hour.

Code Read to President.

The agreement had been read to the President over the telephone and was approved by him as well as by Gen. Johnson, the steel industry, and the labor advisory board of the NRA.

It was agreed that on or after Nov. 1, 1933, as soon as production reaches 60 per cent of capacity, the eight hour day for all employés except supervisory, technical and emergency will be put into effect. The agreement cited that a general wage increase of 15 per cent had been made since July 1.

The agreement stated that the "code will be effective for 90 days as a trial period to determine effect."

The collective bargaining feature of the recovery act has not been involved, the industry having receded from its stipulation that the company union plan fulfilled the conditions of the law.

NRA to Get Full Information.

"Provision is made for three representatives of NRA to receive full information, with access to necessary records, to meet with the board of directors of the Iron and Steel institute upon administration of the code and advise the President so as to provide assurance that code operation is in full compliance with the law, providing adequate protection of public interest and furnishing the basis for recommendation to the President as to continuation or modification of the code after 90 days' period of trial and determination of results."

It was not until nearly 1 o'clock in the morning that the session in Gen. Johnson's office ended, and the steel men, looking warm and glum, emerged. A half hour later Gen. Johnson, coat off, the collar of his damp shirt open, emerged to announce the bare details of the code agreed upon and that it would probably be signed by the President today.

In an adjoining office a conference of the labor advisory committee on the coal code was in session.

As Gen. Johnson had described it earlier, "I've got two dens of lions in there." Then he went back wearily to resume his rôle of Daniel.

Progress on Coal Code.

Progress on the coal code was reported and that, too, it was said, would soon be ready for signature.

The oil code, which was presented to the industry yesterday in the face of objections from many of the industry's members, was to have been ready last night, but was not. The objections caused it to be delayed. But the oil code also may be ready to sign by some time today.

If the official predictions are carried out, therefore, the deadline—that is, the President's departure late tonight to resume his vacation at his summer home at Hyde Park—will see perhaps two of the basic codes approved and signed and a third well on the way.

Hearings Are Concluded.

Earlier in the day hearings had been concluded on the automobile manufacturing code, thus pushing the fourth basic industry closer to its inclusion within the program of federal supervision. It was no tea party but a long and hard fought session which put the steel code over. The afternoon gave way to evening and evening to night as Gen. Johnson, Deputy Administrator Kenneth M. Simpson, and Counsel Richberg wielded the big stick over the steel men.

Behind the closed doors of Gen. Johnson's office they talked turkey to the following: William A. Irvin, president of United States Steel; Eugene G. Grace, Bethlehem Steel president;

Arrest Nazi for Beating U. S. Doctor

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—The Nazi storm trooper who struck Dr. Daniel Mulvihill of Brooklyn, N. Y., on the head Tuesday night when the doctor failed to give the Nazi salute as he watched a parade of storm troopers has been arrested and faces severe punishment.

The storm trooper was arrested following a vigorous protest to the German government by American officials yesterday against repeated attacks on Americans by Nazis. Tonight George S. Messersmith, American consul general here, said:

"This constitutes the quickest action we have yet obtained in cases involving Americans."

Doctor's Ear Drum Cracked.

Dr. Mulvihill, who is a surgeon with the Long Island College of Medicine, has not recovered his full hearing yet. His ear drum was cracked and he still is in danger of remaining partly deaf. He is a chest specialist, to whom hearing is essential.

The Nazis today barred Jews from the Wannsee lakeside bath. Wannsee is Berlin's favorite week-end spot and the most modern open air bath in Germany. Thousands swim and sun bathe there daily.

A performance of the operetta at Woerishofen, Bavarian holiday resort, was attended by Dr. Walter Darre, minister of agriculture. Afterward Darre issued a ukase forbidding further performance of the piece. "Farmers are the basis of the new Germany," he said.

Former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening today denied published reports that he had warned the Vatican against signing the recently concluded concordat with the Hitler government. The report had said that Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, Dr. Bruening's arch enemy, was told of this warning by the Vatican.

Nazi Victim Back in U. S.

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Walter Orloff, American medical student at the University of Griefswald, who was arrested by German police on July 1 and held a prisoner until he was released to sail for home, arrived today on the liner Hamburg.

He held to his decision not to discuss the circumstances of his arrest and detention. His brother, Carl, who met him at the pier, said, however, that Walter eventually would make a statement giving his version of the whole affair, but at present he "was all muddled and could not talk."

"You see," Carl said, "he was slugged a lot."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Lady Mendl, better known in America as Elsie de Wolfe, the actress, was one of 15 guests who dived overboard from the high speed yacht of Raymond Patenotre, 33 year old American born undersecretary of national economy, when it caught fire off Cannes this evening with 300 gallons of gasoline aboard.

An aristocratic gathering was dining aboard the yacht, the Petit Nicois, which was a favorite to win the classic yacht race at Cannes on Aug. 29, when flames suddenly burst from the engine room. Fire swept the stern of the boat so quickly there was no time to reach the rowboats, and the crew and guests jumped overboard and swam to the island of St. Honorat, 150 yards away.

Lady Mendl, wife of Sir Charles Mendl, cannot swim. Two members of the party towed her safely ashore, which had hardly been reached when the gasoline tanks exploded and the boat broke in two and sank in a cloud of smoke and flames.

NRA CUTS HENRY'S WORK HOURS AND ALSO HIS LEISURE

The NRA meant shorter working hours but also less leisure last night for Henry Alexander, 27 years old, 3216 Maypole avenue, a cabinetmaker.

Alexander was one of eight men of spotless record who were picked up on suspicion by police yesterday and held for the showup last night. His record clear, he was questioned by Deputy Detective Chief William V. Blaul before being released with apologies.

"It's all because of the NRA," complained Alexander. "I used to work from 7 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. Now I work until 4, an hour less. I was arrested at 4:30, which couldn't have happened but for the NRA, because I'd have been working until 5."

The little error kept Alexander in the lockup for nearly six hours overtime.

255,325 AT FAIR SET NEW RECORD FOR ATTENDANCE

All attendance records for A Century of Progress Exposition were broken yesterday when 255,325 paid admissions were recorded. The previous record was made on Jewish day, July 3, when 244,742 persons visited the Exposition. Yesterday's crowd was attracted in part by the appearance of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who spoke on the Farm Progress day program. It was also Children's day.

E. T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel corporation board; Tom M. Girdler, president and chairman of the Republic Steel corporation; L. E. Block, Inland Steel company chairman; Hugh Morrow, president of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron company; William J. Filbert, United States Steel vice chairman, and Nathan L. Miller, former governor of New York and counsel for the United States Steel corporation, and Hoyt A. Moore, counsel for the American Iron and Steel institute.

While they talked within, outside in the corridor a grumbling group of gasoline filling station operators waited restlessly for a chance to talk with any one in authority. What they wanted to know was how they could take on more employés and pay higher wages without credit, and with the major oil companies, they said, setting the wholesale price at which they must buy their gasoline. They were voicing, they said, the problem confronting employers giving jobs to some 250,000 workers.

It was a day in which the general strenuously tried to adapt his mind to making codes which will apply the experiment of federal control upon the three leading industries of the country.

During the morning Gen. Johnson sweated over the oil code which he had confidently tossed before 300 oil operators the night before, telling them he would give them until 10 o'clock yesterday morning to present objections to it. He told operators that the code, which he wrote himself with the aid of his staff after the oil factions had been unable to present a satisfactory code, would be presented to Mr. Roosevelt this afternoon.

But yesterday he found so many objections on his desk that he had difficulty wading through them. He kept to the task, found some of the objections so serious as to suggest that his code was faulty in spots, and toiled late trying to make good his promise to the President.

Aids Address Coal Men.

The general had expected to find time somewhere in his day to talk to the coal operators, who, 500 strong, had been summoned to Washington. But he had undertaken a load of work which half a dozen men couldn't do properly, and his assistants, Simpson and Richberg.

They presented another sample of the new hard boiled attitude which the NRA chiefs are exhibiting toward industrial leaders in the campaign to get the big four industries—steel, oil, coal, and automobiles—under codes without further delay.

The coal men had expected to mull over the bitter disputes and differences of opinion among themselves until Aug. 22 and then to return to Washington for further scheduled conferences with the NRA. But when President Roosevelt took a hand in the situation and insisted that if the industrialists couldn't agree on codes the administration must write them independently, the coal operators were telegraphed to come back right away.

Immediate Action Sought.

When they met in the afternon the proceedings were short and snappy. Mr. Simpson announced that the President was anxious to get immediate action in the laying down of a code. He presented Mr. Richberg, who in a few sentences directed that each of the factional groups of the industry name one or two representatives to confer with Gen. Johnson this morning.

By that time, it is expected, the administration will have organized the job of writing a single code to take the place of the 27 codes which have been presented by the various coal groups. In all likelihood Gen. Johnson will lay a coal code before the representatives, as he laid the oil code before the oil operators, and give them a definite deadline in which to submit objections.

May Force Coal Code.

Although President Roosevelt shied away yesterday from a question as to whether he intended to inflict a federally drawn code of control upon the coal industry, as he has caused to be done with the oil industry, it was practically conceded by Gen. Johnson's staff that in both cases the President would have to step in and impose an independent code.

A committee from the Railway Labor Executives' association visited the President yesterday with a request that he put railway employés under a code. The President replied that the railroads cannot be controlled under the NRA, but he promised to discuss the matter with Rail Coördinator Joseph Eastman. The President said he felt that the application of the principles of NRA to railway workers was "perfectly proper."

Codes were submitted yesterday by the aluminum industry and by the publishers of city directories.

Radio manufacturers elected yesterday to withdraw their request from exemption from the electrical manufacturers' code, and to submit to the full terms of that code.

WALLACE TELLS $55,000,000 AID FOR CORN BELT

U.S. to Buy 5 Million Hogs to Boost Prices.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, speaking yesterday before 12,000 farm visitors assembled in the court of the Hall of States at the World's Fair, outlined the federal administration's plan to raise hog and corn prices—and then warned his hearers of its dangers. His speech was the high point of Farm week at the Fair.

The plan, which the secretary asserted would go into effect almost immediately, calls for the government purchase of 5,000,000 head of swine, processing of the meat under contract by packers, and its distribution to persons on the relief rolls.

Estimates Cost at $55,000,000.

The cost of the plan he estimated at $55,000,000, and this sum will be raised, he said, by a processing tax on hogs and hog products passing through the usual commercial channels.

Of the hogs to be purchased some 4,000,000 will be light pigs and the remainder sows soon to litter. While the total poundage to be bought is estimated at 600,000,000, the secretary said he felt that this action now would mean a reduction in the next marketing year of perhaps 1,800,000,000 pounds of hogs—this because the little pigs if allowed to remain alive would grow into husky hogs and because the plan will act as a birth control measure for sows.

If the 1,800,000,000 pound reduction actually occurs over the next year, the secretary said, the total supply of pork products to be offered the consumer would drop 15 per cent. This reduction, he figured, would mean an increase of from 25 to 30 per cent in hog prices during the season.

One of the most stressed features of the program will be the keeping of the government purchased meat and byproducts out of the usual trade channels. Although the secretary did not say so, it is calculated that relief fed persons have had little meat to eat and that their consumption of this huge amount will not interfere with the normal consumption.

Warning by Secretary.

The warning by Secretary Wallace of disastrous consequences that might ensue came near the end of his talk.

"I am not worried about this emergency program," he said. "But I am terribly concerned lest the corn belt should fail to recognize how really dangerous this program can be unless it is tied up closely to a long term program.

"Unless this emergency program to reduce hog tonnage is followed immediately by a definite program that calls for a substantial reduction of corn acreage and production in 1934, as well as a material decrease in the number of sows farrowing in the spring of 1934, I for one cannot accept it. The after effects otherwise would be disastrous to hog prices for the 1934-'35 season and for some time thereafter.

Corn Prices Must Advance.

"An artificial increase in hog prices, unless accompanied by a substantial advance in corn prices, would probably lead to an expansion in the 1934 spring pig crop."

And again, in clear sentences, the secretary warned the assembled farmers and the many thonsands more who listened to him on the radio that this was an emergency measure to straighten out the present oversupply situation and that unless they took their destiny into their own hands there was no hope of permanent improvement.

"The real solution," he averred, "must come from the farmers themselves. No fairy wand can be waved over agricultural markets so that they will receive better prices. That thought of the fairy wand stands in the way of progress, and if the government used it, as it might, it would only lead to a glorious smash later.

"Our program calls for a state of balance between consumption, production and prices, not from day to day but from month to month and year to year."

In the description of the details of the emergency purchasing plan, Secretary Wallace said that the 4,000,000 pigs would be from 25 to 100 pounds in weight and that the sows would have to have a minimum weight of 275 pounds. The sows are to be sold by producers at the regular marketing price on the day of sale and in addition a bonus of $4 a head is to be paid. The piglets are to be purchased at from 6 to 9½ cents a pound, the higher rate to prevail for the smaller ones.

Regular processors [packers] are to do the slaughtering and preparation of the meat and byproducts and hold them in storage or dispose of them as the government orders.

Secretary Wallace pointed out that haste was necessary for several reasons. One is that pigs are getting heavier and sows nearer their farrowing time, another that there is a feed shortage in many sections and farmers must be encouraged by giving them a greater return on unfinished or unfattened animals.

Producing for Wartime Market.

The tax that will be necessary to raise the $55,000,000 for the farmers, Secretary Wallace estimated, would be probably less than 1 cent a pound.

He touched for a time on the general aspects of the farm situation. Farmers were producing, he said, for a wartime market. In the corn belt, he added, there are 20,000,000 acres of surplus corn lands. And because farmers have reduced their draft animals by 11,000,000 in turning to tractors for power on their lands, that much more corn is available for hog feeding

Arriving on the Capitol Limited from Washington, Secretary Wallace was met by Harry S. New, United States commissioner to the Fair; Maj. Chester Fordney, U. S. Marine corps; U. Grant Smith, protocol officer of the Fair, and Harvey J. Sconce, the Exposition's agricultural official.

In the court of honor at the 14th street entrance to the grounds, he was given a military reception, the troops from Camp Whistler passing in review. At a buffet luncheon in the federal building on the grounds he was greeted by President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair and by Mayor Kelly. The secretary will return to Washington today.

Strike Threats Arise as 3,442 More Firms Sign NRA Codes

As 3,442 additional concerns in this area sent in pledges to join President Roosevelt's reëmployment program, raising the total of employés under the NRA standard to 1,192,829, trouble developed on two fronts yesterday when workers protested that their employers were not living up to the maximum working hour and minimum wage code.

F. L. Roberts, district manager for the department of commerce, reported that the total number of concerns in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa which have signed the reëmployment agreement number 143,414. Of these, 22,412 are Chicago companies, employing 679,768 persons.

But a strike of approximately 10,000 garment workers was imminent. A decision to strike for shorter hours and higher wages was reached by officials of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union. Union officials said they had hoped to comply with President Roosevelt's plea for a moratorium on strikes but that employers had failed to heed their requests.

Demand Closed Shop.

Bernard Shane, general organizer for the union, said the union demanded a 35 hour week, a 100 per cent union shop, and a minimum wage of $1 an hour for pressers and $18 a week for finishers. He declared a request for a conference with manufacturers had been ignored.

Three hundred employés, comprising the main force of the Kimball Piano company, 26th street and Marshall boulevard, walked out yesterday, protesting against the wages paid them. The workers began picketing the factory. They asserted that many employés who have been in the employ of the company for years have been receiving only $8 a week.

The strikers admitted the company was attempting to go under the NRA code, but asserted that when weekly hours were cut to forty, the same pay, 26 cents an hour for skilled mechanics, and 18 cents for common laborers, had been retained.

Buy Only from NRA Firms.

All supply concerns which fill orders issued by agents of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission in Cook county will henceforth be required to furnish the commission with sworn statements that they are operating under the provisions of NRA and that they are conducting business in accordance with its rules and regulations, according to an announcement yesterday.

"This regulation is in conformance with a ruling of the Federal Emergency Relief administrator that purchases with federal relief funds can be made only from suppliers who have conformed to provisions of the National Recovery Act," said Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the commission.

The Advance Aluminum Castings corporation announced that wages have been raised from 10 to 30 per cent throughout its plants and that the weekly working time for all departments has been reduced to forty hours.

Agree on 40 Hour Week.

Meetings of representatives of various industries continued in Chicago as codes were drafted for working under the recovery act. Most of the industries represented were agreed upon a 40 hour week, but much discussion was created when wages and ethical practices were brought up.

The U. S. Brewing company, with 381 employés; Durkee Famous Foods, Inc., with 300 employés; Hooker Glass and Paint Manufacturing company, with 282 employés; Remington-Rand Inc., with 235 employés; and A. C. McClurg & Co., with 211 employés, were among the Chicago concerns yesterday enlisted under the "blue eagle" standard.

Small Papers to Employ 4,000.

Employment of more than 4,000 persons in daily and weekly newspaper plants in towns of small population was predicted yesterday when a national industrial code was adopted by delegates to the National Editorial convention.

The code provides a maximum working week of forty hours for mechanical employés and forty-eight hours for clerical help, salesmen, and solicitors. Reporters, editorial writers, desk men, and photographers, classed in the code as professional persons, are exempt from limitations of working hours.

One of the important articles of the new code states that the giving out of deceptive or fraudulent figures concerning newspaper coverage or circulation is to be regarded as a violation of the code and as such subject to penalties.

U. S. CHURCHES ARE SUBJECT TO RECOVERY ACT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Churches are held by national recovery administration officials to be within the scope of the recovery act if they employ three or more persons, it was reported today unofficially.

A church was described as holding the same status as any business concern hiring three or more employés.

The question originated in Brooklyn, "City of Churches," and raised several points, which, because of the recent and informal form of submission of the question, were yet to be explained by the administration.

Among the questions were:

"Would a church be required to display the blue eagle emblem?"

"Would the boycott proposed for industry be applied if the church did not come in under the NRA?"

union membership or nonmembership, they would have to amend or eliminate what he considered the ambiguous provision reading "employers in the industry may continue the open shop policy."

Alvin MacAuley, Packard president and head of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, opened the day for the employers. The industry, he said, recognizes the necessity of increasing purchasing power; it already had put wages up; it feared price increases, which would drive away buyers.

43 Cents an Hour Wage.

Donaldson Brown, vice president of General Motors, took up the argument. He defended the open shop clause, stressed the necessity of flexible working hours in an industry with such shop seasonal demands and declines, such ups and downs in production as are occasioned by the bringing out of new models. If 1929 production could only be restored, he said, and the code were in effect, 40 per cent more workers would be required than in 1929.

Then it was Mr. Green's turn and the code he introduced on behalf of labor showed how far apart the two sides are.

The employers' code fixes a minimum wage rate of from 40 to 43 cents for factory workers, according to the size of the city in which they are employed.

For workers from 16 to 21 and for women it provides a scale 5 cents less than the minimum. It excludes employés engaged in the preparation, care, and maintenance of plants, machinery and facilities for production. It fixes an average work week of 35 hours and a maximum in any one week of 48 hours.

For office workers receiving less than $35 it set a minimum weekly wage of from $14 to $15, with an average work week of 40 hours.

Labor Demands 60 Cents Hour.

Labor's code demands a 60 cent minimum wage for factory workers, women, apprentices, and maintenance employés included, with a 30 hour week and no geographic differentials. Except in emergencies, a maximum 35 hour week would be allowed only with the approval of a planning and coördinating committee, and such overtime would call for time and a half. An employé called to work would be paid for not less than a six hour day.

Office workers would receive a flat $15 minimum per week and would work not more than 40 hours a week and an average of 35 hours per week.

The 30 hour week is the longest that can be installed and still put an appreciable number of men back to work, Mr. Green declared. So fast has productivity per worker advanced, he said, that the 1929 production could be duplicated today with 8 per cent fewer man hours. And 60 cents an hour, or $18 for a 30 hour week, he asserted, "is the lowest wage which will begin to restore purchasing power among automobile workers."

EMPLOYERS APPROVE PROGRAM TO SETTLE N. Y. GARMENT STRIKE

New York, Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The strike settlement plan for the dress goods industry, including collective bargaining and the elimination of the sweatshop, was adopted with cheers today by the membership of the National Dress Manufacturers' association.

The settlement will be laid before the striking dress workers at mass meetings in their assembly halls Monday afternoon and is expected by union leaders to be adopted by them. The first of the 51,000 needle workers now out in New York, and about 9,000 other workers in outlying towns and cities, will return to their benches Tuesday morning, according to the calculations of their leaders, and the rest will gradually return in the course of the week.

In an atmosphere of optimism and harmony the leaders of both labor and employer groups prepared tonight for the hearings on the dress industry code which are to begin in Washington next Tuesday.

The agreement now reached is binding in itself, however, it was explained tonight by both union and employers' association officials. It is a contract between the employers and the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union. Under the present plans it will be embodied in the permanent code for the industry, and thus the authority of the United States government will be behind its enforcement.

AUTO DEALERS PREPARE CODE AT CONFERENCE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The National Automobile Dealers' association today drew up a code for submission to the national recovery administration which, in addition to its wage and hour provisions, seeks to eliminate competitive practices which it contends have caused heavy losses.

A complete section is devoted to the subject of used car allowances. The code, as drawn up by the association's code convention here, provides that a statistical committee shall determine the current values of various types of used cars.

Dealers in accepting cars for trades will not be permitted to allow a price more than the value as determined by the committee, less his charges for selling, handling, and reconditioning, which would be held to a minimum of 20 per cent of the valuation.

The labor section of the code provides for a general 48 hour week, with minimum wages of $15 a week in cities of 500,000 or more, $14.50 for cities of 250,000 to 500,000 population, $14 for towns of more than 2,500 and less than 250,000, and $12 for smaller towns. Full time employment of children under 16 is prohibited.

TEACHERS TO GET $1,250,000 PAY IN TAX WARRANTS

Scrip Given in 1931 to Be Redeemed.

James B. McCahey, president of the school board, announced yesterday that $1,250,000 worth of 1931 tax anticipation warrants will be made available to teachers and other school employés in redemption of scrip issued as pay in 1931. Distribution of the warrants will begin Monday at the school board offices in the Builders' building at La Salle street and Wacker drive.

The plan will provide securities that can be turned into cash for hundreds of teachers who have not received pay for their services this year. The market quotation on these warrants was 93¼ bid and 95¼ asked at the end of the day's trading.

The warrants are drawn against the educational fund and are in denominations of $50 each. Provision has been made to take up balances, or the difference between the amount of pay coming and the warrant.

Halted by Litigation.

The scrip was issued in lieu of cash in 1931 until this form of pay was halted in the courts as a result of litigation brought by the Chicago Teachers' federation.

The school board now owes its 14,000 teachers and 4,000 other employés more than $26,000,000 in back salaries. The economy program adopted by the school trustees is designed to restore the board's credit so that its warrants and $40,000,000 worth of bonds, which the board has authority to issue, may be marketable.

Work is progressing on the conversion of eleven junior high schools into senior high school plants and other details of the school board's $5,000,000 economy program, despite an organized protest.

Alderman Praises Program.

Charges of the protest group that the "wrecking of the schools" would mean the "wrecking of the Democratic party" are apparently not worrying the politicians. Mr. McCahey received a letter from Ald. David L. Sutton [8th], chairman of the council committee on World's Fair, conventions and expositions, praising the program.

Ald. Sutton described a protest meeting on the night of Aug. 2 at the Grand Crossing park, 76th street and Ingleside avenue, at which the license numbers of the parked cars had been listed.

"The list contains the names of 8th ward Rpublican leaders, together with a number of school teachers," wrote Ald. Sutton. "I want to take this opportunity to congratulate you on the splendid endeavor you are making to place the schools on a sound basis and to assure you of my sincere desire to render every possible aid."

Politician Once Indicted.

One of the auto license plates noted at the meeting was that of Andrew C. Metzger, a Republican politician of the old city hall administration, who was indicted in connection with an investigation into school contracts in 1922.

The "save our schools" committee, which is fighting the board's retrenchments, announced that starting Aug. 27, which has been fixed as the opening of "save our schools" week, pledge cards will be distributed throughout the city for the signatures of persons declaring that they will vote against any candidate for mayor, alderman, ward committeeman, or any other candidate who either directly or indirectly favors the economy action of the school board.

U. S. JURY INDICTS TEN FOR DOPING OF RACE HORSES

Track Veterinarian Among Those Accused.

Five indictments, naming ten race horse owners, managers, trainers, and track employés in connection with the doping of horses at Arlington Park and other tracks, were returned yesterday by the federal grand jury before Judge George T. Page. The indictments charge violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic act.

Nine of the defendants are charged with conspiracy. The tenth, Dr. Nelson E. Southard, well known track veterinarian, is charged with the purchase, possession and concealment of nine grains of heroin.

Named in Indictments.

The others indicted are Jack Howard, manager for a stable owned by his wife; Benjamin Creech, also manager for a stable owned by his wife; A. A. Baroni, an owner of horses; Hal Price Headley, another owner; Ivan H. Parke, a former jockey; William Payne, Marvin Hardin, James Hexhem, and Charles P. Mitchell, exercise boys.

The evidence was presented to the grand jury by Special Assistant Attorney General Leslie Salter, who was assigned to the case by United States District Attorney Dwight Green. Ralph Oyler, in charge of the narcotic bureau here, said the government is prepared to show that 250 horses were doped at seven tracks around Chicago and in the south this year.

List Alleged Offenses.

Some of the horses alleged to have been doped, the dates, and tracks where it occurred, are as follows, according to the indictments:

MARMION, July 4, Arlington Park.
LOUIE DEAR, July 5 and July 28, Arlington Park.
ABELAIDE A., Feb. 17, Hialeah Park, Miami.
SPUD, Feb. 26, Hialeah Park, Miami.
PORTCODINE, June 27, Arlington Park.
DR. PARRISH, June 30, and other dates, Arlington Park.
LIQUEUR, March 6, Hialeah Park.
CABOUSE, July 12, Arlington Park.
TECHNIQUE, July 17, Arlington Park.
BIG BEAU, July 18, Arlington Park.
YFTIN, July 10, Arlington Park.
SNAPLOCK, July 14, Arlington Park.

All of the doping, according to the indictments, took place about 45 minutes before post time.

Dr. Southard, Mitchell, Parke, and Payne are already under bonds. Bail for the others was set at $5,000 each by the grand jury.

Senators to Hear Evidence.

A hearing on horse doping will be held the first week of October by Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York, chairman of an United States senate subcommittee investigating rackets. Oyler, who will be a witness at this hearing, has been ordered to get all the information possible by that time. H. J. Anslinger, head of the narcotics division at Washington, is now seeking evidence at eastern tracks.

BANK MERGERS CAUSED DETROIT CRASH—COUZENS

Also Blames U. S. for Lax Supervision.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Senator James Couzens today resumed his testimony in the bank grand jury investigation. He opened the session with a flat denial to the assertion made by Wilson W. Mills, former chairman of the board of the First National Bank-Detroit, that the bankers had been taken by complete surprise when their banks were forced to close last February.

"The primary responsibility for the collapse of these banks," said Couzens, "was the orgy of consolidations, the building of fictitious values and the creation of one holding company upon another. I know of no other city in the whole world where there was such an orgy of pyramiding of corporations and the fixing of fictitious values and earnings."

Tells of Ford Plan Collapse.

Mills was charged by Couzens as the one person who wrecked the Ford plan for two new banks.

"About Feb. 27 I was in the office of the R. F. C. Charles S. Miller, then chairman, told me a 'very peculiar thing' had happened in Detroit," Couzens said. "He outlined the situation in which the Ford banks had been held up by the refusal of certain New York banks to participate with 20 million dollars which had been promised.

"James T. McMillan, a director of the First National, had called Miller, he said, and told him the board of directors of the First National had instructed Mills to apply to the R. F. C. to get 20 million dollars to replace that which New York had refused.

"Soon after, Miller said, Mills called up and said he had been instructed by his board to apply for the twenty million, but he hoped the board would not grant the request. This, Miller said, threw doubt on the Detroit situation. Had that not happened the two Ford banks would have become a reality."

Says Law Was Violated.

Couzens also charged that former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and his successor, Ogden L. Mills, violated the law in respect to their attitude toward national banks.

"All during the depression the administration was in the hands of the Republicans," he added. "All during the time it was under control of Mellon and Mills they were dictating the policy of the treasury department. All the time they were violating the law in respect to their attitude toward national banks.

"Senator Glass was holding subcommittee hearings in 1932 and got testimony from former Controller Pole and F. G. Awalt, his deputy, that many banks were insolvent but were not closed because that they would have wrecked the communities."

He quoted Senator Glass as saying on May 1, 1933:

"'For the last twelve or fourteen years there has been no espionage on the weak national banks. The controller of the currency admits that if he enforced the law he would have closed half the national banks of the country. He means the controller's office has not done its duty and has allowed banks to engage in irregular and illicit practices. It has endangered the whole banking community and paralyzed the whole business community.'

Hits Loans to Directors.

"When the First National Bank-Detroit closed its doors here," Couzens testified, "its books showed more than $6,000,000 loaned to directors, more than $2,600,000 on which directors had signed as indorsers, more than $1,400,000 to employés, and more than $11,400,000 to corporations in which directors of the bank were interested. If the controller had acted on the true condition of the banks he would have closed them as insolvent."

Senator Couzens declared the Union Guardian Trust company "jockeyed the Children's fund of Michigan out of $200,000" and asked Prosecutor Toy to investigate with a view of bringing criminal proceedings. This fund was established by Senator Couzens five years ago with an endowment of 10 million dollars and incomes are spent on crippled and other handicapped children of the state.

Couzens was asked why Washington permitted this condition in Detroit if the administration knew of it.

Waiting for Prosperity.

"On the theory that prosperity was just around the corner," he replied. "Public officials from the President down were holding out that hope to the people. It was in large part the depression that affected the assets of the Detroit banks. I do not want to give the impression it was due entirely to mismanagement. Much of the blame is on officials here, but a part was certainly due to the administration in Washington in not enforcing the law.

"But the federal government had no hand in the orgy of high finance here in Detroit. It was not interested in that and took no part. From 35 to 40 billions of dollars in deposits throughout the country were never affected because they had sound banking management and sound banks, run for the depositors and not for the speculators. Detroit did not have that. No New York banks closed except the crooked ones like the Bank of the United States.

"The Union Guardian Trust company had assets of only $6,000,000 appraised by R. F. C. examiners as having a liquidating value of $4,000,000 as against a deposit liability of $20,500,000. I'd like to know how long the bank officials had known of this condition."

Doubtful About Federal Aid.

"If the federal government was derelict in its duty don't you think it should now come to the aid of Detroit depositors?" Prosecutor Toy asked. "In view of all the federal taxes the city has paid don't you think the government could give Detroit a loan?"

"I don't know, because I don't know what kind of assets are left," the senator answered. "For 10 years I have been a constant and vigorous critic of the treasury department. I have no disposition now to approve of improper and unsecured loans—the unsecured use of taxpayers' money even to protect my own city."

"I would be a fine example of a pork barrel senator if, after criticizing the treasury for not protecting the taxpayers, I now indorsed an unwise and unsecured loan to Detroit."

Tells of Wife's Withdrawal.

Just before adjournment Couzens explained the report made several weeks ago of the alleged withdrawal of "smart money" by his wife.

"Mrs. Couzens would not have been charged with making a smart money withdrawal if I had kept out of the banking situation," he said with considerable emphasis.

"That was about a paltry $5,000 check when at the time my son had a deposit there, my daughter had $20,000 there, and I had a deposit there, all of which are still there.

"If I had been a smart money man I would have drawn out my own deposit and tipped off my son and daughter to draw theirs. When I'm not a good enough sport to take the trials along with my community I hope I'll be kicked out of public office."

Loans to Employés.

Couzens charged that stenographers in the two closed national banks who were paid salaries ranging from $2,000 to $3,000 annually got bank loans of as high as $50,000. He claimed he was in possession of the list of them, but refused to name them "at this time."

"I am not going to pillory one group while the rest get away with it," he added. "I want to get them all at once. I am willing to get them all."

"We are, too," said Prosecutor Toy.

Couzens concluded his testimony with a denunciation of Herbert L. Wilkins, former executive vice president of the Union Trust company, who, he said, "had an unsavory record in Flint before he came to Detroit." It was Wilkins who charged that Mrs. Couzens withdrew "smart money."

A MOTHER CAT DISPUTES BOY'S CLAIM TO KITTEN

Hudson avenue police were trying last night to determine the claims of a mother cat and a 9 year old boy to a tiny gray kitten. The cat is Tom Tom, the station pet. The boy is Michael Foulisi, 1528 Sedgwick street.

About a week ago Tom Tom's litter of four kittens disappeared, and Tom Tom began a disconsolate search for the lost ones. Then young Michael appeared on the scene. That was yesterday. He strolled in front of the station, leading a gray kitten.

One look was enough for the mother cat. She pounced over to Michael's kitten, picked it up in her mouth and raced into the station. She was still there last night, guarding the kitten against threatened efforts to take it away. Michael, too, remained on the scene, crying that the kitten was his, not Tom Tom's. But the police could not do anything about it; they didn't know. Besides, Tom Tom had possession.

OPEN DOG TRACK IN NEW TOWN OF HOMEWOOD PARK

Dog racing was resumed last night at the Thornton Coursing club, 175th and Halsted streets, Homewood Park, under a Homewood Park license issued by Henry W. Hering, who is village president and superintendent of the dog track.

About 2,500 patrons, mostly Chicagoans, crowded the stands and the races were run off without any interference from police.

Only five weeks ago Gov. Horner, joining the courts and states' attorneys in growing opposition to dog racing, vetoed the Sunderland bill which would have legalized the sport.

The Thornton track last operated early in June. About June 16 the new village of Homewood Park was created and the track's superintendent, Hering, was elected president. The village has a population of 135 and approved the incorporation by 74 votes.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Mabel Boll de Parceri, known as "the Queen of Diamonds," and Count Henri de Parceri of New York were divorced today. They were married in Paris on April 16, 1931. Miss Boll was formerly associated with Charles Levine, American trans-Atlantic flyer.

U. S. COMPROMISE ON INCOME TAX CHARGE BARED

U. S. A. Co. Head Settles for $175,000.

Attorneys for George L. Chamberlain, president of the U. S. A. company, electrical contractors, announced yesterday that a federal indictment charging the contractor with evading income tax payments of about $523,000 during 1926, 1927, and 1928, had been compromised by the payment to the government of $175,000. Vincent J. Heffernan, counsel for Chamberlain, said the settlement was approved in the summer of 1932.

Although the settlement was approved by former Attorney General William D. Mitchell and former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills of the Hoover cabinet, the indictment naming Chamberlain and Fred W. Rhoades, former treasurer of the company, who is now dead, still stands in the United States District court.

Indictment Still Stands.

"I have not seen fit to withdraw the indictment," said United States District Attorney Green. "That is all I care to say about the matter."

The compromise was effected while George E. Q. Johnson was United States attorney. Although Mr. Green was at that time solicitor for the bureau of internal revenue in Chicago, it was reported that he was not consulted on the settlement.

Income on Canal Contracts.

When the indictment was returned in December, 1929, Mr. Johnson said that the company's income on which the tax was owed had come largely from eleven sanitary district contracts performed during the "whoopee" days when Timothy Crowe was president of the district board. Crowe and other former officials of the district were subsequently convicted on graft conspiracy.

The compromising of civil suits for tax collections is not unusual in the bureau of internal revenue, but the compromising of a criminal indictment is rare in this district. Attorney George K. Bowden conducted most of the negotiations with Washington officials to effect the settlement, it was reported.

CALIFORNIA ASKS $38,500,000 FOR AN IRRIGATION JOB

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—An early decision is expected by the public works administration on whether it will advance funds for construction of the proposed $38,500,000 all-American canal to irrigate the Imperial and Coachella valleys in California. The project is advocated by the Imperial valley farm bureau.

The board today received extensive arguments of both proponents and opponents to guide it in passing on the merits of the proposal which would construct entirely on American territory an irrigation canal for the two valleys in southern California to replace the one which now serves only the Imperial valley and runs partly through Mexico.

The opponents were Paul Bally of Santa Anna, H. W. Brickel, representing the Taxpayers' union, and Lee Warren, a Washington attorney.

Senator William G. McAdoo and former Congressman Phil D. Swing questioned Bally and Warren in an effort to determine whom they represented in the proceedings.

CHERBOURG, Aug. 18. — The French authorities permitted Senator Carter Glass of Virginia and his friend and physician, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, to land at this port from the liner Majestic today and proceed to Paris, although neither had French visas. The senator explained that there had not been sufficient time to get a visa before his departure, as he had decided to go abroad for his health shortly before the Majestic sailed.

MAYOR REVEALS HIS INCOME OVER 11 YEAR PERIOD

Covers the Years from 1919 to 1929.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly last night issued the supplemental statement in reference to his income, which he had promised in connection with his recent emphatic denial of insinuations that he had attempted to defraud the government in the payment of his income taxes.

The figures covered the years from 1919 to 1929, which include the period for which he made an additional payment to the federal government after a Washington ruling that he was liable to account for money he had been reimbursed for outlays in political campaigns.

The statement placed his earnings for the period specified as $724,367.99, his income from personal business transactions exceeding his salary in public office several times over.

Statement by Kelly.

The statement follows:

"Every man, whether in private or public life, is entitled to reasonable privacy in the management of his purely personal transactions. At times it becomes necessary in order to meet baseless attacks and false innuendoes for a public official to waive his personal rights for the benefit of the community he serves.

"Firmly convinced of the fact that the slanderous campaign being conducted against me personally may reflect upon Chicago, I have decided to submit to the people a statement of my private business transactions so as to give the lie finally to those who have no regard for the truth in the furtherance of their personal ambitions.

His Detailed Figures.

"In a previous statement I promised to submit figures relating to my income in recent years. During the years from 1919 to 1929 inclusive, over and above the assets I owned on Jan. 1, 1919, I made a net profit of $724,367.99.

"This is made up as follows:

Salary	$151,152.92
Dividends	168,778.56
Rents	18,686.56
Interest	24,305.49
Sale of real estate	241,290.12
Sale of securities	232,392.80
	$836,606.45
Balance received	$724,368.99

His Net Profits.

"Condensed statement of profits on sale of real estate and securities sold from 1919 to 1929, and other income received during the same period, as follows:

Real estate	$ 484,641.13
Securities	1,293,816.28
	$1,778,457.41
Total cost of:
Real estate sold	243,351.01
Securities sold	1,173,660.94
	$1,417,011.95
Total profit on sale of real estate and securities	$361,445.46
Add other income received during above period, as follows:
Salary	151,152.92
Dividends	168,778.56
Rents	18,686.56
Interest	24,305.49
Total other income	$362,928.53
Total profits and other income	$724,368.99

Full Access to Records.

"The figures above set forth were reported to the government in the manner and at the times required by law for the period stated and my income taxes were computed therefrom and paid accordingly.

"The government officials have at all times had the fullest access to all records in connection with all my transactions. Full information was freely given and the correctness of none of these items was ever questioned.

"Moreover, excepting my salary, none of the transactions and profits covered in the foregoing—which are all of my personal business transactions for the period stated—had any connection with my public office and duties.

Fraud Charges False.

"The so-called items of unreported alleged income are not included in the above figures. I did not believe then and do not believe now that such items were taxable income within the law and I was so advised.

"Allegations have been made that fraud was evident because a penalty was imposed in connection with the collection of back taxes. This is absolutely false. If the federal authorities had held that fraud had been committed a 50 per cent penalty would have been imposed as is required by the statutes. It has been alleged that a 50 per cent penalty was imposed and paid. This, too, is absolutely false."

2 AUTO STRIPPERS SHOT TRYING TO FLEE DEPUTIES

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 69; recovered, 62; stripped, 4 [from Chicago police records for twenty-four hours ending at midnight Thursday].

Two men caught stripping an automobile last night in the Cuba-Wauconda road six miles northwest of Barrington tried to evade arrest and were shot and seriously wounded by Deputy Sheriffs Milo Kelsey and Leo Riley of Lake county.

One, who said he was Edward Mills, 30 years old, was struck in the abdomen, and the other, Milton Svoboda, 30 years old, 1627 West 21st street, was struck in the left side of the chest. Both were taken to the St. Joseph hospital in Elgin.

There were three men in the group of strippers interrupted by Kelsey, who was watching the home of William Waller Jr., in front of which the trio stopped. They first submitted to arrest and, with Kelsey standing on the running board of the second car they had with them, started for Barrington. On the way they tried to push Kelsey off and he fired at the strippers.

Riley, driving along the road, heard the shooting and joined in the chase. Recognizing Kelsey, he fired at the car. When Svoboda, driving his car, was struck the machine ran into a ditch. The third man in the gang escaped by running into a cornfield.

DOCTOR-PILOT FATALLY HURT IN PLANE CRASH

Dr. Leslie B. Joslyn, 47 years old, 1001 North 2d avenue, Maywood, physician and surgeon in the western suburbs for a number of years, was fatally injured yesterday when a plane in which he was flying alone crashed as he tried a landing at the Elmhurst airport.

He was taken to the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park, of which he had been senior surgeon since 1929. He died there three hours later.

Early in the afternoon Dr. Joslyn had taken off in the plane, an Aeronca with an Aeronca motor, for a trip to Marengo. Witnesses said that on his return, while still 2,000 feet up, he began his landing. He apparently lost control several hundred feet from the ground and the machine dived to the field.

Dr. Joslyn, long an aviation enthusiast, was awarded a private pilot's license only about two weeks ago. He and his brother, Dr. Arthur Joslyn, founded and conducted the Joslyn clinic in Maywood. Surviving him are his wife, a son and two daughters.

COVELLI REWEDS DIVORCED WIFE BEFORE SHE DIES

Self-Inflicted Wound Causes Death.

Attorney Daniel A. Covelli yesterday remarried his ex-wife, Mrs. Alice Covelli, 28 years old, on her deathbed in the Frances Willard hospital. She died an hour and a half later of a bullet wound self-inflicted on Thursday when Covelli rejected her pleas for a reconciliation.

The Covellis have a son, Daniel Jr., 3 years old. Mrs. Covelli filed suit for separate maintenance last spring, and on May 16 amended her bill and was granted an uncontested divorce on grounds of cruelty. After the divorce she went to live at the Guyon apartment hotel, 4000 Washington boulevard, with her son, whose custody the court had awarded to her.

Pleads for Reconciliation.

On Thursday Mrs. Covelli telephoned her former husband three times, pleading with him to return to her. When he refused she took her son and went to Covelli's apartment at 5258 Congress street. There, after sending her son to a neighbor's with word that she intended to commit suicide, she shot herself in the abdomen. Covelli hurried to her side at the hospital.

"Dan, Dan, you've got another girl," his ex-wife moaned.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Covelli's condition became critical. Dr. Aaron Neiman, her physician, told Covelli that if he would remarry her the ceremony might revive her vitality and enable her to recover. Covelli agreed and got a marriage license.

Dies Soon After Marriage.

Nurses combed Mrs. Covelli's hair and touched her pale cheeks with rouge. One of them went out and bought a bowl of flowers. The Rev. Thomas Kelly, pastor of Resurrection Roman Catholic church, was summoned and read the marriage service. Dr. Neiman stood as best man.

Covelli bent over and kissed his bride.

"I love you, Dan," she murmured. "I'll always love you, no matter what happens. Thanks, Dan."

He sat holding her hand for an hour, talking quietly with her. At noon Mrs. Covelli lapsed into a coma, from which emergency measures taken by Dr. Neiman failed to revive her. She died half an hour later. Internes led Covelli, weeping, from the room.

BRITAIN PLANS A NEW DOMINION IN WEST INDIES

Islands Would Be United Under One Head.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Preparatory steps towards creating a great British colony composed of the British islands in the West Indies, beginning with an immediate fusion of the Leeward and Windward islands, were outlined in the report of a governmental commission released today by the colonial office.

The plan, designed to create a unified colony, and, it is presumed, eventually a new dominion, faces a number of difficulties. Some of these are so great that Trinidad and Tobago are not included in the scheme of unification, although that possibility has been under consideration.

Plan Governor for All.

As the plan now stands the two groups of islands in the Lesser Antilles will be brought into a form of a loose federation with a common governor, but with a great deal of autonomy among the individual islands making up the parabola which forms the southeastern fringe of the Caribbean sea.

The commission which made the report is composed of Gen. Sir Charles Ferguson, chairman; Sir Charles Orr, and MacNeill Campbell of the colonial office. It was created in March, 1931, by the last labor government. It was assigned "to examine on the spot the possibilities of closer union between Trinidad and the Windward and Leeward islands or some of them."

Barbados Is Excluded.

The commission in its report deliberately excluded Barbados, but the government indicates it will eventually be included in the amalgamations.

The commission reported that in the Leeward islands it found a scattered federal system, but with strong local autonomous units. In the Windward islands it found an association of the three main islands under one governor, but otherwise they were independent of each other. Trinidad and Tobago it found forced into an amalgamation with a common treasury and one legislature.

Trinidad, although it is suffering from the depression, the commissioners found to be a thriving colony, discontented because it is saddled with the poorer Tobago. Due to this experience, Trinidad is unwilling to share its revenues with other units of the British West Indies. Therefore, the idea was dropped.

People Demand Economy.

Throughout the trip the commission found the islanders full of heated condemnation of governmental expenditure.

"Most of the islands—indeed, we may say all—pay lip service to the general idea of a federation," the report said, "but corporations and individuals who appeared before us made it clear that to make any federation or closer union acceptable, the government must achieve economy in administration, combined with other distinct advantages, and must in no case entail absorption of their island by some larger unit or the destruction of its own individuality."

The Leewards and Windwards would be united under a single governor with headquarters on the Island of Santa Lucia in the Windward group. The present Leeward federation would be dissolved and each island would enjoy the same measure of independence at present granted the Windwards. No public services would be united except the police and agricultural departments.

Governor's Powers Defined.

The governor would form the sole contact with the British secretary for units of the new colony, and he would have full power to withhold assent to legislation. He would also be enabled to recommend legislation to the various island chambers and promulgate measures in case of emergency which would have the full force of law. The governor would make frequent tours around he islands, but would not interfere in their local affairs.

The commissioners noted that the strongest opponents of local self-government were found among Negroes.

NEW INDICTMENT VOTED AGAINST 24 IN RACKET CASE

The Cook county grand jury yesterday voted and returned a new indictment against Attorney Aaron Sapiro of New York and twenty-three others who several weeks ago were indicted on charges of racketeering conspiracy. The action was taken to correct a defect in the old indictment on which Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York announced he could not approve the extradition of Sapiro from that state. In a letter to Gov. Horner explaining his action, Gov. Lehman indicated that he would reconsider the case when the new extradition papers, based on the new indictment, are before him.

Complications over the return of Al Capone, gang leader, now in Atlanta federal penitentiary for income tax fraud, were also caused by the return of the new indictment. Capone is one of the co-defendants of Sapiro. State's Attorney Courtney had asked for the return of Capone from prison for the racketeering trial.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings and his assistant in charge of criminal affairs, Frank M. Parrish, indicated last night in Washington that a new request based on the indictment returned yesterday would have to be made by the state's attorney's office before they could take action.

SEEK TO PLACE HARRIMAN IN A SANITARIUM

New York, Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson was requested today to consider permitting the removal of Joseph W. Harriman, indicted banker, from Bellevue hospital to a private sanitarium. The court was informed that Harriman is suffering from a serious heart ailment and will not be able to go on with the sanity hearing before Judge Francis G. Caffey on Aug. 29. Judge Patterson did not grant the request, but indicated that he would take up the matter later on if Judge Caffey were not available.

ROLLIN PEASE. FRANK BENNETT. CARL CRAVEN. GEORGE L. TENNEY. J. WESLEY JONES. NOBLE CAIN.

MUSIC FESTIVAL THRILLS AWAIT YOU ALL TONIGHT

Soldiers' Field Gates Open at 5 P. M.

For the Chicagoland Music Festival is not directed at catering to the tastes of any one class or clique of music lovers. It aims at them all.

There are the mighty compositions of the great composers, the "1812" overture, the Hallelujah chorus, the march from "Tannhäuser," Sousa marches, other popular music, spirituals, brilliant concert selections for solo and group, choral, band, individual.

It is a cross section of the music in America. And there is no particular mystery about the fact that the vast majority of us like it all.

Finalists Compete Today.

All day long today, and all the way from the Drake hotel on the north to Soldiers' field on the south, finalists in the Chicagoland Music Festival contests will meet in competition for a chance to appear in tonight's great program.

Bands will meet other bands before a group of judges here. Drum and bugle corps will perform their military music evolutions before another group of judges there. The junior contests for these groups will be in the morning and the adult competition in the afternoon. The elect of Chicago's men's, women's and mixed choruses[already chosen in preliminary competitions, will sing against the elect men's, women's and mixed choruses of communities outside of Chicago. The best solo singers of Chicago, a woman and man chosen after the most severe and searching competition of all, will meet in friendly but ardent rivalry some sixty men and women singers from other Chicagoland cities.

Under the circumstances, it is impossible to list here the final prize winners. But they will all be selected by this evening, their names will be announced from the stage, and they will appear on the festival program. They will be part of the treat that is offered for your pleasure.

Gates Open at 5 P. M.

The gates to Soldiers' field will be thrown open at 5 o'clock this afternoon. You are welcome then or any time after then. The drum corps will begin their evolutions on the field at 6:30. The purely musical part of the program will begin shortly thereafter. There will be some three hours of great program.

Be it added that the electrical amplification system to be used tonight is something of a marvel. It has been thoroughly tested, and the promise is absolute. Even if you are sitting at the most remote corner of the field, an eighth of a mile away from the stage, you will hear every word, every note, ample, undistorted, clear, nothing but pure tone.

Admission charges are in keeping with the times. Fifty cents will secure you a reserved seat; 25 cents will entitle you to general admission.

Ten times as much money would not buy you equal entertainment elsewhere.

ARTHUR PRYOR, MUSIC FESTIVAL CONDUCTOR, HERE

Arthur Pryor, famous bandmaster and one of the guest conductors at the Chicagoland Music Festival sponsored by THE TRIBUNE tonight in Soldiers' field, arrived yesterday aboard the Golden Arrow of the Pennsylvania railroad.

He and Mrs. Pryor were greeted by Victor Grabel, general musical director of the festival and conductor of the 100 piece festival band. The other guest band conductor at the festival will be Austin A. Harding, director of the University of Illinois band.

Meanwhile the musical organizations which will participate in the festival began their descent on Chicago yesterday by automobile, bus, train, and boat. One of the longest journeys was that of the Kitsilano Boys' band of Vancouver, B. C., which arrived over the Milwaukee railroad.

FAIR TRANSPORT SYSTEM WILL AID FESTIVAL CROWD

The transportation system developed for A Century of Progress will accommodate the expected attendance of more than 100,000 at THE TRIBUNE'S Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field tonight. Street cars, with a capacity of 40,000 passengers an hour, will carry their patrons into their new Roosevelt road and 18th street terminals. The new bus lines over the outer drive and the Illinois Central's Fair facilities will be used by many south siders.

From the loop, the motor coach shuttle service will be a convenience. Otto Jelinek, south park traffic engineer, has opened a gate through the stadium fence just east of the Field museum for the benefit of bus patrons discharged at the Roosevelt road motor coach terminal.

"The overhead pedestrian bridges built for the Fair, will be the greatest aid to the crowds," said Mr. Jelinek. "In addition, especially for the Music Festival, we have stretched cables to keep pedestrians from straying onto driveways, and in the center of Leif Ericson drive we have laid a barricade to keep taxicabs from blocking traffic with U turns."

ENGINEER GETS PUBLIC WORKS JOB IN ILLINOIS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Joshua d'Esposito, prominent Chicago engineer, today was appointed federal public works engineer for the state of Illinois. His duties, according to Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, who announced the appointment, will consist of the management and supervision of the government's public works program in the state. He will be in direct charge of personnel and administration, and, in addition, will pass upon the feasibility and legality of projects within the state which may be proposed for federal aid.

Mr. d'Esposito is the designer of the Chicago Union station and of the Chicago Daily News building.

Wilfred W. De Berard, who was originally appointed to the public works post in Illinois, declined the position, and Mr. d'Esposito was appointed in his stead.

PATRIARCH OF ASSYRIANS IN IRAQ DEPORTED

Held Cause of Massacre of Hundreds.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Hope that the difficulties in Iraq over the massacre of hundreds of Christian Assyrians by Kurdish irregular police can be adjusted within a few weeks was coupled with the announcement today that Sir Francis Humphreys, British ambassador to Iraq, will leave London for his post tomorrow. Sir Francis expects to reach Brindisi, Italy, on Aug. 21. There he will catch an air liner for Bagdad on Aug. 23. He is due at Bagdad on Aug. 25.

As soon as possible after his arrival in the Iraq capital he will report to the British government. King Feisal of Iraq has promised to remain there until the arrival of Sir Francis. The king had planned to leave by air for Geneva to take the cure.

Order Patriarch Deported.

The Iraq government today issued a deportation order against Ishai Mar Shumon, youthful patriarch of the Assyrian tribe, in the belief that he is the cause of the trouble. The British government agreed to a request from the Iraqs that safe refuge be found for him. A Royal Air force plane took the patriarch, his father, brother, and two attendants to Palestine, enroute to Cyprus.

The Iraq legation issued a statement in London today denying that any Assyrians had been massacred.

"Official information received from the Iraq government states that no massacre has taken place in any part of Iraq," the communique said. "As is very well known, about 1,300 armed Assyrians crossed the Iraq frontier into Syria without the Iraq government's knowledge, and after a few days forced their way back to Iraq territory by killing frontier guards and causing loss of life.

Calls Assyrians Rebels.

"It was quite obvious that Iraq forces should deal with them, and the result was casualties on both sides. This does not mean a massacre, but fighting between rebels and government forces.

"No women, children, or disarmed men or relatives of the rebels suffered. On the contrary, the government formed a relief committee and allowed an adequate sum of money to help the families of the rebels who were helpless."

Find Hundreds of Bodies.

BAGDAD, Iraq, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Great Britain, although it gave up mandatory powers over Iraq this year, again has taken a hand in affairs of this state in an attempt to bring peace between Assyrian Christians and Iraq troops.

The killing of more than 600 Assyrians in conflicts with their traditional foes, the Kurds, and the Iraq forces has brought the affair to a crisis.

About 315 bodies were found in Simel and 300 more in the vicinity of Doguk, following Kurdish raids on the Assyrians.

WOMAN VISITOR HERE FOR FAIR IS KILLED BY AUTO

There was one traffic death in Chicago yesterday, increasing the Cook county toll since the first of the year to 627. The victim:

Norine Davis, 52 years old, of Kansas City, Kas., colored. Fatally injured late yesterday at 33d street and Michigan avenue. Police learned her name and that she had been attending the Fair from papers in her handbag, but there was no clew as to where she had been staying while here.

Winnetka Woman Ends Life by Taking Poison

Mrs. Elizabeth Wooten, 47 years old, ended her life by swallowing poison in the bedroom of her home at 949 Spruce street, Winnetka, early today. Death was almost instantaneous, police said. Mrs. Wooten was found by her son, Gille, 15 years old. A note addressed to her husband, King Wooten, an insurance broker at 134 South La Salle street, was found. It was not opened and will be turned over to the coroner's office today. Police did not learn a motive for Mrs. Wooten's act. Wooten, his son and a daughter, Subi, 11, had spent the day at the Fair.

255,325 AT FAIR; BIGGEST CROWD IN ITS HISTORY

Old Record Established on Jewish Day.

Thursday, Aug. 17, 1933..... 169,504
Thursday, Aug. 17, 1893..... 141,394
Total, including Aug. 17, 1933 [83 days] 9,696,240
Total, including Aug. 17, 1893 [109 days] 8,110,182
The Columbian Exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

BY EARL MULLIN.

All previous attendance records at the World's Fair were broken yesterday, when 255,325 persons passed through the gates. The old record was established on Jewish day, July 3, when 244,742 persons vited the exposition.

The two major attractions which acted as a lure to yesterday's crowds were Farm Progress day, with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace as the principal speaker, and Children's day. The cool weather also was a factor in the record breaking attendance, Fair officials said.

Crowd Arrives Early.

The crowd began to arrive early. At 10 a. m., after the gates had been open one hour, 26,091 persons were on the gounds. By 11 o'clock there were 70,140. In the next hour approximately 50,000 persons passed through the turnstiles. At 3 p. m. the attendance was 200,463 and there were still 176,103 persons on the grounds. The old crowd record was broken at 8 p. m. when the attendance reached 244,851.

The attendance yesterday also bettered the high mark for August at the Columbian Exposition. The record for that month was set on Aug. 24, 1893, when 243,951 admissions were recorded. The peak attendance for the 1893 Exposition was 716,881 on Oct. 9, Chicago day. Officials of A Century of Progress Exposition believe this record will be broken before the 1933 Fair closes.

The three previous record days at the present Fair have been Jewish day with 244,742; Illinois day, Aug. 11, with 236,046 paid admissions, and the holiday crowd of 232,472 on July 4.

"Naturally we are pleased that we have broken the record," Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the Fair, said. "But from now on we will be hanging up new records, and having them broken. The culmination of this, we believe, will be Chicago day, Oct. 9, when our estimates call for 1,000,000 visitors."

10,000,000th Visitor Today.

The ten millionth visitor is expected at the Fair some time this morning. Total attendance yesterday morning stood at 9,696,240. When the 10,000,000th visitor passes through the turnstiles he or she will be greeted with the most complete program and the greatest number and most expensive presents yet presented an honor visitor.

A reception committee of Fair officials, entertainers from the concessions in the Fair, press photographers and gifts, including a $100 diamond ring and a 15 gallon keg of beer, will greet the 10,000,000th visitor. Practically every concession has donated something.

Farm Sports' Day.

In contrast to the serious programs of Farm week, today's events will be in a lighter vein. It will be Farm Sports' day and the program will include a hog calling contest, a milking contest, and a husband calling contest.

Today will also be Japanese Silk day at the Fair. For this program Senator Gosuke Amai has come from Japan to represent his government and at the same time represent the silk industry, in which he is a leader.

Demure Nipponese maidens, flowers, music, pageantry, and cold economic figures about the silk trade will mark the program. One of the events will be the appearance of eighteen girls modeling silk creations from lingerie to evening gowns, and a score of men showing silk suits and other products of the silk industry.

Luncheon at Drake.

The Japanese party will hold a luncheon at the Drake, to be followed by a parade to the Fair grounds. At the luncheon guests will be presented with American flags of Japanese silk. Three thousand of these flags were brought to America, a majority of them to be presented to Chicago public schools.

Concluding the day's festivities will be the opening of the silk exhibit in the Japanese pavilion.

FOREST CAMPS WILL OPERATE DURING WINTER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt announced today that the civilian conservation corps of 300,000 jobless young men would be kept at full strength through the winter.

Some question had been raised as to whether, in view of the approach of snow, the enrollment might not be curtailed until spring, but the President said much work could be done in some of the northern states all winter, and that new camps would be established in the south.

He proposes, he said, to send a personal message to all of the 314,000 young men in the camps, urging them to find jobs if they could, in private life, provided they didn't displace some other worker.

Mr. Roosevelt said that when snow flies it will be necessary to move 450 of the 1,450 camps. The President said the original appropriations would be sufficient to cover the winter's expense.

It was learned from forestry officials that the work of building lagoons to drain Skokie marshes, near Chicago, would proceed throughout the winter. Camps in Michigan and Wisconsin probably will be vacated between Sept. 15 and Nov. 1.

THIEVES STEAL TOILET SOAP.

Edward P. Minneman of Le Suerer, Minn., reported yesterday that thieves had broken into his automobile while it was parked in front of 55 West Delaware place and had taken property, including 175 boxes of toilet soap, valued at $100.

SKEPTICAL COPS ROUT 350 FOREST 'GHOST' SEEKERS

Entire families, groups, and individuals, numbering about 350, were chased out of the forest preserve at 162d street and Wentworth avenue, Calumet City, early this morning by an army of county highway, forest preserve, and Calumet City police.

They had gathered to see a ghost and they were shooed away because the practical minded police knew there were no specters to see. For six nights from about 10 p. m. to 3 in the morning crowds of curious had entered the preserves in anxious expectancy. The ghost, they had been informed, would be seen dancing around an old pump.

"But there wasn't and isn't any ghost," explained Maj. Paul C. Gale, district superintendent of the forest preserves. "The story started last week when a World's Fair visitor and his family parked their car in the preserves near the old pump. A couple of spooners were near the pump, too. During the night the Fair visitor wanted a drink of water and he started for the pump. The spooners saw him and ran away frightened, thinking he was a ghost. They got the idea because he was wearing an old fashioned nightshirt."

GUARD SON OF ROCKEFELLER ON AIRPLANE TRIP

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller, 21 year old son of John D. Rockefeller Jr., flew with an armed guard from Houston to Fort Worth today to visit a Yale classmate, W. H. Slay Jr.

Two federal agents, with pistols strapped in their belts and a submachine gun between them in the seat of their motor car, escorted Rockefeller, his guard, and young Slay to the Slay home, where the heir to oil millions was a dinner guest.

"We're just out riding around," said an officer in explanation.

After the dinner Rockefeller, still accompanied by his bodyguard and the agents, returned to the airport to catch the 11:15 p. m. plane of the United Airlines bound for New York.

Young Rockefeller, who has spent three weeks in Houston studying industrial phases of the oil industry, made reservations on the United Air Lines from Fort Worth to Chicago yesterday, but the reservations were canceled late last night. He passed through Fort Worth July 24 on his way to Houston to take up oil work. He said he would reënter Yale in September.

Fair Visitor Leaves Cash in Parked Car; It's Stolen

A warning to World's Fair visitors not to leave money or other valuables in suitcases in parked cars may be derived from the experience of Wallace Van Strode, 819 Forest avenue, New York City. Van Strode left his car parked at Madison and Dearborn streets, and in his car he left three suitcases. In one of the suitcases was $375. Thieves broke into his automobile, stole the suitcases, and, of course, the $375.

DESIGN NEW CARS FOR COMFORT OF WOMEN DRIVERS

Outdoor Show in Grant Pk. Reveals Trend.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Chicago's first outdoor automobile show, which is free to the public, went into its second full day of attendance yesterday in the Congress street plaza of Grant park, with many women noticeable among its 40,000 visitors. Today will be the last day of the show, which is being sponsored by the Chicago Automobile Trade association committee.

"Manufacturers of cars make no secret of the fact that they cater to women now," a salesman explained. "The automobile, as is evidenced by the cars on display here, has gone feminist.

"Steering wheels are smaller and fitted to delicate hands. Brakes, clutch and gear shift are designed so that brawn is not necessary to handle them. Even in the cheaper cars seats are now adjustable, so that women's feet may easily reach the footgear."

"How about speed?" he was asked. "Aren't there some cars made for speed which still aim their appeal at the he-man?"

"Not at all," he said. "Women want speed just as much as men drivers do. It's one of the first qualities they ask about."

"Don't men drivers resent this specialization designed for women?"

Driving Early Cars a Man's Job.

A mother and daughter who were examining the gear shift of one car on display were overheard in conversation.

"I remember when your father felt it was quite an adventure to take the family out for an airing and went prepared for anything. Sometimes he had to walk after a team of horses to get us started. Often we had to walk home. It was a man's job to drive a car then," the mother said.

"How do you like this automatic clutch and the automatic choke and spark advance, mother?" the daughter asked.

Other women were heard discussing such matters as cylinder displacement, gear ratios, free wheeling, and carburetor adjustment. Men were seen to linger over the cutaway chassis displays while women opened car doors, peered at ornamental instrument boards, tried out the upholstery by sitting on it, felt of the leather and examined all the gadgets closely.

Approve Daring Colors.

Much interest was displayed in the sporty models shown. Maroon and red, tan and brown, blue and metal, light green and dark, and apple green and metal were combinations seen on these. One woman, however, told a solesman that the colors should be even more daring.

"You automobile dealers should tell the manufacturers to put some of A Century of Progress colors in their cars, and we women would go for them in a big way," she said. "Think of a smart coupe in that Joseph Urban blue, for instance."

A trend toward better cars this season was seen by some salesmen interviewed.

"Some of the women who have held the purse strings and held them pretty tightly," said one, "are loosening up now. They are telling their husbands they can get the car of their heart's desire—just so they can handle it. And women can handle any cars that are made now."

LAKE CHOPPY AS THEBAUD TAKES ITS FIRST CRUISE

The Gloucester fishing schooner, the Gertrude L. Thebaud, yesterday sailed on its first cruise since its arrival in Chicago last Sunday. It departed from the end of Navy pier with a fresh northeaster to fill its sails. The waters of Lake Michigan were fairly choppy and the skeptical eye of Capt. Ben Pine, veteran captain of the racing schooner, regarded them with some respect despite his opinion of fresh water sailing.

About 60 guests were on board, including many Chicago yachtsmen. A number of the guests became sick, due to the choppy sea. The invitations were issued by Alden H. Kenyon, Joseph C. White, and Harold B. Webber, members of the commission representing Gov. Joseph E. Ely of Massachusetts. The Thebaud was sent to A Century of Progress as an official exhibit of the commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Visible to the northeast of the Thebaud as she prepared to depart was her old rival, the Bluenose, international champion of the North Atlantic fishing fleet. The Bluenose was brought to Chicago from her home port of Lunenburg, N. S., for the World's Fair. A series of races for the great lakes championship is being arranged between the two famous vessels for early in October probably.

CHICAGO GAINS RIGHT IN ITALY TO BE CHICAGO

Society Gives Rule to Stop Double Spelling.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Italy, Aug. 18.—The name of Chicago has been appearing much in the public prints in recent weeks through the flight of Gen. Italo Balbo and A Century of Progress Exposition and causing much puzzlement to local writers and student of orthography on how it ought to be spelled.

There were two schools: One said it should be spelled C-h-i-c-a-g-o; that is phonetically, for in Italian C-i is pronounced as if it were shi, whereas C-h-i would, in Italian be like k-i, c followed by h becoming hard; the other school said Chicago ought to be spelled C-h-i-c-a-g-o like Americans spell it and regardless of phonetics in Italian.

In the manner of a race devoted to polemics and loving wordy discussions the controversy went on for some time and sometimes you would see it spelled Cicago and sometimes it was Chicago, depending on the writer's or newspaper editor's individual preference.

Here's the Ruling.

The matter was finally referred to the Italian Geographical society which has just come forth with a blanket ruling which leaves Chicago breathing easier for it will be able to retain the h under the ruling which says:

1. For languages which do not have the Latin alphabet, Italians should adopt the Italian phonetic transcript of the name.

2. For languages which have the Latin alphabet the name should be spelled in Italian as it is spelled in the country of its origin.

English has the Latin alphabet so Chicago remains Chicago but a lot of disturbance will be caused elsewhere. The Italian persists in calling Brooklyn, for instance, Braccolino; Charleston is Ciarlston and Long Island is Long Ailan, the spelling arising from the popular usage of Italian immigrants.

Italian Names Misspelled.

Furthermore the ruling of the Geographical society will probably irritate patrons of the Italian language in other sectors for they insist here in calling Paris, Parigi; London is Londra; the Thames is the Tamigi, and Seville is Siviglia.

Those who want to stick to the old form challenge the Geographical society to make foreigners apply the same rule in speaking of Italian towns. Do not English and Americans, they say, barbarously call Napoli by the curious contraction of Naples: and don't they say Florence for Firenze and [per bacco!] don't they even say Rome when everybody knows it's pronounced Roma!

Four Children of Movie Stars, Now Actors, at Fair

Four children of motion picture stars of several years ago, who recently completed a picture entitled "This Day and Age," spent yesterday in Chicago visiting A Century of Progress. They were Eric von Stroheim Jr., Carlisle Blackwell Jr., Bryant Washburn Jr., and Elsie Ferguson II. The quartet were en route from Hollywood to New York.

CHARGE MURDER PLOT TO HUSBAND.

A warrant was served on Merrill J. Seymour, 42 years old, 733 West 61st street, in his cell in the Kane county jail at Geneva yesterday charging him with the attempted murder of his wife. He shot his wife, Ann, 30 years old, and himself July 31 in the Hotel Baker in St. Charles. Both are recovering.

Milkmaids to Compete in Contest at the Fair

The contest is part of the program to be given as the closing event of Farm week at the Fair. Other events will be hog calling, husband calling, and sheep shearing contests.

THE CONSUMER IN THE RECOVERY.

Prof. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago, in his recommendations to Gen. Johnson of the N. R. A., gave him a seven point program for the protection of the consumer in the recovery plan. Prof. Ogburn was a member of the consumers' advisory board, but has resigned, with comment that this feature of the new deal is inadequately organized. He reminds Gen. Johnson that the interest of the consumer, although fundamental, is not protected either by influential associations or by powerful individuals. Both labor and capital, workmen and employers, have these advantages.

When an industry has been brought under a code the interests of labor and capital have been heard. Their ideas may not have been accepted and their desires may not have been met, but they have had their chance to bring argument and influence to bear on the administrators, whereas the consumer as yet has been feebly, if at all, represented. Yet the consumer will make the scheme work or he'll make it fail. Although unorganized for representation, for the applying of influence and the making of argument, the consumers act together under the pressure of the most powerful and realistic of organizers, which is the available amount of spending money.

The pocketbook gives the consumers their code and it permits few evasions. It is a law which doesn't need exhorters. It contains its own discipline. The cotton textile industry notes that in the period when its code was in preparation there was a great stimulation in buying and orders. That was manifestly in anticipation of what the code might do. It was in reality a stimulation of apprehensions. There was a rush to buy in fear of high prices. Now the boom has subsided and the orders aren't coming in. Consumption is guided by the hope of buying what is cheapest when it is cheapest. There is hardly a line, even of the necessities of life, which does not permit substitutions in search for lower prices. If the destruction of pigs proposed by the agricultural administrators produces a pork shortage and brings pork prices out of line the consumer will buy another kind of meat. If all meat prices are boosted the consumption of meat will be reduced.

If the oil code raises the price of gasoline so that the consumer feels it he will reduce the operation of his car to necessitous driving. Oil can be substituted for coal as fuel, or coal for oil, or gas for both, and there are still other substitutes. The old suit of clothes is always a competitor of the new, the old dress of the new, and the old hat. Shoes can be repaired and are in competition with the stock on the retail shelves.

The consumer's laws cannot be much modified by legislation and administration. They will be dictated by the amount of money he has to spend. The increase in purchasing power by a wider distribution of the profits of national resources is the ostensible aim and object of the whole recovery plan, but it is the slowest process in the scheme. The plague of plenty had at least one compensation. It tempered the wind to the shorn lamb. If the wind gets sharper and the lamb remains in his shorn condition his miseries will increase. His only protection is to take to the cover of reduced expenses.

Economies which amount to deprivations mean hardships, but the scale of living can be forced down by people who must do so to save themselves. The recovery program is swinging from one trapeze to another. If it misses one of them the flight through the air will have an unknown landing, of which only one thing can be certain. It will be hard.

CRIME AND GOVERNMENT.

A committee of the United States senate in New York the other day, investigating racketeering and gangster crime, was given some important if not surprising information. Our readers have often had their attention called to it in these columns. Mr. George Z. Medalie, able district attorney, told the committee that gangsters and racketeering would remain with us "until politics is divorced from municipal control." In almost every large city, said Mr. Medalie, "racketeers and gangsters are part of the machinery of political control." "You speak of the occasional politician?" inquired Chairman Copeland, a Tammany man, naturally concerned for the good name of his organization. "No," replied the candid Medalie, "I am speaking of the professional politician. I could name four right here in this county."

Then the committee heard from Justice Frederick Kernochan, who presides over the Court of Special Sessions, and his remarks repeated Mr. Medalie's. Gangsters and racketeers thrive, said this jurist, "because they have some usefulness to district leaders." It was true, he said, that they guarded some gambling houses from other gangsters, but their chief job was on behalf of district leaders on primary and election days "Racketeers would be dealt a tremendous blow if in some way the protection of the district leader could be taken from them."

The diagnosis is easier than the cure. "If people regularly overthrew the machine," Mr. Medalie suggested, "you would have a fair chance of getting rid of that permanent group of parasites." But Mr. Joseph Keenan of Chicago, assistant to Attorney General Cummings, thought that Mr. Medalie was asking for the millennium.

Perhaps Mr. Keenan is right so far as our American democracy is concerned. But there are countries where the working alliance of organized crime and corrupt professional politics does not prevail and where municipalities are run as reputable enterprises. As an intelligent people assuming, in theory at least, the responsibilities of self-government, we need not tolerate control by politicians who gain their power over us by the aid of criminal parasites. The alliance of crime and corrupt politics is not a necessary agency of popular government.

OUR INNOCENTS ABROAD.

Sigrid Schultz reports from Berlin that the German government has been informed that unless Herr Hitler's young storm troopers are more effectually restrained from expressing their patriotic emotions in the way of assault upon Americans in Germany the American government will officially advise its citizens to stay out of Germany. The advice does not seem to us premature. The attack upon Dr. Daniel Mulvihill, a surgeon of Brooklyn, is warning that an American does not have to be of Jewish faith and countenance to be in danger of affront or even physical injury under the conditions created by the Nazi régime. It is not merely a matter of the temper of Herr Hitler's bright young men in the storm troops. The Nazi official spirit seems to be keyed to the same tone, as lately shown by the sentencing of an American sailor to six months' imprisonment on the charge of calling Herr Hitler "a Czechoslovakian Jew." This dire offense was committed in a drinking resort at the harbor of Stettin. The defendant asserts that his actual words were: "Hitler is a Czechoslovakian. The Jews don't like him." The sailor's captain testifies that his man had been drinking, but we do not wonder this allegation was ignored by the court, as it seems improbable that any one in his cups could manage to call any one a Czechoslovakian.

American "representations," it is reported, have been made on behalf of this luckless mariner on the ground that the penalty is excessive. This seemed at first to be the opinion of the authorities at Stettin, who in response to an inquiry by our consul general at Berlin said the matter was "not a serious case," that the sailor was in the best of care, and would be permitted proper counsel. Later it was discovered that he had been given six months in prison. Perhaps the Stettin authorities heard from Berlin that calling the head of the state a Jew or a Czechoslovakian is a more serious matter than they had thought.

An accumulation of evidence indicates that a good place for Americans to be is home.

SENSIBLE RATE ADJUSTMENTS.

The various industries that sought a general reduction in freight rates through the interstate commerce commission on the theory that present freight rates were out of step with present commodity prices have been definitely advised by the interstate commerce commission that in its opinion freight rates as a whole are not unreasonable. This is in direct contradiction of the conclusion reached under similar circumstances in 1922, when a 10 per cent reduction was ordered in all freight rates on the theory that the relief would stimulate commerce. Apparently the commission has profited by experience.

While the record of the case indicates that in many instances additional traffic would result from a decrease in freight rates, it is certain that a percentage reduction in all freight rates would reduce general carrier revenue all out of proportion to benefits that might accrue in specific cases.

THE TRIBUNE has consistently held that in individual situations the railways can adjust rates to the benefit of both carrier and shipper, but this cannot be accomplished through a bureau of eleven men. It is gratifying, however, to note that in its decision the interstate commerce commission has pointed out several situations where beneficial adjustments might be made, suggesting attention. The carriers should immediately proceed to accept the tip to resume a little of their own traffic management in the case of these specific instances and the thousands of other similar situations that are known to their traffic officers.

Editorial of the Day

THE RAILROADS AND RECOVERY.

[Kansas City Times.]

The paradoxical situation which from the virtual outset has faced the new railroad setup under a federal coördinator of transportation may be happily resolved. The coördinator, Joseph B. Eastman, was charged with the responsibility of effecting economies to the utmost in railroad operation. This, it was understood, would involve the curtailment of unnecessary services and perhaps inevitably the operating forces. Yet the latter especially would be in direct conflict with the recovery program, which was aimed primarily at the building up of employment.

It is the recovery program that now is to triumph in this particular, and, as current developments indicate, without endangering the chances for more profitable operation of the carriers. The coördinator now directs the roads to suspend or postpone "all projects for economy at the expense of labor." There is reiterated expression of the expectation that the railroads, instead of laying off workers, will increase their labor forces. Fortunately, that already is in progress and seemingly it can be continued. The railroads, which earlier were instructed not to fall below their total of approximately 943,000 employés in May, have added more than 65,000 workers since June 1. A few days ago the coördinator asked rail executives whether they could not go further with reëmployment.

It is the recent increase in rail traffic and the consequent betterment in rail finances that may make that kind of procedure a practical possibility. Freight car loadings have decreased moderately in the last week or two, due to seasonal influences; but they still are running well ahead of last year and the outlook is for a continued comparative gain. Net earnings of many roads have shown a vast improvement. Maintenance of way and other betterments, neglected for years, now are being gradually resumed and are requiring more workers.

It should be observed that "the utmost possible economy" is retained as a long range policy, and that it is only for the present and by virtue of the spirit of recovery that it is suspended with regard to labor. But if recovery does the work expected of it, or a measurable part of that work, the railroads may be so rehabilitated that the workers added now can be retained permanently.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE-LINE: In the '70s 22d street east of Indiana avenue was a pleasant street three blocks to the lake. The I. C. station was a frame building, painted red brown, and stood just south of 22d on South Park avenue. At that time there were two lines of track (double track), then the lake and one line of breakwater. I have seen the waves so high that the station platform was drenched.

We boys swam in the lake at 20th and 21st streets, but the residents along Calumet avenue didn't want a lot of naked kids to have any good times, so we had to look out for the "Flatties," as we called them, who came from the station at 25th and Cottage Grove to chase us away. Now, of course, there are regular beaches for bathers.

The east side of Calumet from 21st to 22d had fine residences, with well kept lawns, set back from the street. As the lots extended to the I. C. right of way, back yards also were large. Each house had a barn for its owner's horses and carriages. Dr. Gunn, John Alling, J. A. Markley, and John R. Walsh lived in this block (1880).

As I recall, L. Z. Leiter, father of Joseph, lived on Calumet north of 21st, west side of street. P. D. Armour's big house was on Prairie, about 2119.

J. C. Howland.

Sarah Bernhardt's first local appearance also was at McVicker's, Jan. 18, 1881. The play was "Camille."

Richard Mansfield first showed here at Haverly's, Oct. 15, 1883, in "Parisian Romance." This was the play in which he made himself a star of the first magnitude almost over night a few months previously in New York. Herman Hefter.

NEXT FRIDAY, AUG. 25, IS THE BIRTHDAY of R. H. L. Strange as it may seem, it comes only once a year. R. H. L. is on a vacation, supposedly with a fishline in Canada. But why need that handicap us? Let's have a Birthday Party for the usual conductor of this column. To that end, we, conductor pro tem., invite all followers of the Line who may have knowledge of R. H. L.'s early history, or later history, to send any anecdote which might please or embarrass him. Since he's away and cannot censor the material, the lid is off. Will you come to the party? If so, please send your brain children gifts early, so they may be properly assembled. Helper William Owen suggested the party.

WATCHFUL WAITING

Dear Wake-Line: I notice where you wondered why I hadn't been around with some comment about the new deal and were kind enough to say I started the successful campaign cry of "Vote all the officeholders out."

Well, I'm watching things at Washington and hoping for the best, unwilling yet to criticize because we certainly are getting action where once we got only conversation. I'll admit, however, I'm a bit skeptical whether NRA officials, without much practical business experience, can know so much more about business than men who have given their lifetime to managing corporations successfully. At the same time, I feel reasonable cooperation should be extended the administration in its efforts.

On my pet vexation of taxes, I do not see any immediate relief forthcoming. The budget is being balanced not by economy but by bookkeeping. Perhaps that's the way to start business going. But it seems to me most of the new jobs are government jobs, and that means just more officeholders to feed with taxes levied for their support. But don't think I'm not on the job watching for results. I still want taxes down, and if we don't get that in due time I'll be sounding my old tocsin, "Vote the officeholders out," before the next election. Joe Citizen.

FOOD MINERALS.

ASSUMING that a person's dietary contains ample calories for both energy and repair he will keep in good condition for a matter of weeks, or maybe months, but in spite of the supply of these materials he will eventually go stale unless he is also getting a proper supply of minerals and vitamins.

Dr. I. N. Kugelmass rates some foods according to their content of certain minerals. For calcium content he gives cheese, soy beans, almonds, molasses, cress, dried figs, chard, dried beans, boiled yellow of egg, brown bread, cauliflower, olives, milk, endives, walnuts, peanuts, eggs, turnips, carrots, and prunes.

In this list there is an enormous spread between cheese at the head and prunes at the foot, or between the first and the last seven items. Cheese, the first item, contains three times as much as soy beans, the second. Some of the standing, as determined by calcium content, is dependent upon the amount of moisture in the food as analyzed. Cheese is made from milk and contains no more calcium than is found in the original source. But milk contains much water, whereas cheese is quite dry. Probably the various salads and greens compare with cress, chard, and cauliflower, and butter ranks somewhat near the other milk products.

Very closely related to calcium in all of its uses by the body is the element phosphorus. Various foods rate as follows, from the standpoint of phosphorus:

Cheese, egg yolk, dried beans, almonds, whole wheat, peanuts, oatmeal, walnuts, lean beef, eggs, dried prunes, polished rice, milk, white flour, potatoes, carrots, turnips, beets, bananas, and oranges.

About the first one-third of this list are foods that should be considered rich in phosphorus, the next are fairly so, and the last third are relatively poor in it.

Kidney, spleen, romaine, liver, egg yolk, molasses, dried beans, dried peas, brains, whole wheat, beef heart, hazelnuts, almonds, oatmeal, spinach, whole eggs, lean beef, dried prunes, brown bread, and dates.

The amount of iron in a pound of kidney is more than six times that found in an equal weight of dates.

Foods rate in iodine content as follows:

As sources the meats from the sea rank very much above the vegetables from the land. In addition, it is well to know that there is a great difference in the iodine content of vegetables, dependent upon the soil from which they come.

SPOTS ON FACE.

M. C. C. writes: I am bothered with white spots appearing on my face and neck. These spots are usually the size of a quarter, sometimes larger, and are very white.

1. Are these so-called liver spots?
2. Is this condition a skin disease?
3. How may I rid myself of these spots?

REPLY.

1. No. Liver spots are brown.
2. This condition is called vitiligo. Also leucoderma.
3. Probably the most satisfactory method is to keep them tinted to about the shade of the surrounding skin. This can be done with the juice of walnuts, or with this juice reinforced by dyes. The use of any dye requires some care and skill. Many persons who try to dye such spots are too careless to get satisfactory results. The reports that we have had from curative treatments are very uneven. Many have been disappointed.

THAT'S IT.

Mrs. I. K. writes: What is the cause of a child four years of age getting up from his sleep nightly? He screams and calls for help. Could it be bad dreams? Perhaps the fact that I take him to the movies once a week has something to do with it.

REPLY.

You guessed right. The child is suffering from thrills.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 19, 1917.

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE.—Hill 70, the height that dominates Lens, the coal center in France, so desperately held by the Germans, has been ordered retaken from the Canadians at any cost. The height was captured on Aug. 15 after a terrific bombardment and nearly a day of hand to hand fighting. German prisoners declare that word had been passed to them direct from Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria that the lost ground must be wrested from the Canadians regardless of the cost in lives and material. The fierceness of the counter-attacks indicates that the German prisoners are telling the truth. Since the Germans lost the vantage point they have launched no less than sixteen counter attacks. Each attempt to regain the hill has resulted in hand to hand fighting with bayonets, knives, clubbed rifles and bare fists.

OTHER WAR NEWS.—Paris reports continued progress from Bischoote to Langemarck, repulse of foe north of the Aisne, and recapture of positions lost near Verdun. Berlin reports heavy artillery duels on the western front, but admits loss of Langemarck. Berlin also claims the defeat of Russo-Rumanians south of Grozesci and the capture of 1,600 prisoners.

PARIS.—Medill McCormick, congressman from Illinois, arrived in Paris to study the war situation and its effect on America. Incidentally, he brought two trunks of chewing gum with him to be distributed to the men of Gen. Pershing's army. Returning to America, Mr. McCormick will make a full report to the house of representatives of his observations and give his views as to what the duties of the United States are. He believes a congressional committee should come to France and study conditions first hand.

CHICAGO.—The distribution of tobacco for United States soldiers in France, purchased with funds raised through THE TRIBUNE, is to be handled by the Red Cross. Arrangements have been made for purchases at the equivalent of a wholesale rate so that every 25 cents sent in will buy smoking materials that would cost 45 cents at retail.

WASHINGTON.—Thirty days in the reformatory at Occoquan, Va., is the sentence handed out to the six White House pickets who defied the ultimatum of the police department that suffrage banners and pickets would no longer be tolerated. Among the six women sent for a month's stay with the stray drunks and petty malefactors of the national capital were Mrs. William U. Watson and Miss Lucy Ewing of Chicago.

CHICAGO.—Miss Margaret Houghteling, daughter of Mrs. James L. Houghteling, 850 Lincoln parkway, became the bride of Lieut. Arthur Farwell Tuttle in Christ Episcopal church yesterday afternoon.

PERJURY AND THE NEW PRACTICE ACT.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—I have read with much interest your editorial, "Perjury in the Courts."

Perjury has always been a crime in Illinois and is classed as an infamous crime, and is punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one year nor more than fourteen years.

Perjury in Illinois is swearing willfully, corruptly, and falsely in a matter material in a judicial proceeding or in any other matter where by law an oath is required.

The last legislature of Illinois passed, in its great wisdom, a new practice act to go into force Jan. 1, 1934. Among its various provisions is one entitled "Untrue Statements," which seems to modify the crime of perjury in relation to pleadings in courts of record and provides as follows: "Allegations and denials, made without reasonable cause and not in good faith and found to be untrue, shall subject the party pleading the same to the payment of such reasonable expenses, to be summarily taxed by the court at the trial, as may have been actually incurred by the other party by reason of such untrue pleading."

This new paragraph in our practice act was taken from the laws of New Jersey of 1912, chapter 231, rule 19, where evidently they look at perjury as a very commonplace thing. A very different attitude and state of mind has always been held in Illinois, where perjury has always been an infamous crime and from practical experience a great deal of the delay in civil cases has been due to loose statements both by plaintiffs and defendants in pleadings filed by them.

However, this last action of the legislature seems to have thrown down the bars as to perjury in pleadings in courts of record, and you might say as to pleadings has repealed by implication in part the infamous crime of perjury, it being the last word by our lawmakers in that regard. They might as well have abolished the oath to all pleadings in Illinois.

I believe that the law on the matter is very inconsistent, to say the least. Comments from the bar would bring enlightenment. WILLETT H. CORNWELL.

GAS MASKS FOR AUTOS.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Every automobile in the country is busy filling the air with the poisonous carbon monoxide gas. The automobile industry owes it to the country to invent a gas mask or some other contrivance to put on the mufflers to absorb the gas or change it into a harmless substance. We should not have to wait for the next A Century of Progress for its appearance.

WE HOPE NOT.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Shuffle N I R A, deal, and it is R A I N.

A GULLIBLE LOT.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The American people are a gullible lot. They go for the ballyhoo now being passed out by our political leaders like the suckers go for the shell game. The result is always the same in both cases. They never fail to release a terrible howl, but not until after all of their money has been spent.

Four months ago every self-styled economist in the nation was clamoring for a huge reduction in government costs as the only means of destroying this depression. Today we find these same individuals idolizing and making heroes out of a group of college professors who are spending our money just about as fast as the printing presses can turn it out.

We can't have prosperity and political machines. It's impossible to maintain both at the same time. It's like trying to maintain hot and cold water in the same tank, yet every new department and bureau now being set up by the administration at Washington, for the acclaimed purpose of destroying this depression, is creating thousands of additional political jobs.

The Democrats are like the magician who was trying to pull a rabbit out from underneath the hat and who had no rabbit. I knew when they started their sleight-of-hand tricks that the rabbit was missing. Since that time subsequent developments have convinced me that they haven't even got a hat.

JOHN J. MANGAN.

REGRETTABLE IF TRUE.

Bradford, Mass., Aug. 8.—Having just returned from a visit to your city, I thought a letter of commendation would be in order. The reception to travelers who come to the Fair is courteous, directions are well given, and a homelike feeling is at once felt by the visitor. A Century of Progress is certainly an outstanding achievement of this generation.

Throughout the trip of 2,800 miles there was not a break in the courteous and friendly feeling except in one instance. This was in Chicago at the University State bank. I went there to cash some express checks and was asked to pay 1 per cent premium. The head official said this was necessary because there were too many travelers in the city coming in to exchange them and they were a nuisance. Not having ever been up against such gruff and unpleasant accusations in the entire trip, I tried to be sociable and explained that the spending of money by tourists was a boon to the city. I was handed my checks and told to beat it when I asked for a receipt to show to my bank. I felt like a criminal and was very much embarrassed, as there were quite a few people in the lobby of the bank.

I wish your A Century of Progress all the success possible, and hope I ran across the only impolite banker in your city. P. NETTLE, M. D.

QUESTION FOR ART STUDENTS.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Recently I acquired a small print, size 5x6½ inches, which is a copy of the painting "Madonna mit dem Fisch" by Raffael. The following is written beneath the print: "Tiefdruck der Deutschen Verlags-Anstalt, Stuttgart."

Will some kind reader and art patron inform me through the medium of this column where the original is hung, what the dimensions of the canvas are, and where, if at all, I may view an accurate copy more nearly the size of the original? C. F. H.

GRAND JURORS CALL JUDGES TO WAR ON CRIME

Ask More Volunteers as Campaign Lags.

By unanimous vote the August grand jury yesterday adopted a resolution calling on some of the fifty-six judges of the Superior and Circuit courts to sacrifice part of their vacations so that the war against crime started by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court may be kept going at full speed. The campaign has been lagging for the last few days because of the lack of judges.

The campaign which started off with an average of 15 penitentiary sentences each day has resulted in only six prison sentences in the last two days. Five of the sentences were imposed yesterday to bring the total to 140 since the campaign started three weeks ago.

First Call Answered by Seven.

The first call for volunteer judges issued by Judge Prystalski after the slaying of Policeman John Sevick in the courtroom of Judge Charles P. Molthrop, received a response from seven judges, giving the court 10 judges for the crime campaign. However, four of the judges have since had to return to civil court emergency duties, leaving the court with only six judges to dispose of an average of 350 indictments a month.

The second call for volunteers issued early in the week by Judge Prystalski has so far brought only two answers. Judge Kickham Scanlan, a veteran of the bench, is to go on duty Monday. Judge Donald S. McKinley of the Superior court, one of the newly elected judges, sent a telegram yesterday from Cassapolis, Mich., saying he, too, would appear for service Monday morning instead of waiting until Sept. 5 when he is regularly scheduled to take up a Criminal court assignment.

Grand Jury Takes Action.

The grand jurors, who have been working each day until late in the afternoon voting indictments against murderers and robbers, took the action on the judicial situation on their own initiative yesterday. They presented the following resolution to Chief Justice Prystalski:

"The August Cook county grand jury recognizes the great need for clearing the docket now before the courts. We appreciate the rapidity with which the judges have worked during the vacation period.

"However, the grand jury feels that the present acute criminal condition would be greatly relieved should other judges in the various courts of the county find it possible to volunteer their services for this work.

Urges Judges' Coöperation.

"Therefore, the August grand jury adopts a unanimous resolution urging the coöperation of the judges to offer their services to you [the chief justice] and the Criminal court and the law abiding citizens of this county."

The resolution was signed by Edward E. McBride, an architect, who is foreman of the jury. The other twenty-two jurors in open court said the resolution expressed their sentiments.

The present grand jury has heard the evidence in the four murder cases, involving seven defendants, one of them a woman. Judge Prystalski on Thursday made arrangements for speedy trials of these cases.

Sentenced for Shooting Woman.

John Chegelnick, 55 years old, was one of the five defendants sentenced yesterday. Judge Molthrop sentenced him to one to fourteen years in prison, after a jury convicted him of shooting Miss Jennie Lent, a sister of Mrs. Nettie Bookman, 601 South Sangamon street, at whose home Chegelnick was a boarder. He shot her three times after he had been asked to find a new boarding house.

Clarence Nelson, 40 years old, was sentenced to 1 to 20 years by Judge Ross C. Hall for stealing an automobile from Joseph Formuse, 901 North Hamlin avenue.

Other Criminals Sentenced.

The other sentences imposed yesterday were as follows:

ARTHUR HANUS, 20 years old, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Molthrop. He was convicted of robbing a restaurant at 2613 East 75th street on May 30.

HAYWOOD WALLER, 23, sentenced to 1 to 20 years by Judge Ross C. Hall after a jury found him guilty of robbing a Buyler's candy store at 310 North Michigan avenue of $31 on March 6.

WALTER PERNALSKI, 24, sentenced to 1 year to life by Judge Harry B. Miller after a jury found him guilty of burglary of a shoe store at 4243 Archer avenue on April 9. He was placed on probation on a similar charge in November, 1931.

Several other convictions were obtained during the day, but sentences were deferred until next week. A few minor bridewell sentences were imposed on first offenders.

Thirty-six prisoners, four of them women, were taken to the penitentiary yesterday by Warden David Moneypenny of the county jail. The women were Mrs. Mary Angelo, 43 years old, and Mrs. Eva Nielsen, 33, sentenced to 1 to 2 years each for encouraging their sons-in-law to commit robbery; and Blanche Chevetal, 19, and Mildred Rundle, recently convicted of being accessories to the murder of Dr. Bernard F. Garnitz.

ROOSEVELT'S SON TRIES HIS HAND AT BULL FIGHTING

SEVILLE, Spain, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the American President, visited a bull farm near here today. He tried his hand at cape work with a small bull.

Roosevelt was dressed in an Andalusian costume with a wide hat and cape, loaned him by his host, Romuldo Arias de la Reina. This was Roosevelt's birthday, and at a luncheon celebration Señor Arias toasted the President of the United States in Manzanilla wine in the classic Andalusian manner. Later gypsy singers and dancers entertained the party.

Loot Michigan Bank; 5 Shot; Fleeing Robbers Drop $6,000

Grand Haven, Mich., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—One of four bandits was shot and captured and four persons were wounded in a bold holdup of the Peoples Savings bank here today. The loot was $10,000 in currency, $6,000 of which was dropped in the getaway of the three bandits. The robbers overlooked $15,000.

Pressing of a burglar alarm by a bank employé caused the shooting. The alarm rang in a furniture store adjoining the bank, and Edward Kinkema, an employé of the store, ran out and began firing at the quartet of robbers as they ran from the bank.

Exchange of Bullets.

In the brief exchange of bullets John Lindemulder, assistant cashier of the bank, was wounded slightly in the back and William Pellegron, a teller, received a bullet in the foot. In the crowd which gathered Peter Van Lopik was shot in the abdomen and Julius Pleines was shot in the spine. The latter two were bystanders.

The bandit shot and captured gave the name of Harry Harris of Chicago.

After seeing Harris fall, his three companions ran to an automobile occupied by Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. Louis Bonema and four children. They pushed them from the car and sped away. In their haste to obtain possession of the car they dropped two bags containing securities and silver.

Find Loot in Automobile.

Four miles to the south of Grand Haven they abandoned the automobile and seized the sedan of a passing motorist. In the second car they sped to the south. In the abandoned automobile which had been taken in Grand Haven the police found a large part of the stolen loot.

State police and Ottawa deputy sheriffs gave chase after the second automobile was taken by the gang.

FAILS TO APPEAR AGAINST CONVICT; DRAWS CENSURE

Municipal Judge Harry H. Porter of Evanston yesterday criticized Miss Sara M. Scott, instructor of nurses at St. Francis hospital, for failing to appear before him to testify against Paul [Turk] McMahon, a paroled convict, on charges of assault and robbery.

McMahon entered an "L" station in Evanston where Miss Scott was waiting for a train early on Aug. 10 and attacked here in an attempt to seize her purse. She beat and scratched him until he fled, taking the contents of the purse with him. Police arrested him a few blocks away.

Police Chief William O. Freeman told Judge Porter that Miss Scott is visiting in Council Bluffs, Ia., and gained a continuation of the charges against McMahon until Aug. 25, after Judge Porter had remarked: "This is just an example of what the courts and police have to contend with in the prosecution of criminals."

Judge Porter sentenced Russell Harvey, 22 years old, a Negro, of Pittsburgh, to fifteen months in the Bridewell on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and larceny. Harvey menaced Mrs. W. P. Svedlund, 918 Washington street, Evanston, with a revolver on Aug. 1 when she caught him looting her home.

Arrested on Charge of Posing as U. S. Officer

Jule Dewey, 57 years old, 6959 South Michigan avenue, was arrested yesterday in a saloon at 4235 South Kedzie avenue and will be turned over to federal authorities for prosecution on a charge of impersonating a government officer. The saloon owner, Gus Koszyk, said that Dewey represented himself as a federal agent and insisted on being paid $5 for "the administration accounting system." He also said he was a salesman of memberships for a liquor dealers' association.

HEAD OF COUNTY BOARD ADDS $50 TO POLICE FUND

Urges Help for Families of Slain Heroes.

Expressing his conviction that dependents of slain police heroes should be aided by the citizens of Chicago for whom the policemen laid down their lives, Emmett Whealan, president of the Cook county board, sent a check for $50 to THE TRIBUNE Police Hero fund yesterday.

This fund for the widows and children of slain policemen, was established by THE TRIBUNE several weeks ago after Policeman John G. Sevick was shot and killed in a courtroom by a prisoner with a smuggled gun. Sevick was the ninth member of the police department slain by gunmen since Jan. 1. Since his death two other policemen have been killed, leaving their dependents destitute.

In Appreciation of Heroes.

In a letter accompanying his contribution yesterday, Mr. Whealan said: "I am thoroughly in accord with the idea of the public showing its appreciation of any public employé who loses his life in the performance of his sworn duty.

"Believing that those more fortunate should provide some means for the dependents who may be left behind, I am enclosing my check for $50 for your fund."

Mr. Whealan's check brings the total of the Police Hero fund to $4,867.30. The fund will be divided equally among the police widows and their families.

Fear for Their Families.

Few pay days and mounting bills have brought added worry to policemen. With their lives ever in danger, they fear for the financial security of their wives and children.

Contributions to the Police Hero fund will bring some assurance to the families of these policemen that the citizens of Chicago do not forget the debt they owe the police force for protection. Gifts may be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. Checks should be made payable to the Police Hero Fund.

PAYMASTER IS ROBBED.

Presley Holmes, 6219 Newcastle avenue, paymaster for the A. J. Nystrom company, 3333 Oakton street, was robbed of the $615 pay roll by a lone robber who met him at the entrance to the offices yesterday.

RIOTING TWO NIGHTS IN FEDERAL PRISON IN LEAVENWORTH, KAS.

Leavenworth, Kas., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—It was learned today that rioting has been on in wing six of the circular cellhouse of the annex federal penitentiary for two nights over reported resentment among convicts on new strict discipline rules put on since Terry Druggan was transferred to Atlanta Tuesday.

Trouble started after supper Wednesday evening when most of the 600 convicts in wing six refused to go into their individual cells. Many of them had hard rocks in their pockets and they stoned the guards out of the cellhouse.

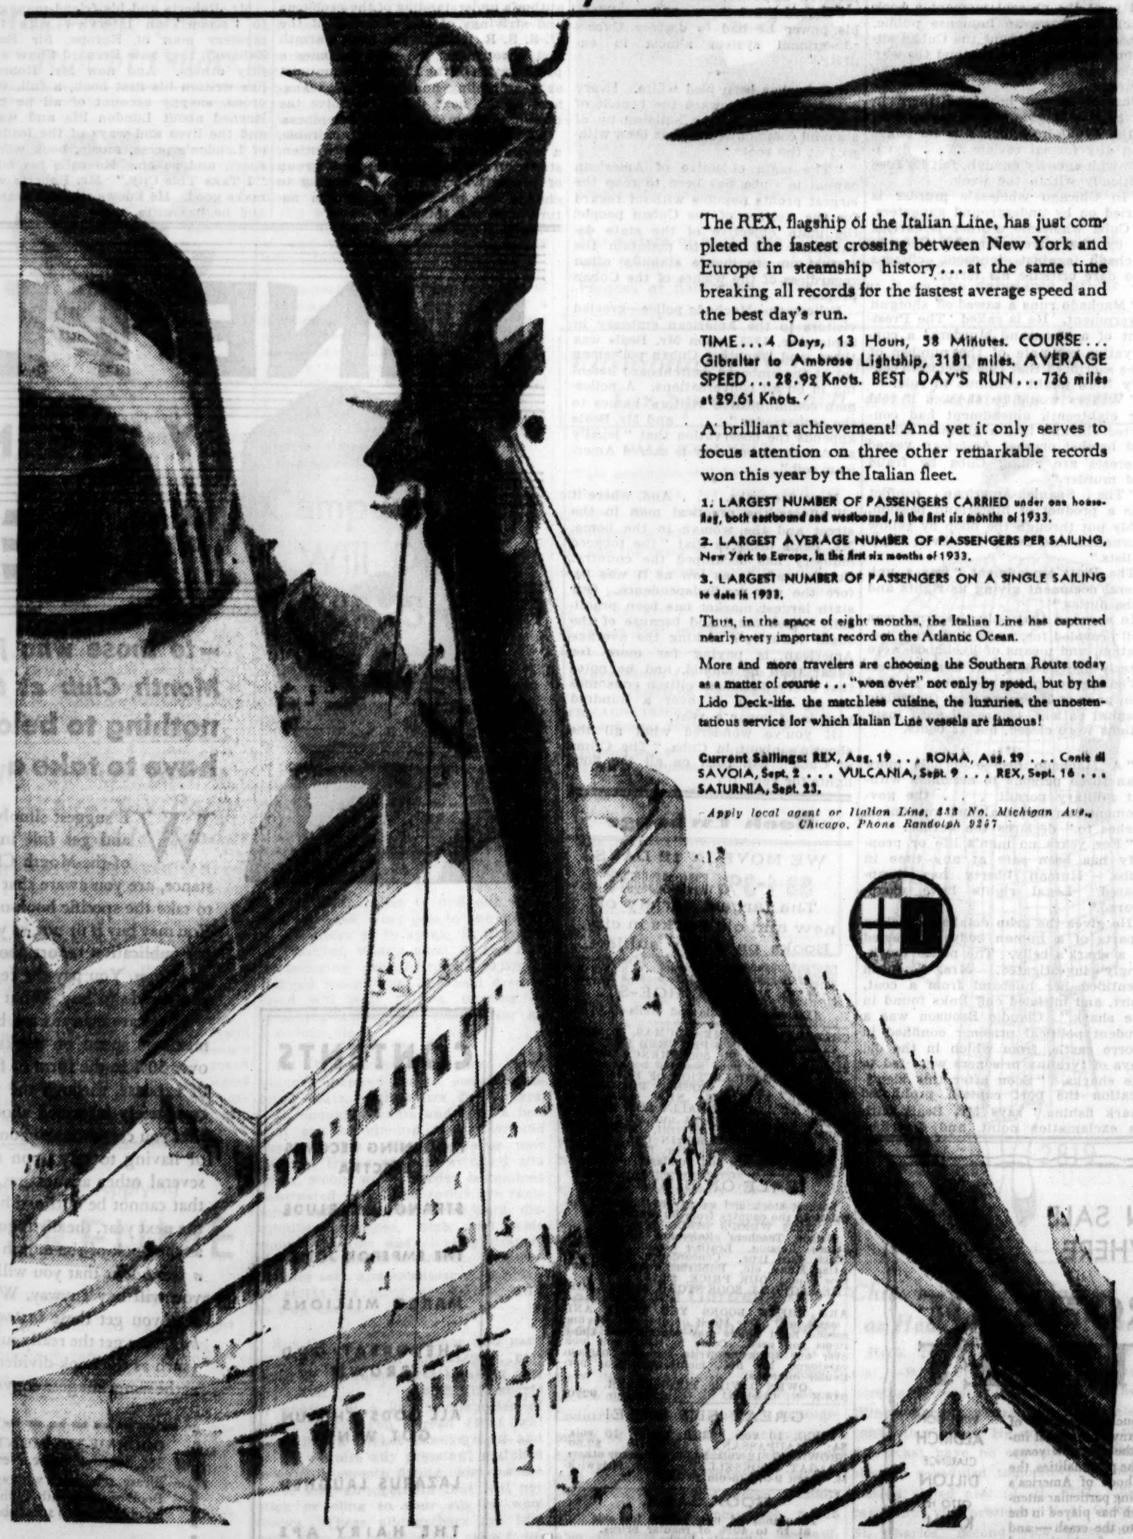
Reserve guards were called out and placed outside the walls. They were heavily armed to hold against a general break until the rioters were forced into cells at 9:30. Rioting started the second time after supper Thursday night when reserve guards were called out again. It took until 10:30 Thursday night to force convicts into cells.

Thirteen of the leaders in the rioting are said to be in solitary dungeons in the second basement under the cellhouse.

It is reported that many windows were broken and some of the bunks broken to get slats to fight the guards. All was reported quiet at the penitentiary today. Officials would not give out any statement about the trouble.

Albert Singer, acting deputy warden, is said to have been active in forcing the rioters into their cells.

The REX CAPTURES THE BLUE RIBBON of the ATLANTIC



The REX, flagship of the Italian Line, has just completed the fastest crossing between New York and Europe in steamship history... at the same time breaking all records for the fastest average speed and the best day's run.

TIME... 4 Days, 13 Hours, 58 Minutes. COURSE... Gibraltar to Ambrose Lightship, 3181 miles. AVERAGE SPEED... 28.92 Knots. BEST DAY'S RUN... 736 miles at 29.61 Knots.

A brilliant achievement! And yet it only serves to focus attention on three other remarkable records won this year by the Italian fleet.

1. LARGEST NUMBER OF PASSENGERS CARRIED under one house-flag, both eastbound and westbound, in the first six months of 1933.

2. LARGEST AVERAGE NUMBER OF PASSENGERS PER SAILING, New York to Europe, in the first six months of 1933.

3. LARGEST NUMBER OF PASSENGERS ON A SINGLE SAILING to date in 1933.

Thus, in the space of eight months, the Italian Line has captured nearly every important record on the Atlantic Ocean.

More and more travelers are choosing the Southern Route today as a matter of course... "won over" not only by speed, but by the Lido Deck-life, the matchless cuisine, the luxuries, the unostentatious service for which Italian Line vessels are famous!

MACHADO RICHES SEIZED BY CUBA; WORTH MILLIONS

New Regime Confiscates Property of Foes.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 18.—Confiscation of the properties of former President Machado and other fleeing members of his government, who are charged with having looted Cuba's treasury, is one of the first policies to be inaugurated by the new government of President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes.

Announcement of the confiscation tonight followed declarations of the following items as part of the new deal for Cuba:

1. Overtures for a new reciprocity treaty with the United States, with the Cuban sugar industry as its core. Cuba seeks a reduction or elimination of the 2 cent American duty on Cuban sugar as the chief item of the treaty. The Cubans hope to increase the Cuban sugar market in the United States to 2,000,000 tons.

Seek American Loan.

2. Reduction of other tariffs to stimulate trade between the two republics, which is now impaired by retaliatory tariffs imposed by Cuba.

3. A United States commission of financial and economic experts to study island finances and conditions.

4. Negotiations for an American emergency loan to tide over the payment of back salaries, wages, bills for supplies and aid in the national recovery.

5. Calling off of the taxpayers' strike, instituted three years ago by the National Businessmen's association to apply pressure in the fight to oust Machado.

The properties of cabinet and congress members confiscated under the new order are to be converted into infirmaries, hospitals, clinics, and possibly government offices. Rural properties may be divided into small parcels and distributed among farmers, who are to be given an opportunity to acquire them on long time payments.

Machado Loses Millions.

Among the properties marked for confiscation are said to be Machado's two farms, Villa Nenita, 16 miles south of Havana, valued at $500,000, and Finca Juana, valued at $1,500,000; Machado's residence in Havana, valued at $500,000; his sugar mill at Carmita, in Santa Clara province, valued at $5,000,000, and his 26,000 acre farm at Ventas de Casanovas, in Oriente province.

Others whose properties are listed for confiscation include:

Senator Celso Cuellar del Rio, former president of the Popular party; Senator Wilfredo Fernandez; Alberto Barreras, president of the senate; Rafael Guas Inclan, speaker of the house; Senator Lorenzo Fernandez Hermo; Representative Aquilino Lombard, who two days before Machado fled introduced a resolution branding American mediation "Yankee imperialism"; Gen. Alberto Herrera, secretary of war and navy; Senator Viriato Gutierrez, former president of the Cuban Sugar Institute and chairman of the National Sugar Exporting corporation; Octavio Zubizarreta, secretary of interior; Eugenio Molinet, secretary of agriculture; Jose Izquierdo, chief of the central district of Havana, and others who are now refugees in the United States or the Bahamas.

Avows Friendship for U. S.

President de Cespedes today emphasized the necessity for closer and friendlier relations between Cuba and the United States. He declared a revised reciprocity treaty would mean more trade and consequently greater prosperity for both nations.

"Cuba has a right to be rich because of the fertility of our soil and our proximity to the United States," he said. "Our relationship should be one of mutual profit."

De Cespedes said he contemplates no special elections before the regular elections of November, 1934.

Already the new De Cespedes government has been officially recognized by eight nations—the United States, Mexico, Chile, Spain, Uruguay, Venezuela, Colombia, and Portugal. This was announced by Acting Secretary of State Carlos Saladrigas.

Westbrook Pegler's article in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE concerning Machado and his press agent, Carl Byoir, who received a subsidy from the public treasury to create propaganda in favor of the Machado régime, although Cubans regarded Machado as a racketeering tyrant, was reprinted in the Havana American News today with loud applause from Editor John T. Wilford.

Reveals Byoir's Huge Salary.

In his column, going into detail, Wilford says Byoir was "the most highly remunerated of Machado's alien satellities, receiving from the Cuban treasury in 1931 approximately $150,000 for publicity favorable to Machado. That year he placed on display in the dining room of the Sevilla Biltmore hotel here newspapers clippings praising the Machado régime which, according to his count, measured more than a million inches, which he succeeded in grafting from American newspapers.

"Just what sum Mr. Byoir received in 1932 for his work as an accomplice in the murders which Machado's porra [secret police] committed, I have not heard, but the amount destined for him for the year ending June, 1933, was $55,000, and I understand he actually collected $15,000."

The strike of stevedores and dock wallopers which has paralyzed cargo activities in Havana harbor for two weeks was reported settled today. President de Cespedes and Joaquin Martinez Saenz, secretary of treasury, are given credit for ending the tieup. The men are expected back at work tomorrow.

Find Four Machado Victims.

HAVANA, Aug. 18. — (AP) — Eight soldiers, including a sergeant and a corporal, were arrested late today after members of the ABC secret society and army officers had found four bodies, with their skulls crushed, buried in Castillo de Atares fortress, where political prisoners were held during the régime of the deposed President Machado. The search for bodies was continuing in the fortress. The four victims were identified as opponents of the Machado régime. Two of them had been missing a year.

MRS. MACHADO'S HOTEL RECEIVES BOMBING THREAT

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—A threat to bomb the Pennsylvania hotel unless the refugee family of former President Machado of Cuba is deprived of its haven there has been received over the telephone by Daniel J. Crawford Jr., the hotel manager.

Despite efforts to keep the incident a secret, it became known this evening that early last night an unidentified person telephoned the hotel and asked for Crawford.

"If you don't get rid of the Machado family at once your damned hotel will be bombed to bits," the manager was informed.

CAROLE LOMBARD GRANTED DIVORCE IN SIX MINUTES

Powell, the actress said, was "a very emotional man, cruel and cross in manner of language," and had repeatedly displayed his temper almost from the day of their marriage in Los Angeles twenty-six months ago. He did not contest the suit.

Hearing of the case required only six minutes, and in as many minutes more Miss Lombard was well on her way to Reno, from where she planned to fly to Hollywood.

Arrow on map indicates where 25,000 French soldiers are closing in on the last stronghold of the rebel Berber tribesmen. The tribesmen are making a desperate last stand and heavy losses are reported on both sides.

U. S. TO SEND A NEW AMBASSADOR TO CUBA; ALSO A TRADE MISSION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Highly successful in efforts toward setting up a new régime in Cuba, Ambassador Sumner Welles will be recalled from his Havana post shortly to resume his position of assistant secretary of state in charge of all Latin American affairs. Jefferson Caffery, now assistant secretary of state, will be named the new ambassador to Cuba.

This was stated authoritatively today after high diplomatic officials, in a telephone conference with Welles in Havana, arranged to send American economic and financial experts to Cuba to hasten economic rehabilitation of the republic. American investments in Cuba total more than a billion and a half dollars.

The United States destroyer Taylor, the only American warship remaining at Havana, was ordered today to leave that harbor.

Both Welles and Caffery are career diplomats. Both have had long experience in Latin American countries and their teamwork in handling the Cuban crisis won them high acclaim from their associates in the state department. Caffery was in almost constant communication with Welles by telephone. Caffery was American minister to Colombia before he came to Washington last spring to assist in handling Latin American matters. He is 47 and a bachelor.

25,000 FRENCH SOLDIERS TRAP MOROCCO REBELS

Fierce Battles Raging in African Mountains.

RABAT, Morocco, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Sniped at continually by desperate Berber tribesmen, 25,000 French native troops and foreign legionnaires methodically mopped up today around Djebel Badou, last stronghold of the wild Berbers.

Heavy fighting, with severe losses on both sides, was reported in latest dispatches as the French, determined to clean up the Atlas region before winter, pressed on against the Berber dissidents.

Djebel Badou was surrounded and the surrender of the last rebels there was expected shortly. Meanwhile the mountain peak Koucher was slipping from the rebels' grip. The noted Cherif Moulay Absselmen, a dissident against French rule since 1912, surrendered with his followers.

250 Frenchmen Slain.

Although only the cornered remnants of six die hard tribes were still fighting, recent battles have been the severest in France's 25 year campaign to pacify Morocco. About 250 French troops were reported killed in the last week.

Four converging columns of French troops from Marrakech, Tadla, Meknes, and eastern Morocco encircled the last of the dissidents on the slopes and in the ravines of the high Atlas chain, 175 miles southeast of Rabat.

Foreign legionnaires, infantrymen, cavalry, artillery and native riflemen toiled up torturous trails under the terrific sun by day and the bitter cold of night. The famous French 75 guns were laboriously hauled up for combat, while airplanes reconnoitered overhead.

Massacre Fellow Tribesmen.

As the rebels were slowly caught between the French lines, advancing at times over a front 30 miles long, audacious raiding parties were sent back to harass the French and even to pillage the conquered camps of fellow tribesmen.

A dozen or twenty hooded Berbers, headed by a chieftain chosen for his luck and daring, rode all night, rifles in hand, leather pouches containing cartridges and dried figs at their side, covering 25 or 30 miles through the high valleys that cut the difficult terrain.

At dawn they reached the place of ambush. Deployed in the rocky crags, they fired on the advancing column of soldiers struggling up the laborious paths. Then, slipping past sentries, they descended on the pacified tribes, killed the men, razed the villages, stole the flocks, and regained the mountain fastnesses. The pursuing troops could not capture the light traveling Berbers.

Spain Moves Troops.

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Spanish army transport Admiral Lobo arrived here today carrying several squads of Moorish cavalrymen and camels from Cape Juby, Spanish Africa. Unconfirmed reports said the movement was a precautionary measure in event the Berber rebellion in French Morocco spreads.

Officers and crew of the transports refused to give any information regarding their mission. The gunboat Canalejas previously arrived here with troops and war materials.

SPANISH OCEAN PLANE REPORTED FOUND IN CUBA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba., Aug. 18.—The department of communications announced tonight that it had received a telegram from the chief of the telegraph office in Pinar del Rio city advising that the remains of the airplane Cuatro Vientos [four winds], used by the ill fated Spanish trans-Atlantic aviators, Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar, had been found by Cuban fishermen on the coast of Pinar del Rio province near Cabo Corrientes. The plane vanished after taking off from Havana for Mexico City on June 20, en route to Chicago.

The announcement said that among the parts of wreckage found were a fragment of the cabin, two electric light bulbs, both landing wheels and a skull.

Two days ago soldiers arrested Jose Santana, member of la porra, former President Machado's secret police, and private chauffeur for Machado. Santana said he could lead officials to the graves of Barberan and Collar in Pinar del Rio province if the new government would spare his life. The whereabouts of Santana is now unknown. One report said he had been killed.

Beals Charges Machado Ruled with Murder

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Crime of Cuba," by Carleton Beals. [Lippincott.]

BEFORE the powder in the insurrectionists' guns has ceased to fill the air, before the fleeing Machado has more than touched foot in his island of exile, Carleton Beals' "The Crime of Cuba," as thorough an indictment of a man and a régime as has ever been written, is off the press. What Mr. Beals pleads for as vital in perfervid words has come to pass.

CARLETON BEALS.

Fired as few aliens ever are by the political diseases of another country, Carleton Beals has written in "The Crime of Cuba" not only a vivid history of Cuba economically and socially but a frank, accusatory demand of the American people to realize that the Cuba of today, which to most of them is merely a pleasure spot, is more of a pestilence and a menace than was the Cuba which threw a whole nation into war in 1898. The people of that Cuba, he says, were starved and had no political rights, but they were not starved and murdered also.

"What right have we to insist that Japan observe her treaty obligations in Manchuria when we have mutilated the Platt amendment treaty?" he demands. "What right have we got to get exercised about Hitler when we helped to maintain in Cuba, a protectorate at our very doorstep, a government which has committed far greater crimes than those which have occurred in Germany?"

And in a volume of 400 pages he goes into minute detail as to those crimes and the manner of the mulcting of Cuba. He names names. He accuses, with details. "The Crime of Cuba" is one of the most outspoken books that even this day of open speaking and writing has brought forth.

It is at the present moment a book which will have an immense public, at best befuddled about the Cuban situation, seeking to understand the why of the past and the possibilities of the future.

Phrases chosen here and there in the book will give you a better idea of the dynamite which fills its pages than any formal review . . . dynamite which, oddly enough, felt its fuse politically within the week.

"In Chicago wholesale murder is carried on by underground gangsters. In Cuba wholesale murder is carried on by the government of Gerardo Machado against innocent citizens who dare criticize his terror.

"Machado runs a sawed-off shotgun government. He is called 'The President of a Thousand Murders,' a conservative estimate of the number of lives sacrificed that this twentieth century Nero might continue to rule.

"Visitors would be shocked if told our eighteenth amendment had converted Havana into a gigantic saloon and brothel or that American vested interests are ruling Cuba by fraud and murder."

"The Spanish-American conflict was a product of hinterland passion, nobly put through the hoop by yellow journalism and Teddy Roosevelt imperialists."

The Platt amendment "was a unilateral document giving us rights and Cuba duties."

In showing that only the army was well provided for, while sanitation, education, and means of livelihood were utterly disregarded, Mr. Beals writes: "The army mule receives a food allowance of 38 cents a day; the public hospital patient, before all such institutions were closed, but 12 cents.

"A Machado decree forbids more than three persons to assemble without military permit . . . the government can arrest almost any one it wishes to," declares the author.

"For years no man's life or property has been safe at any time in Cuba. Human liberty has disappeared. Legal rights have disappeared."

He gives the grim details of finding "parts of a human body undigested in a shark's belly. The police unwittingly investigated. Mrs. Brouzon identified her husband from a coat, shirt, and initialed cuff links found in the shark." Claudio Brouzon was a student political prisoner confined in Morro castle, from which in the old days of tyranny prisoners were fed to the sharks. "Soon after this identification the port captain prohibited shark fishing," says Mr. Beals with an exclamation point, and describes the finding of another student's body, "half eaten by fishes, still weighted with prison chains."

"Some of the most distinguished patriots of Cuba's independence days have been murdered," he says, and goes into detail, as he also does about the suppression not only of native newspapers but of the confiscation of "American newspapers and magazines containing any news of the government's terrorism," and names the papers, among them the New York Times, the New York Herald-Tribune, the New Republic, and Collier's.

"Cuba has been bled white. Every activity looking toward the benefit of the Cuban people, the building up of a sound commonwealth, has been withered at the roots."

"The main objective of American capital in Cuba has been to reap the largest profits possible without regard for the welfare of the Cuban people; the main objective of the state department has been to maintain the status quo, to insure stability often regardless of the wishes of the Cuban people."

Policemen—Machado police—greeted visitors to the American embassy in September, 1932, when Mr. Beals was there, and "another Cuban policeman sat at the embassy switchboard listening in on all conversations. A policeman communicated visitors' names to the ambassador" . . . and Mr. Beals appends the observation that "legally an American embassy is sacred American soil."

More fireworks. . . . And, where it all affects the practical man in the street and the woman in the home, Mr. Beals declares that "the tobacco industry has decamped the country. Cuba's trade is as low as it was before the war for independence. Our sixth largest market has been practically wiped out," and because of the sugar industry's sinking the average American is paying far more for sugar than he should, and he notes that every American citizen consumes on an average of over a hundred pounds of sugar a year.

If you've wondered what all the shootin's about in Cuba "The Crime of Cuba" will turn on all the flood lights for you.

"Three Lives," Work by Gertrude Stein, to Be Issued Again

It is welcome news that the Modern Library will publish in September Gertrude Stein's "Three Lives." For years it has been out of print, and with the publication of "The Autobiography of Alice Toklas," by Gertrude Stein, promised Sept. 1, "Three Lives" simply cries to be read. There is to be an introduction for the Modern Library edition by Bernard Fay, author of "Benjamin Franklin," etc. M. Fay is the youngest member of the College de France and a close friend of Miss Stein's.

You remember that there were supposed to be twelve—only that number—humans in the world who understood the Einstein theory. However many there are who understand Gertrude Stein, M. Fay stands, next to Gertrude Stein herself, as chief understander, and his introduction thoroughly elucidates, for the first time in any language, the full wonders of her work.

BRIEF REVIEWS

The talented wife of Lincoln Steffens, Ella Winter, visited Russia two successive years, once with a group of specialists and the next time with the express intention of learning the language, staying with native families and studying their moral, ethical, and family life. The result is "Red Virtue" [Harcourt Brace, whose title is neither apt nor expressive.

ELLA WINTER.

Ella Winter is not entirely impartial, but her tendency to partiality takes the form of sympathy rather than propaganda. She shows the Russian's failures as well as his successes, the unfulfilled ambitions as well as the realization of hopes. The author's understanding of the problems and strivings of the members of the U. S. S. R. lends to the book warmth and penetration; the book becomes a presentation of the Russian communist as a stumbling human being as anxious as the next person to solve the urgent problem of human happiness.

Ella Winter has done an admirable, a competently planned and written, study of the ideals of a small group of people who are actually trying to change the processes of human nature—and who think they have.

Issue Sequel to 'Victorians' Next Month

Contains Biographies of Noted Englishmen.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

ONE of the outstanding non-fiction books of last year was the collection of essays on "Great Victorians" edited by H. J. Massingham. It was reported as a best-seller in all parts of England, and although much criticized [as any such composite book was bound to be], it was widely read and enjoyed.

A sequel was promised, and the sequel is to be published in September, under the title "The Post Victorians." The range of this book is very wide, and essays will deal with men and women as different as Lord Oxford, Mrs. Pankhurst [the Women's Suffrage leader], Miss Gertrude Bell, Sir Thomas Lipton, Lytton Strachey, Lord Northcliffe, Miss Marie Lloyd [the great music hall artist], and Scott of the Antarctic. The contributors are at least equal to those who made the earlier book excellent, some of them being the same, and others chosen with the utmost appropriateness. I think this book should repeat the success of its predecessor.

A first novel with unusual qualities is attracting attention just now. It is called "We are Spoiled," and is the work of Miss Phyllis Paul. It is about a number of odd modern children who grow up without discipline and who lead uncomfortable lives to the end. If the book were merely a bare recital of these lives it might seem to belong to a recognizable genre; but the episodes are given with a coolly passionate detachment which makes them enchantingly original. The characters are all young, all subtly understood; and while the book as a whole is less excellent than its parts [it straggles to a conventional conclusion] it is at times irresistibly beautiful. It is not for lovers of the commonplace, and not for lovers of affectation; but should be read by those who care to discover new talent.

John Glyn Roberts is a young Welshman—he is still in his very early twenties—who has determined to storm the London journalistic and literary world. He had a safe job in the English Civil Service, but he made up his mind that he wanted to be a newspaper man and author, and he threw up his job. In company with a friend who shares his ambitions, he settled in Bloomsbury and began to bombard editors and famous men. The editors were at first hard; the famous men were kinder; and the editors also began to soften.

Mr. Roberts and his friend managed to "scoop" an interview with the mystery man of Europe, Sir Basil Zaharoff; they saw Bernard Shaw and fifty others. And now Mr. Roberts has written his first book, a full, vigorous, snappy account of all he has learned about London life and ways and the lives and ways of the leaders of London's press, music, book world, sport, and so on. He calls his book "I Take This City." Mr. Roberts will make good. He knows what he wants, and he has gifts.

CREDITS POPULARITY OF MYSTERY TALES TO ABSENCE OF SEX

William Lyon Phelps is reported to have said that the popular interest in detective and mystery stories is attributable to the fact that there is in them an absence of "the sex stuff." He goes on to say that this fad reveals a growth of intelligent appreciation on the part of the American reading public.

Cornelia Penfield, author of "After the Deacon Was Murdered" [Putnam], elaborates the point to the extent of saying that "there are readers who are a little weary of the facts of life and prefer good clean murder. I do, for instance. There are so many ways of committing a murder and only one way to have a baby. This makes for variety in the murder tale which is beginning to be appreciated by the reading public as never before."

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

AIDAN ROARK, of the West polo team, stood by at the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest while an X-ray was taken of Cecil Smith's head, a precaution after the accident during Sunday's game when Smith's horse fell and rolled on him. When the X-ray expert reappeared Roark asked if the pictures were finished, and upon being told they were, inquired anxiously:

"Any signs of brains in the photograph?"

Query—Race—Announcement—Chains—Broadcast—Author.

GOSSIP in Cliff Dweller and Tavern club circles is to the effect that a spectacular race between the schooner Bluenose, international champion fishing schooner, and the Gertrude Thebaud, champion of the North Atlantic fishing fleet, is being considered, with Tavern club members aboard the Bluenose and Cliff Dweller troglodytes clinging to the Gertrude Thebaud's deck. The secret conviction of Tavern club members that the Cliff Dwellers are old fogies is the real point at issue, and the Cliff Dwellers hope to prove, by the Gertrude Thebaud's coming in ahead of her competitor, that the club is at least a chin whisker's length ahead of the Tavern, both in brains and sporting blood.

* *

AS you probably know, there was some feeling when 100 Cliff Dwellers got together four or five years ago, put in $25 apiece and began to talk about organizing another club. Even after the Tavern club was founded and housed in its handsome moderne quarters at 333 North Michigan, a leading Cliff Dweller used to inquire sarcastically, upon meeting one of the brethren who had helped organize the Tavern club:

"Well, how are the sots getting along?"

A HORSEMAN comes riding with the tidings that Sidney Holzman, personal secretary of Judge Jarecki for many years and red-haired owner of a D. S. C., has sent out announcements of the birth of a daughter, Edith Cavell, the card embossed with the blue eagle of the NRA above the slogan, "We Do Our Part."

* *

PROGRESS note. A fellow back from a visit to Joliet says that the solitary confinement cell block is being torn down. It is inclosed by a double wall. When wreckers broke through they found 50 leg irons and arm manacles with the links on the chain as large as a man's wrist, each iron and manacle fastened to a 60 pound ball. The prison was built in 1858 and officials of the penitentiary believe the balls and chains were thrown in when the double wall was built. . . . As you probably know, walls and guards are considered sufficient now, and the balls and chains are practically museum pieces to prison authorities.

THEN there is the true story of the Chicago woman in the doctor's reception room. She sat for some minutes listening to the surgeon on the other side of the door talking to a patient. Then gathering up her purse and gloves, she started toward the door. Asked by the doctor's secretary why she was leaving she replied:

"When I want details of my operation broadcast I'll have Bob Elson do it, inning by inning."

MRS. BEN HECHT, wife of the author and playwright—maybe you remember her as Rose Caylor, author of "The Woman on the Balcony"—has been in town visiting relatives. She reports that Ben is flying over the Andes, although she doesn't know exactly why. Possibly Mr. Hecht got to brooding over his friend and co-author, Charlie MacArthur, now also a neighbor at Nyack, N. Y., and his frequent and impulsive trips to Europe. Maybe he just wanted to be rolling down to Rio. Anyhow, he caught a boat to Rio de Janeiro, then took a plane to Buenos Aires. He was shortly to fly to Lima. Or don't you care?

BY ANNA NANGLE.

You certainly get your money's worth at the Chicago theater this week!

"Three Cornered Moon" is the feature film and it's quite a neat little number, too. It's all about Mrs. Rimplegar and the four little Rimplegars and what the depression does to and for them. Personally, I thought it was Mary Boland's picture, but there isn't much fault to be found with any one in the cast.

Mrs. Rimplegar is one of those sweet, simple-minded women who just doesn't know what it's all about. Papa died and left plenty of money, but in order to surprise the children, she bought a gob of Three Cornered Moon stock, which she promptly forgot about until it was time to "cover up" the margin, and her bank balance was $1.65.

Her children are a typically well provided for, aimless, spoiled group. Elizabeth, as played by Claudette Colbert, is very deliberately devoting herself to protecting and loving a half-baked young man who thinks he's a writer and is unable to do anything at a practical because of his art. Wallace Ford portrays Kenneth, a fairly sensible lad in the clutches of a frivolous blonde; William Bakewell emotes all over the Rimplegar house as Douglas, who intends to be God's gift to the theater; and Tom Brown is all he needs to be as Ed, the youngest in the family, not quite out of college. Most of the family horseplay is quite well done and pretty funny.

Hardie Albright is excellent as the would-be author and Richard Arlen gives his usual easy, natural performance as the sensible physician who steers the family off the rocks and finally slaps some sense into Elizabeth.

It's a pleasant little comedy that really has a number of chuckles in it, and to which you can take the whole family.

The rest of the bargain consists of the stage show, which is certainly a huge one. I might add in passing that at the performance I attended, at least, Cab Calloway, the boy who throws back his head and does his "scat-singing" with the volume and joy of an exuberant savage, got a much bigger hand than that young lady who's been gracing the stage for several weeks.

(Mama, is that a lady?)

Campus Togs Will Delight the Student

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Campus clothes collectors are having a grand time. . . . every shop in town is showing irresistible arrays of suitable clothes, officially O. K-ed by those that know. You can buy coats, dresses, or strictly campus togs that seldom leave the college and all the necessary extras for a successful week-end including jewelry, perfume and 'kerchief.

Now is the time to find out what you will need, what gets by the dormitory censors so to speak, in the way of luxuries, what's what in the way of lounging paraphernalia, pajamas, tailored robes, what the well dressed co-ed will wear to tea, dancing or streaking across the campus for an 8 o'clock class.

All the clothes designers have planned inspired things, swagger tailored coats, with warm fur collars, with enough pockets and with a belt that can be cinched tightly around the waistline. The intriguing new daytime frocks of new wrinkled silk crepe, wooly wools, corded bengalines contrasted with sleek satins are fashioned with definitely new and distinctive necklines, high and wide shoulder seams and cleverly draped, tucked, or puckered sleeves. Swanky sweater sets, and swankier plaid pleated skirts are other articles designed to stop traffic.

But the smoothest things you pack will be the newest underlayers, particularly the rather breath taking new knit stuff. . . . skin fitting shorts or panties of a knit combination of lastex and rayon thread [that will wash like a pocket handkerchief and do not require any pressing] matched to equally smooth fitting skirts or the tricot knit all-togethers that will not stick or cling to your silk or wool frocks. These all-togethers are just what they are called, a one piece foundation that obligingly takes the place of three other necessary pieces you wore formerly. Quantities of this easy to launder stuff are available in good looking, trim tailored models for college wear, of those that stay at home.

Expect Brilliant Throng at Onwentsia Field.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TOMORROW afternoon for the third time in eight days Onwentsia's well manicured polo field with a sylvan landscape for backdrop will be the center of American polo interest. At 4:30 o'clock the effete east and the self-made west will clash for national supremacy in the galloping game. For another mid-summer week-end society will be talking in the sporting vernacular.

Although polo has been written and rewritten during the last several weeks, it merits first place again this morning for tomorrow's game is to be, without doubt [we have our sporting authorities to back us], one of the greatest contests in the history of the sport. Further proof of this fact came yesterday with the arrival of the well known Eric Pedley to take the place of "Rube" Williams on the western team. Mr. Williams suffered a broken leg in the second match of the three game series Wednesday afternoon.

And so it goes without saying that the polo field will again be the magnet for a brilliant throng just as country houses will be the center of interest as far as luncheon and late supper parties are concerned.

Maj. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin who have "engineered" the tournament in as delightfully smooth a manner as any one could, are to be host and hostess at luncheon before the match for their very good friends, the Carleton F. Burkes. Mr. Burke is manager of the western team.

Mrs. Howard Linn Will Give Party.

Mrs. Howard Linn, whose week-end calendar would be incomplete without a houseful of interesting out-of-town guests and a party, is entertaining at Sunday luncheon for Mrs. Harold E. Talbott Jr. of New York. One of the nicest small luncheon parties will be that of the Colin Campbells, who took a house in Lake Forest last spring.

Providing Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor returns to her Lake Forest home early enough tomorrow she will be having a dozen or more friends either for luncheon or supper for her good friend, Mrs. Higginson Rogers. Mrs. Rogers, who is here for a flying visit (she leaves very shortly to return to Paris) is going out to the country to be the guest of Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor for the first few days of next week.

"It is so hard to get these polo players organized," complained Mrs. Prentice Porter yesterday when she was trying to arrange an impromptu beer party for the visitors. Nevertheless she managed the organization beautifully and several dozen friends

Algonquin to Hold Visitors' Day Tomorrow

Children to Show Gains in Health.

Visitors will be welcome at Camp Algonquin tomorrow afternoon. Already the youngsters in the all summer section are making preparations for the annual event in which the spotlight is directed upon their attainments, which includ not only their handiwork but also their gains in health.

Contributors to THE TRIBUNE'S Camp Algonquin fund will be repaid if they find the time to motor to the camp. They will see what wonders their contributions have wrought—bright eyed children, glowing with health, who came to the camp on July 1 pale and undernourished.

And eagerly the youngsters will point to their health gains, for a chart has been kept by the attending dietitian and nurse. Then they will turn to the screened room where the objects they have made with their own hands will be on exhibit, and it will be one of the proudest days in their young lives.

"Mother will be so surprised when she sees what I have made for her," one little girl confided to her counselor yesterday. "She doesn't even know I can embroider."

"As soon as I get home I'm going to nail this broom holder in a handy place for mother," volunteered another, while a third was singing the praises of a footstool that would serve not only father and mother, but also his little brother, "to stand on when he washes his face."

Because it is their very own day the youngsters will present at 4 p. m. a half hour program of dances, readings, and a play. The mothers and children in the upper camp who come for two week vacations will join in the celebration, as will the counselors and Mrs. Astrid Save, camp superintendent. The camp is 45 miles northwest of Chicago, near the town of Algonquin.

The proceeds of a show, totaling $4.50, were turned over to the Algonquin and Free Ice funds yesterday by three girls. The show was given in the Narragansett building, at 1640 East 50th street, by Jeanne Cohen, Phyllis Thompson, and Georgianna Roush, assisted by other children in the building. L. A. K. send $5 each for the camp and ice fund. The grand total of the Algonquin fund is now $1,772.62, while the Free Ice fund's total is $1,639.01.

Contributions to both funds should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. Although the summer is more than half over, these funds will continue for another month. Gifts are needed now more than ever.

Bright Flowers Make New Quilt Riot of Colors

Nasturtiums.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This "nasturtium" block gives quilt makers a rare opportunity to let their love of color run riot. All of the yellows, from pale pastel tints to dazzling gold, and the rich reds, will help to make it a most attractive quilt and a most realistic one. The leaves, of course, should be green. Then to enhance them all let them nod from a bowl of a cobalt blue.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Sally Selects Guests for White Sox Party to See Double Header

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If I had my way, there'd be about 500 names in tomorrow's list of lucky boys and girls who will accompany me to Comiskey park next Thursday to see two swell games between the Chicago White Sox and Boston. There were so many, many good letters this week that I'm sincerely sorry that I can't invite more than 100 children.

However, the fortunate fifties will find their names printed in tomorrow's TRIBUNE, and invitations will reach them early next week. If your name is listed on your invitation doesn't arrive by Tuesday at the latest, please notify me.

Miss Jean Stevens and Winston Guest Set New Gum Mode

Miss Jean Stevens has been chosen as best among all the screen tests made at A Century of Progress Hollywood during the week. She was having tea at the Malibu Beach club when inveigled into posing for the camera by some of her friends. Perhaps Miss Stevens will start a new rage for gum chewing, for although a good many of the easterners here for the polo matches sit in the stands and chew, it remained for the attractive Miss Stevens and her handsome dancing partner, Winston Guest, to indulge in gum while dancing at Onwentsia.

BLOOD MONEY

SYNOPSIS.

Uncas Cresap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cresap's boathouse on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long Island. Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cresap's step-brother, keeps a written private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp edged implement killed Cresap. The cause of the Chinaman's death is not apparent. Capt. Bray, a special investigator, and an old friend of Redd's, helps the men from the district attorney's office in solving the crime. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dane, Cresap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Florence's mother. He bought a home near Cresap's in order to protect Florence. Cresap made his fortune in the far east. Redd freely admits to Bray his hatred of Cresap, who was a drunkard and a débauché. The Chinaman and a dwarf, Sabino, are the most important of the servants, and there seemed to be some secret bond between them and their employer. Bray calls the members of the household together for questioning.

INSTALLMENT XII.

ALIBI PROBING.

There were no reporters present. Durkee stood at the door to bar them out did any come. But none came until after the drop was down on the end of the act.

The assistant district attorney dedicated the proceedings. Standing with his chest expanded and his arms folded firmly across it, he made oration:

"My friends, none of you good people are to misinterpret our motives in summoning you here. At present there is in our minds no presumption of complicity in this dreadful crime against any one whatsoever. We are assuming that each and every one here is entirely guiltless. We further more assume that each of you is willing and anxious to reveal any information in your possession which might have a possible bearing upon the principal issue. In pursuance of our duties, it devolves upon us to inquire into every circumstance which conceivably might relate to the said issue, and we are relying upon one and all for such assistance as it may lie within your powers to bestow, merely urging you in advance to withhold nothing, to extenuate or excuse nothing, and, above all, to overstress nothing."

And with that he sat down, imparting to the process of sitting down a sort if ritualistic flourish.

By contrast, there was nothing high-churchy about Bray's opening tactics. Getting under way, he outwardly was the personification of plodding and heavy hoofed mediocrity. By reason of prior acquaintance with these plausibly deceiving tactics of his, it is possible I alone sensed that it was because of no honest oversight but through some privy purpose of his own—though what the purpose might be there was as yet no fathoming—that he failed altogether to grill Sabino along with the remainder of us.

"According to the best judgment of the doctors," he explained, "the autopsy's going to show Mr. Cresap was killed probably not later than 11:30 o'clock last night and not earlier than 10:30. So I'm going to ask you, kindly can you tell me where you were between those hours?"

"Please, gentlemen," begged Olsen, "don't bother Greta no more."

"I kin," stated Verity. "To home, in bed; that's purcisely where, and, what's more, a-layin' awake sufferin' from a right brisk tech of my lumbago."

"I'm taking your word for it. But if you should happen to be called on to prove it, is there a witness?"

"Who?"

"My present wife, Mrs. Sophie Verity, she bein't my third. Had to bury the fust two."

"And where was this present wife?"

"How far is it from here to where you live?"

"Up'ards of two mile."

"When was the last time you saw Mr. Cresap and him living?"

"Last evenin' 'bout 6 o'clock. Mebbe 'twuz late ez six-ten."

"Where?'

"In the boathouse settin' in his chair. I wuz makin' my last rounds to see to it everythin' wuz shipshape fur the night, above decks and below. Ez I swung abaft of the boathouse, kind of quarterin' acrost her stern, I seen the cabin lights wuz burnin'. So I went aloft and there he wuz."

"What was he doing?"

"Same ez I just told you—settin'. Had some loose papers—a whole packet of 'em looked like, layin' there spread out on his desk. Mebbe he'd been——"

"Never mind that," Bray checked him. "Was he by himself?"

"Wuz till I come up the companionway."

"I sh'd say not more'n common fur him when he wuz drinkin'."

"What did you say to him, if anything?"

"Told him I wuz standin' by in case he wanted anything before I went off watch."

"What did he say to that?"

"Sez fur me to go to hell. So accordin'ly I pushed off fur home."

Under cover of his hand Bray winked at me and nudged Motley in the ribs.

"Much obliged," he said. "But stick around, will you, after we get through here? There may be a certain private matter I'll want to bring up—again?"

At that I saw how the venerable ex-seafarer winced and how a ruddy flush spread under his weathered skin.

Next Bray took the maedchen Greta in hand, and Greta, looking badly confused, answered his opening query by saying that between 10 and 12 she was constantly in her room above the kitchen.

"How do you fix the time? Awake, were you?"

"What were you doing—reading?—sewing?"

"No."

"Well, what were you doing to keep yourself awake?"

"Please—please, I rather not tell."

"You'll tell unless you aim to get yourself in a jam," purred Bray. "Anybody here—Mr. Redd even—is subject to be called on to tell where they were while this here murder was being perpetrated."

The hapless wench gulped and began to sniffle. "There was a friend what called on me," she owned.

"And this here friend was with you in your room all that time?"

"Yes-s," in a strangled whisper.

"How did this here friend get up to your room?"

"Back stairs."

"And went away the same way?"

"Yes." She was sobbing now—deep sobs.

"And this here friend of yours—where is he?"

"I—I don't"—she faltered miserably—"I didn't tell you already yet he is a 'he.'"

"Then I'm telling you. What's his name?"

"Oscar Olsen! That's his name and that's me." It was the young chauffeur taking the burden of blame on himself. His skin was scarlet, too, but he faced the veiled eyes of Bray and the openly derisive grin of Motley gamely enough.

"Please, gentlemen," begged Olsen, "don't bother Greta no more. I tell you the truth, nothing else. It's not so bad like what it sounds—like some would make it out." He glared defiantly at the cook, who immediately bridled, ready to sink the virgin in the virago. "We try to keep it quiet till now. Me and Greta—we are going get married. She is a good girl—I swear it. I am not dirty fellow. I got respect for Greta. All what we do last night is yest taik about getting married. Maybe we kiss, maybe hug a little—is that some harm?"

"Listen, son, I'm taking your word for it," stated Bray, "so don't you fret. You neither, sister. I hope the two of you get married and never regret it. . . . Well, let's be moving along."

Doris Blake Answers

Plead, Don't Dictate.

"Dear Miss Blake: I like a young lady who is crazy about these modern disgusting dances. Because of this I can only see her Sundays. How can I make her 'come down to earth?'

"FRANK."

Without being dictatorial, I'd plead with the girl to give up dance steps that are repulsive. Tell her she's too nice for that.

Loves a Beautiful Brunette.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a beautiful brunette who lives in the same neighborhood, goes to the same church, and who won't give me a tumble. I walk her home from church, but she's very cool toward me. Please advise.

"DISAPPOINTED."

If she lets you walk home with her, that's something, Disappointed. Better tip her off sweetly that those walks are heaven to you.

Eager to Renew Friendship.

"Dear Miss Blake: I used to like a boy and then tired of seeing too much of him. He still likes me, and I am longing to have him come to see me. What shall I do? PUZZLED."

Plan a small party on your own to which you can invite him. You might get up a small Sunday night supper or a bridge game.

BY MARY MEADE.

A pile more folks are hungering after knowledge this morning than will be able to find answers all in one day. But when the Saturday Question Clinic falls down in space it resorts to the mails, so the rest of the answers are already on their way and we're hoping you'll write us again!

First, to get a subject ironed out which seems to bother a lot of us, Miss B. E. writes: "Exactly how much cocoa is equivalent to one square of unsweetened chocolate?" As an answer I'll quote from one of our well known cocoa and chocolate companies. They say: "For the best results use the ingredient (chocolate or cocoa) called for in each recipe. If cocoa is substituted for chocolate one-third cup (about five level tablespoons) of cocoa should be used for every square of unsweetened chocolate. In cake or cooky mixtures add one-half tablespoon additional butter for every one-third cup of cocoa used."

Again from Miss E.: "My grandmother has always used for a plain cake one-half cup each of milk and water, two cups flour, one cup sugar, one-half cup butter, two eggs, two teaspoons baking powder. The results have been marvelous. How does the extra liquid affect the product?"

Your grandmother's recipe, Miss E., contains only slightly more liquid than usual. A good cook can often make a success of such a "border line" recipe, while a less experienced worker might turn it into a failure. Usually that recipe would call for two and two-thirds cups flour to be on the safe side. Too much liquid often causes tunnels, heavy streaks, or sogginess.

Next from Mrs. D. F. R.: "Is it possible to make a firm meat loaf from left-over roast lamb or beef?" Mrs. R. is referring, I believe, to the fact that fresh meat lends its own uncooked juices to help solidify the loaf and that often when we use left-over meat instead there is a tendency to crumble. But if you've had such troubles try the following and just watch it stand up:

BACON BEEF LOAF.

3 cups minced roast beef or lamb
1 small onion
2 sprigs parsley
½ cup sifted dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 eggs, well beaten
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup milk

Run the meat, onion, and parsley through the meat chopper. Add the remaining ingredients and blend well. Pack firmly into a baking pan lined with strips of bacon. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for forty-five minutes. Serves six.

Then how about hearts? Mrs. L. A. C. asks for the food value of beef or veal hearts and some recipes for their use. We're sending the recipes and the food value is this: A piece of heart 2x3x1 inch supplies the eater of it with 255 calories. The meat is solid, with relatively little proportion of juices, so is comparatively high in food value when compared with beefsteak.

From Mrs. K. R. comes the next query: "Why is it my dessert waffles are limp when I take them from the iron and get all the worse when I put berries or sliced fruit on them?"

Usually that limpness, Mrs. R., comes because we are using a rich waffle for the dessert variety—one with a high percentage of fat and some sugar or molasses. If the amount of sugar used is considerable the limpness will occur unless we bake them considerably longer than we would the average waffle. A slower heat for a somewhat longer period is the best rule for these richer waffles.

MINUTE MYSTERY

BY H. A. RIPLEY

CLASS DAY.

"Some afternoon we'll all go to the Morton Automobile school track and watch the fellows race their cars. After much coaxing on the part of my young friend, Herman Litwin, I went out there with him yesterday. On the way he tried to pull a fast one on me, which, incidentally, is my reason for telling you chaps about it. I want to see how quickly my class can answer the problem he gave me.

"Now, out at this school track, the requirement is that the junior members who race must drive a car they have rebuilt themselves. I don't believe any of those kids could get over 25 miles an hour out of the heterogeneous contraptions they drive."

The professor chuckled at the remembrance of the six he had seen and wondered how they had managed to make the two mile course without falling apart.

Herman was as proud of the car he had assembled out of junk as if it was a Rolls-Royce. The only thing on it that was new was the paint!

"But here is the question he asked me just before his race. He told me the circular track was a two mile course. He wanted to know if he made the first mile at the rate of 30 miles an hour at what rate must he travel the second mile in order to have an average of 60 miles per hour for the course.

"Quickly now. You can't have even one minute for this."

AT WHAT RATE WOULD LITWIN HAVE TO TRAVEL THE SECOND MILE IN ORDER TO AVERAGE 60 MILES AN HOUR FOR THE COURSE?

[See solution on page 23.]

as well as most of the players enjoyed a stein late in the afternoon.

Plan Parties for Davis Cup Teams.

The problem of Joseph M. Cudahy and Charles S. Garland yesterday afternoon was the selection of a woman's committee to fête the members of the Australian and American Davis cup teams who are to play a series of public tennis matches on the Onwentsia courts Sept. 12 and 13.

So many difficulties presented themselves, however, that they could not complete their work in one afternoon. They declared a vacation until Monday when they will make known their decision.

There is much excitement over the tennis matches for it will be the first time the Davis cup teams have played here since 1914. It is Charles S. Garland, chairman of Onwentsia's tennis committee and a former member of the American Davis cup team, who is mainly responsible for the "coup" in bringing them here.

In another three or four days Mr. Garland will go east to watch the Australians, all of whom he knows, play in the national championships at Forest Hills on Long Island. Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath, Adrian Quist and Dan Turnbull are the members.

The American team is composed of Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison, Chicago's own George Lott Jr. and Johnnie Van Ryn who married the socially prominent Midge Gladman, another excellent player.

Mr. Garland hopes that the stars will arrive in Chicago on Sunday, Sept. 10, so that there can be some entertaining for them before the games. If they do, there will be a dinner at the Fair and a tour of the grounds on Monday and at least two Onwentsia parties Tuesday and Wednesday.

Sharnova Recital Tomorrow Afternoon.

For those who prefer music to polo there is the recital that Sonia Sharnova is to give at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon at the Studebaker theater to swell THE TRIBUNE'S Free Ice fund. Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mrs. Hayden B. Harris, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr., Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. Charles D. Frey, and Mrs. William D. Sidley are a few of those who are planning to be present.

The box circle for the performance of Aïda at Soldiers' field Wednesday night is spoken for almost in its entirety. The performance is being given by the Texas Grand Opera association and is the high spot of Texas day at A Century of Progress. Gov. Miriam Ferguson and perhaps Vice President and Mrs. Garner are to attend.

Among the Chicagoans who have taken boxes are Mrs. William Burry, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Moses J. Wentworth, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Mrs. Bruce Borland, Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, Mrs. Solomon B. Smith, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Mrs. Conrad Poppenhusen, George F. Carr, Mrs. Albert H Wetten, Mrs. John V. Farwell, Mrs. Thomas G. Wheelock, Mrs. Ford R. Carter, Mrs. John L. Senior, Miss Frieda Foltz, and Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker.

The Ralph Sargents are entertaining the largest group of guests at the special cabaret dinner the Knollwood club is to have tonight in its white colonial clubhouse and on the surrounding terraces in Lake Forest. The guests at their table will number two dozen.

The David W. Owens will be host and hostess to another group. And still others who are planning to come for supper at nine, dancing, and a gala bill of radio skits are Robert O. Law Jr., the Joseph E. Flemings, the Charles W. Canfields, and Edward F. Wilson.

Japanese Officials Give Luncheon Today.

To judge by the preliminary plans one of the nicest parties on today's calendar is the luncheon Japanese Consul Muto and the representatives of the Central Raw Silk Association of Japan to A Century of Progress are to have at noon in the summer garden of the Drake hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes are to be at the speakers' table. And so are the British consul general, Lewis Bernays, and Mrs. Bernays; the Italian consul general, Giuseppe Castruccio, and Signora Castruccio, and the French consul general, Rene Weiller, and Mme. Weiller.

There will be a handsome silk flag next every place card as a souvenir of the occasion and during the afternoon the guests will be entertained with a fashion show.

Another noted Hindu visitor. Yesterday we learned that the Maharajah Gaekwar Sir Sayaji Raoth of Baroda, who is accorded a 21 gun salute and rules a state of 8,000 square miles with a population of 2,000,000, is due in Chicago next Saturday. He is traveling from England, where he spends most of his time in the picturesque old castle that was once the home of Sir Alfred Lord Tennyson. By way of interest it is related that he wore a robe valued at $2,000,000 last year when attending a court at Buckingham palace.

Frederick Janney Enters Annapolis.

One young man who will regret not being here for Miss Eleanor Janney's debut tea Sept. 9 is her brother, Frederick E. Janney, who will, however, be very much occupied at that time as an entering student at the United States Naval academy at Annapolis. Mr. Janney is in the east now undergoing the summer training course required of all entering cadets. He will not be home until the Christmas holidays, when he gets his first leave.

Miss Janney will make her bow to society in the home of her mother, Mrs. Cornelius Lynde, on Spruce street in Winnetka, with eight sister debutantes assisting at the tea. They will be Miss Jean O'Brien, Miss Patricia Calkins, Miss Barbara Ann Bastien, Miss Anne Palmer, who is still in the east with her family; Miss Nancy Harris, who is also away; Miss Marie Louise Gardner, who is expected at home with her parents within the next week or so; Miss Marjorie Street, and Miss Barbara Hobart.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick and their sons are leaving this morning for Lake Louise and Banff. They will be gone several weeks on a most delightful trip.

Also westward bound are a party of gay vacationers from Winnetka and Lake Forest. The William P. Sidleys, Col. and Mrs. Charles C. Haffner Jr., the Wesley M. Dixons, and the Frederick W. Copelands all left last night for Lawrence Nordquist's ranch, the L Bar T, at Clark's Fork, Wyo. They will have three weeks of fishing, riding and general ranch life behind them when they return. The Sidleys are taking with them Madeleine and Spellman Prentice, son and daughter of the E. Parmalee Prentices of New York and grandchildren of John D. Rockefeller.

Miriam Hamilton Passes Bar Test.

There are many congratulations coming the way of Miss Miriam Celia Hamilton, daughter of Isaac Miller Hamilton. Miss Hamilton has successfully completed her Illinois state bar examinations, which means that she will appear before the Supreme court in October and receive her license, the final authorization to practice law in Illinois.

It is hard to think of the lovely "Mim," as Miss Hamilton is familiarly known to her friends, as a barrister, but she has always been a student of outstanding attainment. After her graduation from the Francis Parker school, she finished Vassar with honor. Last June she completed her three year law course at the University of Chicago.

The Harold C. Bodmans and their son, Nicholas, and Mrs. Bodman's mother, Mrs. Nicholas de Teresa, sailed yesterday on the Minnetonka for Europe. They plan to spend the next eight or nine months abroad, stopping in Rome for the winter months.

Mrs. Frederick L. McNally, who has been in Leland, Mich., is to return home next week, and her daughter, Miss Helen Marie Castle, likewise will be in town in a few days. Miss Castle has been spending the last three weeks with the Charles Y. Freemans in their lovely summer home at Biddeford Pool, Me.

Mrs. Andrew McNally and her two children, Miss Eleanor McNally and Andrew III., are at the McNally home in Thousand Islands. They will be back in Evanston with Mr. McNally the middle of September.

Spending the summer in Chicago means very little to Miss Betty Brawley, for although she calls the apartment of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Brawley, home, she uses it only as a stopping off place between the various resorts she visits. Recently she spent a week at Wausaukee with Miss Nancy Traylor and her parents, the Melvin A. Traylors, and no sooner did she return from that delightful spot than she left again to visit the Richard McCullochs in Oconomowoc. Besides fishing and swimming in this Wisconsin town, so Miss Brawley writes, she spends a part of each day riding a bicycle.

Miss Emily Young, a former classmate of Miss Brawley's at Miss Wheeler's school, has invited her to come to Detroit to visit at the Youngs' Grosse Point home over Labor day. Of course they plan to watch the yacht races run at that time, for which so many Detroiters have house parties.

Smart Suit for Street Wear

Lucien Lelong Introduces Squared Evening Capes Into Paris Society

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

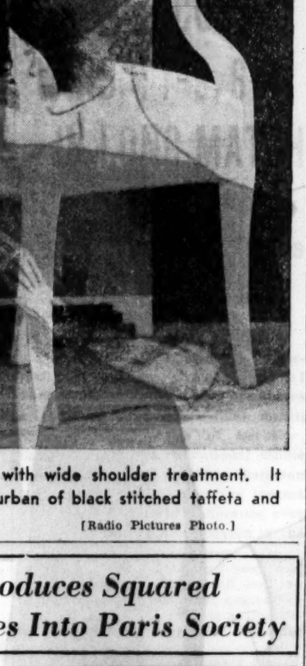
PARIS. — [Special.] — Little capes outdo every other sort of wrap in summer evening styles here in Paris. They are not the capes of yesteryear. Far from it, my children. The new capes which the best women wear are quaint looking trifles, somehow, though they have outraged the laws of tradition and turned the circle into a square.

Look at the accompanying sketch, and tell me if you wouldn't rather wear these shoulder squares than the ring-around-the-shoulders that has been the capelet for this long time?

Lucien Lelong is the man who started these squared capelets in Paris society. You see them worn with both afternoon and evening clothes. The one pictured at the bottom—back and front views—is made of organdy, and it makes a plain black or dark blue daytime dress look soigné, and Elegant with a capital letter.

All there is to this cape is a square of organdy, set over the shoulders and bordered with a bias cut ruffle. You could make it yourself if you are at all clever. Lelong cuts the neckline round and tops it with a turnover, flaring collar, with bow ties.

At the top is something vurry dressy in square capelets, also by Lelong. It has a square of black satin around the shoulders, edged with wide monkey fur fringe. It crosses over itself in front and ties in a bow below the left shoulder.



Cost of Kisses by Cable Issue at Film Studio

Lilian Harvey Gets Them from Germany.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Lilian Harvey was so happy to receive a cable from Willie Fritsch, her actor sweetheart in Germany, that she translated the German of the cable in hearing of her friend and director, Dave Butler, and her producer, Buddy de Sylva. Lilian came to the close of the message which read: "One thousand kisses." "That's devotion," Butler interjected. "One thousand kisses at day cable rates." "Economy—not devotion," objected De Sylva. "It's cheaper to cable 'thousand kisses' than it is 'five hundred kisses.'"

You should have seen Lilian.

Stepinfechet, who at one time was the only Negro featured player holding a long contract in films, has been assigned by his old employers of the Fox company for a plantation part in the Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Lew Ayres film, "House of Connolly," which has a Carolina locale.

Ruth Clifford, once a star with her name in big lights, is playing a bit, minor but important, as the newspaper sob writer in "Walls of Gold," with Sally Eilers and Ralph Morgan.

Edward Norris, who was first a young newspaper reporter and then an actor in New York's Little Theater, gets an important rôle in Garbo's "Queen Christina," that of Jacob, Elizabeth Young's lover in the historical romance.

Paramount was so anxious to get Carole Lombard started on the oft postponed film, "White Woman," intended originally for Dorothea Wieck, that the studio sent Col. Roscoe Turner, record making aviator, by air to Carson City, Nev., in his record making plane to fly her back here today after the hearing of her plea for divorce from Bill Powell. Turner's assignment was to bring the former Terre Haute blonde to the studio safely in time for a 5 p. m. Friday wardrobe fitting.

Producer Charles R. Rogers has signed Sally O'Neill to a long term contract, and starting with a featured part in "We're Sitting Pretty," with Jack Haley and Jack Oakie. He plans to use Sally in a majority of his ten productions on the Paramount lot during the year.

The same producer will make a film based on the life and exploits of Diamond Jim Brady, with George Bancroft as the star. The story is called "The World's Greatest Spender."

A suit has been filed against Charles Bickford demanding foreclosure of a mechanic's lien for $795 asserted to be the unpaid balance on a swimming pool and tennis court built for Bickford at his beach home.

It cost the Fox studio $119 for Ralph Spence, scenarist, to reach Winfield Sheehan, studio head, three days at sea from Sandy Hook on the liner Majestic for Europe. This was the conversation:

SPENCE—Do you remember telling me, Mr. Sheehan, before you got away, to be sure to see you about some very necessary instructions on one scene of the Will Rogers story, "There's Always Tomorrow."

SHEEHAN—O yes, did I say that? Yes, I remember. Well?

SPENCE—What do you want done about the scene?

SHEEHAN—O, just use your judgment.

SHEEHAN—By the way, how hot is it out there?

OPERATOR—That will be $119.76.

Mr. O'Keefe attended Northwestern, and is now attending the Chicago Kent College of Law. No date has been set for the wedding.

Adopted Babes Bring Joy to Childless Home

Myth of Their "Gloomy Future" Exploded.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My wife and I have been married three years. She is 32 years old and I am 39. We have no family, though we love children, and now the doctor tells my wife that she will never have any. Wanting children as she does, naturally this information was a blow to her and she has had spells of melancholy ever since receiving it.

"She's a fine woman and would make a wonderful mother. I'd do anything I could to make her happy, but she seems to have lost interest in all the things that used to please and amuse her."

The remedy for a case like this is so simple that I wonder why it isn't thought of at once. Adopt one, two, or a whole brood of children if they can be afforded. If a man is willing to do anything to make his wife happy, he'll be a willing party to adopting a child.

Of course, fear of the way they may turn out often makes otherwise open hearted people hesitate about taking an orphan into their homes. But why pick out the poor orphaned youngsters for a gloomy future? They stand an even chance with one's own, providing the environment is good and the infant's health is normal.

Then why gamble away sixteen, eighteen, twenty years of pleasure tending, nursing, educating a young being who might be committed to your care because of the dubious assumption that it will not turn out well?

Studies have been made comparing adopted and own children which show that the breaks for the orphaned child, under proper environmental circumstances, were pretty nearly even with those of the blood offspring.

Anyway, why bother with the future and what it holds? If one can give a home and affection to a poor neglected little waif and get in return only one, five, ten years of joy which its presence is bound to provide, why haggle with the opportunity for getting one's life straightened out as only children's presence will straighten it out?

Choral Speech.

The American speech committee of the Chicago Woman's club is cooperating with the summer activities' committee in organizing a group for choral speech. There will be an open meeting at 10:30 Monday morning at the Woman's club, 72 East 11th street.

Child's Fear of Being Punished Cause of Lying

Or Perhaps He Just Has Vivid Imagination.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I have written on this subject of lying before. But when I receive letter after letter from worried mothers, day after day, I feel that I must write again.

One of the most common and most understandable reasons for lying is fear of punishment. When a mother sternly says to her little daughter [and the little daughter remembers previous spankings or scoldings], "Did you break that cup?" the little daughter in desperation may be driven to say "No," even if the broken pieces lie at her feet. This is of course the easiest type of "lying" to correct. Just cut out the fear of retribution.

Then there is that less tangible but equally disturbing "story"—the story that is half phantasy and half reality. But to the imaginative child the phantasy part may be as real as the real part is to us. This, of course, though mothers call it "telling lies," is really only "telling stories." If we treat it as such, the distinction between what is imaginative and what is not can be kept clear.

Mothers often write, "My little girl won't tell something that happens accurately—she'll change it around." But this isn't really distorting the happening at all. To her childish eyes and with her entirely different concept of things, she is telling the event as it appeared to her. If the mother has ever had the experience of having several people tell their version of something that they all witnessed, she will not be so perplexed over her own child's recital. It is accurate so far as the child is concerned.

Another type of so-called lying is really a type of loyalty—a boy has to choose between telling a lie or being disloyal to his "gang." And he feels the lesser evil is lying. This is often a disturbing decision to him, but it is something we must respect and which we can talk over with him.

Another and allied trait is the exaggerated and usually highly exciting account of some happening. This is usually an attention getter, and yields to mild measures, one of which may be a quiet chat afterwards in which you get a version of "how it really happened."

The most necessary thing in dealing with story telling in all its various phases is to be close to your child so that you can deeply understand him and what motivates him. This cannot be done by being with your child occasionally, or by doing as one mother does—"I plan to spend half an hour with my little girl each day." It means the cultivating of a deep confidence so that you can understand and have faith in your child and not make it necessary for him to pray, as did one small boy, "Please, God, make mother believe me."

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaretta M. Scott today announced her daughter, the Baroness Sylvia Korff, had obtained a divorce from Baron Serge Alexander Korff. Mrs. Scott said the divorce was granted in Pasadena, Cal., early this month. The Korffs were married in Philadelphia in 1929 and had been living in Pasadena. Baron Korff is a son of the late Baron Korff, who was professor of Russian law at the University of Helsingfors, Finland, and under the Kerensky régime was vice governor general of Finland.

Aug. 18	$ 82,305	$ 151,864

County Judge Jarecki announced yesterday that penalties assessed on delinquent real estate tax bills would not be remitted unless the property owners showed evidence of good faith by paying at least 60 per cent of their bills pending the disposal of objections.

"People must know by now that they cannot avoid paying their taxes by any subterfuge," Judge Jarecki said. "This court will countenance no delay. The best way the individual property owner can show he is desirous of coöperating with the court is by the payment of at least three-fifths of his bill. He should not let his objection lie dormant but should press it, and when the court has ruled he will then be given consideration on his penalty."

Orders 52 More Receiverships.

Judge Jarecki appointed County Treasurer McDonough as receiver for 52 more properties to collect delinquent taxes under the Kerner-Skarda act. The properties owe a total of $198,018. The following list shows the properties ordered into receivership and the amount owed by each:

Discuss Stores' Personalty.

County Assessor Jacobs yesterday held a conference with representatives of large retail stores to discuss their methods of scheduling their 1932 personal property. At the conclusion of the meeting the assessor said that he had been assured all the stores would list their inventory of goods at not less than 70 per cent of the book value and furniture and fixtures at not less than 60 per cent of the book value.

"These large stores have not only promised to coöperate with me toward a uniform assessment but they have announced that they will urge all other retailers to schedule their property on these percentage bases," Mr. Jacobs said.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBOR GRACE, Newfoundland, Aug. 18.—The United States auxiliary motor schooner Minnie B. is being held at Nain, Labrador, by the British admiralty survey ship Challenger for alleged breach of the Newfoundland customs laws. Capt. V. A. Chern of New York is in charge of the Minnie B. The ship is en route to Baffin land to trade and obtain pictures of Eskimo life.

The steamer Kyle, with a relief captain and crew, has left to bring the seized ship to St. John's. Capt. Chern will be arrested and brought south on the Kyle. The charge is selling goods in Newfoundland and Labrador on which duty had not been paid. The ship cleared from St. Anthony, Newfoundland, with sealed hatches for Canadian territory.

[The Minnie B., owned by Capt. Chern, after being overhauled at Harbor Grace, left on July 3 for the Arctic. Chern, a graduate of the National Academy of Design and an artist of note, said he would depict on canvas arctic scenes, especially those of animal and Eskimo life.]

Wife Wins Divorce from Absent Minded Husband

Mrs. Alida Doebler, 29 years old, 7757 South Marshfield avenue, testified yesterday before Superior Judge Peter H. Schwaba that her husband, Charles, was so absent minded that he would not recognize her on the street and on occasions forgot to come home for dinner for several days at a time. She charged he deserted her on Dec. 24, 1928. Judge Schwaba instructed her attorney, Norman Becker, to prepare the divorce decree. Mrs. Doebler waived alimony.

PEEPING TOM PUT ON PROBATION.

William Gouska, 19 years old, 3910 Lake Park avenue, seized as a "peeping Tom," by O. C. Huston, 3911 Ellis avenue, was placed on probation for seven months yesterday by Municipal Judge John Gutnecht.

WIFE IS SLAIN

MRS. JOSEPH WOTJCZAK. JOSEPH WOTJCZAK.

Joseph Wotjczak, owner of a grocery at 1324 Wrightwood avenue, shot and killed his wife, Marie, yesterday in a fit of rage upon learning that she had instituted divorce proceedings against him.

The shooting took place in their living quarters behind the grocery in the presence of one of their four children, Genevieve, 13 years old. Mrs. Wotjczak barricaded herself in the pantry when her husband emerged from a bedroom with a revolver, but he fired four shots through the door. Two of them struck her and she died shortly afterward in St. Joseph's hospital.

Mrs. Wotjczak filed her bill for divorce three years ago, but continued to live with her husband. Wotjczak was served with notice of the suit yesterday.

After the shooting Wotjczak barricaded himself in the bedroom. He surrendered without a struggle when police broke down the door.

TAXPAYERS LAG IN FILING LISTS OF PERSONALTY

Less than 18% of 1932 Schedules In.

Less than 18 per cent of the 1932 personal property schedules which County Assessor J. L. Jacobs has been mailing for several months have been voluntarily returned by Chicago property owners. This was disclosed yesterday in a survey of the work in the assessor's office.

Of 591,604 schedules which have been sent out, only 105,762 had been filed with the assessor's office up to Thursday morning. The schedules returned amount to only 17.8 per cent of the total sent out.

This showing, the assessor said, is not so encouraging as that for the 1931 personal property assessment. Approximately 50 per cent of the 839,000 schedules for the 1931 assessment were voluntarily returned. Mr. Jacobs charged that the unfavorable trend this year was due in part to racketeering tax agencies and political busybodies who have persuaded taxpayers not to file schedules and not to pay personal property taxes.

Improved Assessment System.

But he declared that the improved system adopted by his office will cope with the problem and will result in the most nearly uniform personal property assessment yet made in Cook county.

"We have virtually completed a field survey of all homes, hotels, and apartment flats in the county and established a field card system which contains an index of the approximate worth of each taxpayer," he said. "It will be a simple matter to arrive at a fair estimate of all those who do not voluntarily make returns, and of course the 50 per cent penalty, as prescribed by law for failure to file a schedule, will be added.

"The system which we have devised, and which is a substantial improvement over the one we used for 1931, will avert duplicate and triplicate assessments such as occurred last year."

Leniency will be shown toward those who file sworn schedules promptly, the assessor said. Where returns are considered inadequate the senders will be requested by letter to report to the assessor's office for a conference in an effort to reconcile the return with the field card index date. This method, he said, is proving effective.

Hotel Guests on Rolls.

Assessor Jacobs disclosed that he had added to the assessment rolls the names of almost 200,000 permanent guests of hotels in the city, a large number of whom escaped assessments last year. Under the supervision of Deputy Assessor George C. Chesney, the hotels were called upon to furnish lists of their permanent guests with data as to the number of rooms occupied and the rental paid. In a few cases where hotels declined to cooperate, the names were obtained from the registration lists in the election commissioner's office.

Town—	Mailed	Returns.	Per cent return.
Rogers Park	27,415	7,329	26.7
South town	41,627	10,359	24.8
Lake View	114,550	25,855	22.7
Hyde Park	168,476	26,538	15.7
Jefferson	137,398	3,523	2.5

In addition the survey shows that 8,673 schedules were mailed for estates in South town, whereas only 3,138 or 36 per cent were returned. The assessor mailed 31,130 schedules to corporations, of which 12,333 or 39.6 per cent were returned. To taxpayers in those parts of country towns which extend into Chicago, 31,935 schedules were mailed, of which 9,175 or about 28 per cent were returned.

PARADE TO OPEN HARLEM AVENUE BRIDGE TODAY

Western suburbs of Cook county will join today in celebrating the completion of the Harlem avenue bridge over the sanitary canal. President Emmett Whealan of the county board will cut a red ribbon to open the bridge to traffic.

Business and civic organizations of the suburbs will have floats in a parade which will move from 34th street and Harlem avenue south over the bridge to 46th street.

The completion of the bridge makes Harlem avenue the longest continuous stretch of pavement in the county. It extends from the Will county line to Morton Grove. County Commissioner Frank J. Kasper has introduced a resolution before the county board asking that the name of the thoroughfare be changed to Woodrow Wilson highway.

SOX LOSE IN 10TH, 6-4; CUBS BEAT BRAVES, 4-3

TWO YEAR OLDS RACE TODAY IN $5,000 EVENT

Mata Hari Is Made 6 to 5 Favorite.

Juvenile Field

THE field for the seventh running of the Hawthorne Juvenile Handicap to be run this afternoon, arranged in the order of post positions, is as follows:

Horse—	Wt.	Jockey—	Prob. odds.
Penncote	116	S. Renick	8 to 1
*Signal Man	110	E. Pool	6 to 1
New Deal	116	G. Field	2 to 1
Ding Bin	119	G. South	10 to 1
†Constant Wife	112	W. Wright	6 to 5
Baby Stare	104	L. Humphries	50 to 1
Lady Higloss	115	J. Westrope	5 to 2
Dan Sabath	108	J. Smith	50 to 1
†Mata Hari	120	K. Horvath	6 to 5
*Trey	112	A. Richard	6 to 1

*Audley Farm entry.
†Dixiana Stable entry.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Mata Hari, the most talked about 2 year old of the year until she was beaten in the Arlington futurity, comes back to the races this afternoon and will attempt to regain some of her lost laurels in the seventh running of the $5,000 Hawthorne juvenile handicap.

Despite the 120 pounds she will be asked to pack, she ruled as the overnight favorite at 6 to 5 in the field of ten named for the stake. She will have a running companion in Constant Wife, which is also a stake winner.

Mata Hari's workouts leading up to her engagement this afternoon have been perfect according to horsemen who have watched her perform. These early morning gallops which always attract a large audience caused her to gain much support in the overnight wagering.

Westrope to Ride.

Lady Higloss, the winner of five straight races and which will be ridden by the sensational Jack Westrope, was the second choice, having commanded so much backing that she was held at 5 to 2. Westrope is far in front for the American Jockey championship, yet he never has ridden the winner of a stake race.

His thousands of Chicago backers believe he has an excellent chance to do it this afternoon. Lady Higloss has changed ownership during the week, having been sold by the Paramount stable to Victor Emanuel, international sportsman, who races horses both in this country and in Europe. Westrope has ridden Lady Higloss to all her victories.

The Audley farm stable entry of Signalman and Trey at 6 to 1 ruled as the third choice. Signalman has been another sensational performer lately, winning his only two starts at Hawthorne in the easiest kind of a way. The visitors from the south were backing him with great confidence and believe he might develop into the best 2 year old of the year. He is royally bred, has a tremendous burst of speed, and won his last race as if any distance will suit him. Penncote, New Deal, Ding Bin, Dan Sabbath, and Baby Stare round out the field, which is one of the best that has been brought together in the west this year. The race is at six furlongs.

Head Play a Former Winner.

Head Play won the stake last year and Hygro captured it a year earlier. Others winners were Don Leon, Sydney, The Choctaw and May Cooper. It will be the final tune up for Mata Hari before she seeks the American championship in the Futurity at Belmont.

Mata Hari and her juvenile rivals held most of the attention of the 9,500 racegoers at Hawthorne yesterday until the American Veterinary association purse was run.

Then the race fans had something else to talk about. Admiral Cary T. Grayson sent two of his best 3 year olds out to capture this purse. They were Band Wagon and Hope to Do. They stepped out in front immediately and stayed there for the entire mile and a sixteenth trip. Passing the winning post Band Wagon beat his stable mate by a length and a quarter. Rehoboth was up to be third, beating Dusky Devil by about two inches for the slim end of the purse.

The entry had many backers in the crowd and paid $6.88 to win.

THE GUMPS—ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL

Pedley Arrives; Spurs West's Hope for Polo Championship

BY HOWARD BARRY.

A plane came roaring out of the sky yesterday and settled down at the municipal airport. Out of it stepped a man who has established a new record for acquiring descriptive names within a space of 24 hours.

ERIC PEDLEY.

Before answering "Yes" to an emergency request to replace the injured Rube Williams in the lineup of the western all star polo team he was just Eric Pedley, a Los Angeles stock broker, but in the last few hours he has been called everything from the last hope of the west to the fifth ace in Carleton F. Burke's deck.

Something New Hourly.

The East-West polo series, which is being played at Onwentsia between two teams considered the greatest in the world, has been packed with surprises from the start. Repeatedly the fortunes of both teams have taken unexpected turns, but the coming of Pedley has worked perhaps the greatest transformation of all.

When the series began last Sunday the West was conceded only an outside chance against Tommy Hitchcock's eastern team, but the game had scarcely begun before it became apparent that this was to be no push-over for the East. Just at the time when the western team was functioning as a flawless machine Smith was injured, apparently so seriously that he would be out for the game and series as well. It seemed certain that the great scoring combination would be broken up, but after a 40 minute interval he was back in the game.

Williams' Loss Is Blow.

The 15 to 11 victory of the West in that opening match put an entirely new aspect on the series. But Wednesday the outlook shifted again. Rushing Earle Hopping into the line-up, the easterners outrode and outhit the westerners to score a 12 to 8 triumph. Even at that, the West was always within striking distance until its hopes apparently were shattered permanently when Rube Williams was carried from the field in the seventh chukker with a fractured leg.

Loss of the game wouldn't have meant a great deal to the fighting men of the west. With their sturdy self-confidence they could have shaken off the effects of that defeat and returned to top form in the deciding match. But the loss of Williams semed a blow from which there could be no recovery.

Had it been an eastern player who w hurt Hitchcock could have picked any one of a dozen capable fellows to fill in the gap, but the case was different with the west. Eric Pedley was the only man the other side of the Mississippi skillful enough to give the west a fighting chance in the deciding game, and he was so tied up with business cares that he had been forced to turn down an opportunity to play at the start of the series. But a last minute appeal for his services brought the response: "Hold everything; I'll be there."

Pedley Is in Shape.

So tomorrow the west will take the field against the east in the third and final game, not with a crippled team but with a machine as powerful as that which overthrew Hitchcock's men in the opening match. Pedley, an 8 goal man, has been keeping in practice by steady play on the coast, and he is an old teammate of Aidan Roark and Elmer Boeseke. So there is no question about his ability to fit into the quartet.

Polo experts say that Smith, Boeseke, Pedley, and Roark are so versatile that any one of them can play any position on the team. Manager Burke anticipates little difficulty in getting them to work in unison.

Against this combination, the east is expected to send a team composed of Winston and Raymond Guest, Hopping and Hitchcock, with Michael Phipps in reserve.

Additional stands have been erected at Onwentsia for tomorrow's game and seating accommodations for 20,000 will be available. Five thousand general admission tickets will be withheld from sale until tomorrow when they may be purchased at the gate.

HELEN JACOBS WINS, 11-9, 6-4, IN LONG MATCH

Miss Cruickshank Extends U. S. Champion.

Forest Hills, L. I., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., gave 3,000 spectators a thrill in her quarter-final match against Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., in the women's national tennis meet this afternoon. The champion won, 11-9, 6-4, in one of the longest and severest tests of endurance ever undergone by feminine players in the 46 year history of the event.

The first set lasted one hour and one minute and the second half an hour. The faces of both contenders were haggard from fatigue at the finish. Neither, however, let down for a moment.

Dorothy Round, most highly regarded of the British contingent, earned the opportunity to take the next crack at Miss Jacobs' championship in the semi-finals tomorrow by beating Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., 6-4, 9-7, with a broadside of forehand and backhand driving. From a tactical standpoint Miss Palfrey's game was excellent, but it did not pack enough punch to counter-balance her rival's slugging.

Heavy rain late this afternoon forced postponement of remaining quarter-finals matches until tomorrow, at which time the Jacobs-Round semi-final also will be staged. The other semi-final will come Sunday and the final Monday.

SENATORS BEAT SOX FOR TENTH VICTORY IN ROW

Winning Streak Sets Record for 1933.

The New York Yankees will open a four game series with the White Sox Comiskey park today. The teams will play a single game this afternoon, a double header tomorrow, and a single game on Monday.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox put up a game battle yesterday to prevent the Washington Senators from running their winning streak to ten straight for a new 1933 high in the American league. But the Senators triumphed after two were out in the tenth inning, 6 to 4, and remained 7½ games ahead of the second place Yankees.

The victory, of course, enabled the Senators to sweep the four game series here and it gave them a record of 10 victories over the Sox in 11 games played at Comiskey park this season. The Sox won the second game of the first series. The defeat gave the Sox a streak of their own—they've lost their last five.

Thomas Is Routed.

Walter Miller, in his second futile attempt at nemesising in two days, spotted the visitors four runs in the third inning. The Sox then went to work on an old pal, Tommy Thomas, and with two runs in the third, one in the fifth and the tying marker on base in the seventh, forced Tommy's withdrawal. The tying run got across, but the Sox relief pitching, which had turned back 19 hitters in a row, went for naught in the tenth when the Senators loaded the bases and Ossie Bluege singled to center, driving home Joe Cronin and Goose Goslin with the winning margin.

After Miller's failure Joe Heving did some handsome relief pitching. He got the side out in the third, then allowed Myer to lead off the fourth with a single. Manush forced Myer and from then on not a Senator reached first base on him. He gave way to a pinch hitter in the last half of the seventh, a strategy which resulted in tying the score. Sullivan batted for Heving and eventually scored the tying run while Haas was hitting into the first of his two successive doubleplays. Wyatt took over the pitching job and he too kept the Senators away from first for a couple of innings. But after one was out in the tenth he walked Cronin. Singles by Harris, Schulte and Bluege, interrupted by Kuhel's foul to Dykes for the second out, then broke up the contest.

Swanson Leads Attack.

Swanson led the Sox attack with three timely singles and a walk. Al Simmons again was a bust. Twice he ended scoring rallies with puny batting efforts and on his other two trips he launched innings with put outs. One of the other erstwhile sluggers of the Sox cast, Luke Appling, thrice was a failure, but Luke dnally s ed a single in the eighth, only to be blotted out in a double play launched by Dykes.

Some swell fielding by Rhyne and Swanson enabled Miller to skin by without any run making for 2 2-3 innings, but between the second and third putouts in the third inning four runs scored before Heving went in and retired the side.

The third inning started with a walk to Thomas. Myer was out because Swanson made a leaping catch against the right field wall to pull down his drive. Manush singled to center. Thomas stopping at second. Cronin supplied the second out with a roller to Rhyne, then Harris walked, filling the bases. Miller got two strikes past Schulte, but Freddie socked the next one for a single to center, scoring Thomas and Manush. Kuhel singled to right, putting Schulte on third. Schulte and Kuhel then executed a double steal, Schulte scoring. Bluege walked and so did Miller right into the bathhouse. Heving came in and Sewell ended the inning with a fly to Haas.

Sox Get Two Runs.

The Sox got the bases full with none out in their end of the third inning and derived two runs from the situation. Berry opened with a walk and stopped at second on Heving's single to left. Swanson singled to center filling the bases. Harris backed against the right field wall for Haas' drive. Berry scoring and Heving taking third

NELSON SAVES SERIES FINAL AS ROOT FLOPS

Betts' Wild Throw Aids Chicagoans.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18.—Walter Huckleberry Betts solved the road complex problem for the Cubs today. He made a wild throw to first base in the first inning and from that blunder the Chicagoans built up three runs and an eventual 4 to 3 victory over the Braves in the final of the three game series. It was the second victory for the third place Cubs in their last 14 starts on the road, but it didn't help them any, so far as the leading Giants are concerned. New York maintained its six game lead.

The charitable attitude of Betts was only the starter of a series of incidents that worked up into one of those fights in which no blows are struck. Following Betts' error came the elimination of Charley Root from the Cubs' lineup. Then the boys staged some dizzy fielding until the monotony was relieved in the sixth by the threat of Bill Urbanski, the Perth Amboy, N. J. barber, to smack Bill Jurges for roughing him in a force play. The Cub infielder was willing, but the umpires wouldn't consent to any sparring.

Nelson Relieves Root.

Root's departure came in the third inning, just after the scoring of what proved to be the last run of the afternoon. Five hits had been made by the Braves, two of them occurring at the start of the third. Manager Grimm promptly made up his mind, and Lynn Nelson was rushed in as a rescuer. Grimm's decision proved a wise one. The former Coast leaguer won the decision for himself by breezing through on an allowance of four scattered hits. Only one man reached second base on him, that occurring in the sixth because Babe Herman staged one of his copyrighted tumbling acts on a single by Lee with none out. Nelson escaped from that by throwing out Lee at third on an intended sacrifice.

The excitement in the first inning began with a pass to English, who was forced on Billy Herman's intended sacrifice bunt. Cuyler singled to center, putting Billy on third. The illustrious Babe Herman poked a gentle bounder to Betts and should have been an easy out, but Betts threw the ball into right field, giving Cuyler time to score behind Billy Herman. The Babe took third on the error.

Cuyler's Run Starts Rumpus.

Whether Cuyler actually scored developed into quite an argument. Umpire Powell said he did, although it looked as if the runner had been tagged before his foot reached the plate. Spohrer jumped up and down like a peeved kid, complaining he was being cheated. Manager McKechnie walked out from the dugout and mentioned blindness, among other things, among umpires. He was chased from the park and play was resumed.

Demaree followed with a long fly to center, Babe Herman scoring. Hartnett walked and actually reached third on Grimm's long double to left. Jurges was purposely passed, filling the bases. Root then rolled to Maranville to retire the side.

The Braves lost no time arranging the removal of Root. Jordan walked with one out in the first inning. This generosity proved costly. Berger lined a ball over first base into a spot where he seldom hits and Babe Herman, who was playing well toward center, needed a taxicab to capture the drive, finally overtaking it in a drain along the front of the pavilion. By that time Jordan had scored and Berger was on third. The latter scored on Moore's single, which Demaree almost caught after a hard run. Whitney then fanned and Moore was doubled trying to steal.

Cubs Get Another.

The Cubs took a 4 to 2 lead by scoring once in the second. English opened with a single to center and W. Herman sacrificed. After Cuyler had lined to center, Babe Herman singled to left to score English. Demaree caromed a single off Maranville's hands, Babe Herman going to third. Nothing further developed when Hartnett flied to Berger.

The first two Braves to face Root in the second reached base, but that was all. The first two also reached

ALSTON LEADS IN CANADIAN OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 18.—(AP)—A young Ottawa professional, Bobby Alston, showed the way today to a band of pros from the United States, headed by Gene Sarazen, as the half way mark in the annual Canadian open golf championship was reached.

Alston toured the classic Royal York links in 71 again today, a stroke under par, for a total of 71—71—142 and a lead of one stroke over Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot star, who carded 72—71 for 143.

Harry Cooper, defending champion, added a 74 today to his 70 yesterday for 144, while Sarazen, new United States P. G. A. champion, rallied with a 71 today after yesterday's 76 for a total of 147.

MORDECAI BROWN ARRIVES FOR OLD TIMERS' BATTLE

Modecai Brown arrived in Chicago last night for the old timers' baseball game which will be played at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, tomorrow afternoon. The former Chicago Cubs star will pitch against a team made up of former semi-pro players in the first game of a double header. In the other game the Chicago Mills will meet Altoona, Pa.

Forty old time major leaguers will participate in the contest, which will feature Bill Harley day. In addition to Brown, players who will see action include Jimmy Archer, Eddie Stack, Joe Benz, Ward Miller, Dutch Meier, and Ed Sweeney. More than 10,000 are expected to see the game.

Barrett, Once an Oliver, Is Barrett Again

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 18.—(AP)—It caused considerable puzzlement this afternoon when the megaphone wielder at Navin field announced that Barrett would succeed Mahaffey on the mound for the Philadelphia Athletics, and Dick Oliver strode forth to pitch against the Tigers.

Then it all came out:

Dick Barrett wasn't doing so well with Elmira, a St. Louis Cardinal farm in the New York-Pennsylvania league, early this season and he bought his release, believing his baseball future might become permanently blighted.

Figuring that the Dick Barrett who made such a poor showing with Elmira might not get an unprejudiced chance in the major leagues, he adopted the name of Oliver and was playing semi-pro ball around Philadelphia under that name when Connie Mack, searching for a relief pitcher, signed him up.

Oliver, it now is known, is the name he used in his college days several years ago when he pitched summer baseball, and that is the name under which he pitched his first few games for the Athletics.

Now that it appears that he is in the majors to stay, he has decided to use his own name and it will be Barrett in the box scores hereafter when he breaks into the lineup.

Fight Decisions

SHIELDS BEATS VINES

Newport, R. I., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Ellsworth Vines, national champion, was eliminated in the semi-finals of the Newport casino tennis tournament today by Frank Shields of New York, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

The powerful New Yorker appeared even more impressive in beatin Vines, who was striving for his third casino crown, than he did in eliminating Frankie Parker of Milwaukee yesterday in the quarter-finals. Shields made only 55 errors in 28 games while Vines made 85.

Vines Is Erratic.

Vines, competing in singles competition for the first time since the Davis cup matches with England, was erratic at the start, losing his opening service with three straight errors. He rallied to break through Shields in the next game but the New Yorker settled down and ran out the set in decisive fashion.

Vines got off to a 2-0 lead as the second set began but Shields drew even with drop shots that baffled the tall Californian and caught him off balance. Shields took the lead at 4-2 and ran out the set in the tenth game.

Eighth Game Is a Battle.

Vines made a gallant bid in the last set but his powerful shots were finding the net and Shields ran up a 5-2 lead. The eighth game was deuced three times but Shields' steady play unsettled Vines, whose last three shots were netted, giving Shields the necessary points for a victory.

The match between Cliff Sutter and Wilmer Allison was called off on account of rain. Allison was winning two sets to one, 3-6, 5-4, 6-2.

Braddon Wins Salmon Fly Casting Event

Eddie Braddon of Cleveland won the salmon fly event and Al Foss, also of Cleveland, won the five-eighths ounce distance bait event in the National Association of Scientific Angling Clubs' annual tournament yesterday at Washington park. It was the second day of the four day event.

Braddon averaged 150 feet. His longest cast was 151 feet, while Foss averaged 288.8 feet, with 299 feet as his longest cast.

Otto Peters of Buffalo, N. Y., the defending champion in the salmon fly, was third yesterday with an average of 141 and a long cast of 145 feet. Gordon Ericson of Chicago was second in the event with an average of 142 2-3 feet and a long cast of 155 feet.

The defending five-eighths ounce distance bait champion, Bob Clarkson of Chicago, also was third, with an average of 284.2, although his longest cast of 306 feet was the best of the field.

In this competition Tony Accetta of Cleveland, the present all around national champion, who won the distance fly event Thursday, was second in the distance bait event yesterday with an average of 288.2 feet and a long cast of 300 feet.

SCHWARTZ WILL ENTER HOSPITAL FOR EXAMINATION

When asked if Schwartz was seriously ill, Dr. Parker replied "no, I don't think so."

M'KECHNIE, BUSH BANISHED FROM GAME BY UMPIRE

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Two more major league baseball managers were banished from the game today for disputing decisions too vigorously with the umpires.

Bill McKechnie, manager of the Braves, was put out of the Cubs-Braves game at Boston by Umpire Powell for protesting too long and loud on a play in the first inning, in which two Chicago runs crossed the plate.

At the Polo grounds in the Reds-Giants contest Donie Bush claimed Fred Fitzsimmons made a balk while Chick Hafey was at bat in the third inning. Umpire Magerkurth failed to agree and when Bush refused to stop the argument the Cincinnati manager was ejected from the game.

Managers Lew Fonseca of the White Sox and Max Carey of the Dodgers are serving three day suspensions for run-ins with the umpires.

TAMBOUR WINS AT SARATOGA BY THREE LENGTHS

Jockey Johnny Gilbert Scores a Triple.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Tambour, considered by many the best race mare in training, was an easy winner today of the 31st running of the Delaware handicap, a mile test for older horses.

The result gave Jockey Johnny Gilbert, who rode the most winners in 1932, the first triple of the meeting.

Tambour carried the colors of Prevon M. Burch, her owner and trainer, and was the 4 to 5 favorite in a field of six. She won by three lengths from Brookmeade stable's Helianthus, which led W. W. Vaughn's Canron by four lengths. The Darb, Osculator, and Pompeius completed the field as named.

Winner Runs Snappy Mile.

The winner ran the mile in 1:38 2-5, smart time over the fast track which prevailed most of the afternoon. Just after the feature was run a blinding rainstorm broke, which made it impossible to see the horses in the fifth at several stages of the backstretch run. The storm rendered the track deep and sloppy.

Tambour carried 114 pounds to her victory, which looked by no means certain at several stages of the running. Breaking a little behind the leaders, Gilbert was in no hurry to move up with the favorite. When he set her down on the bend the course along the rail was blocked, and he was forced to go out and around.

Pompeius Is a Quitter.

This cost Tambour extra ground, but she was more than equal to the task. Pompeius made the early pace, but quit badly.

The Darb made a move at the lead turning into the stretch, but he was unable to stay with Helianthus, which took over the running when Pompeius stopped.

Helianthus may be through with racing, as she twisted her ankle in the gallop back to the steward's stand. A superficial examination by Trainer Bob Smith indicated a split pastern, and he fears the 5 year old may have to be destroyed.

Westrope Fans Have Bad Day; Wins One Race

Jockey Westrope's followers didn't do so well at Hawthorne yesterday, but they didn't get to the point where they gave him any Bronx cheers. He rode in seven races and it appeared that he was piloting a lot of very slow runners.

During the afternoon he captured one race, was second twice and third twice. He was out of the money twice which did not help the sharp shooters who bet all his mounts to show.

Jockey Kacala, who seems to be Westrope's most lively rival at Hawthorne, turned in a triple. He won on Glove in the third race, Band Wagon in the fifth and Barney Sexton in the seventh.

The daily double players clipped big dividends when Mrs. Let won the second race and Glove scored in the third. Each $2 ticket was worth $124.24.

After Lady Higloss runs in the Hawthorne Juvenile handicap this afternoon she will be shipped to Saratoga to join the other horses in Dorwood stable. J. J. Murphy came from Saratoga to saddle her this afternoon. When she gets to Saratoga she will be in the care of Trainer Sammy Smith.

LOUISVILLE AND JOLIET ENTER C. Y. O. TOURNEY

Two entries received this week for the Catholic Youth Organization's first national baseball tournament increased the number of contestants to four, Jack Elder, athletic director, announced yesterday.

The two new entries are from Louisville, Ky., and Joliet, Ill. District tournaments, which are now being held, will determine the Chicago representatives. Louisville may send two teams to the meet.

The C. Y. O. tournament will be held at Comiskey park from Sept. 4 to Sept. 9. Teams from all parts of the country have been invited to participate. Chicago will be represented by the winner and runnerup in the C. Y. O. Baseball league race, which is now in its final round.

TRANSCALL bettered her position fast when racing wide in first quarter, was steadied on stretch turn and, after easily wearing down CHAGRIN, held MY BOSS safe. BAND WAGON, a frequently broken up when making repeated bids, held on in improved fashion, but had little left. HOPETODO, under steadying restraint for three-quarters, continued well under light urging thereafter. REHOBOTH, well up from the start, fell back as if through on stretch turn, but came again and was going resolutely in the closing stages.

Went to post at 4:24. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

SERGEANT D., a strong contender from the start and taken out when leaving the back stretch, came up slowly when under strong hand riding in the final quarter and, wearing down TWISTED THREADS, appeared ready to draw away. Latter gave a badly judged ride and rushed to the lead on the far turn, held on surprisingly well. BATTLING ON, well rated, saved ground throughout and, while unable to withstand the leaders, held on stubbornly.

BARNEY SEXTON went over sharply approaching the first turn, disposed of PLUCKY GIRL before reaching the stretch, bore out when entering the final eighth, where he was headed by SWEET CHARIOT, but outgamed the latter in the closing strides. SWEET CHARIOT, under strong restraint for five-eighths, was forced wide when working his way to the front and weakened in the final strides. CAIUS, strongly restrained for three-quarters, closed well while racing wide.

BLACK FOOL, confidently handled and beginning fast, raced under stout restraint until straightened out in the stretch, where he took command gradually, winning drawing out. DARK MIST lost ground throughout and held on gamely. ST. NAZAIRE saved ground to the stretch where, after coming around BUD CHARLTON, held on creditably.

Leaping Bass Misses Lure, but Tries Again

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Marcell, Minn., Aug. 18.—There is a great little bass lake up here called the Fox. It's at least a mile hike beyond the north shore of Clubhouse lake. The bass in Fox lake have their signals mixed. Instead of living up to the name of their home country, they act as if they dwelt in a lake that might better be named Jack Rabbit. Yesterday a large mouth bass came out of a weed bed to hit our fly, leaped completley out of the water as he made the strike, missed the lure, and then grabbed it for keeps. It was a perfect jack rabbit jump and it put an amusing highlight in our day of exploring and fishing this lake.

There is a road to Clubhouse lake, a good sized body of water, which every summer produces large bass. To reach Fox lake you have to cross Clubhouse and then hike over a trail to complete the trip. Although this jaunt takes time, there are many compensations for the impatient fisherman.

Only Woodpecker Disturbs Quiet.

First on the list come the Norway pines. There is a magnificent stand of virgin forest near and on the shores of Clubhouse lake. The bumpy road to the lake takes you down a winding avenue surrounded by big Norways that have lifted their green tops 100 feet and more into the air. Yesterday was a hot, still day, almost devoid of wind. When we came into the avenue of the old monarchs, with their straight, reddish brown trunks marching away from the road as far as we could see, there was a fragance and hush that one finds only in an untouched pine forest on a summer day. Except for the distant hammering of a woodpecker, there wasn't a sound in this beautiful forest which, fortunately, hasn't been marred by axe or saw.

Instead of leaving Fox lake early in order to return to camp by 6 o'clock, we decided to stay on for the evening fishing. It appeared that we were going to have a calm, smooth lake around sundown, the kind of a situation which would bring the black bass to the surface and set the stage for fly fishing.

Temperature Drops.

About sundown, however, a drop in temperature brought a hint of autumn and the bass were smart and stayed down. The largest bass which cut up a lot of capers on the end of our fly rod weighed in at 3¼ pounds. This was the boy that did the high hurdling before he grabbed the fly.

VANDALS CRICKET TEAM DEFEATS CANADIANS, 159-145

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The Cambridge university Vandals cricket and rugby team of England, now on tour in Canada, won a cricket game from an all-star Canadian team at St. Catherines today. The score was 159 to 145. The last wicket of the Canadians fell at the agreed closing time of 7 o'clock.

The Vandals, who are to play in Chicago later this month, have been defeated only once in ten games of cricket. In the only rugby game played the tourists overwhelmed the Hamilton All Blacks by a score of 36 to 0.

The team will arrive in Chicago on Aug. 28 for a series of two cricket and three rugby games.

DRIVERS RESUME FIGHT FOR RACE TITLE TOMORROW

The fight for the season championship at the Evanston motor speedway, Lincoln and Devon avenues, will be resumed tomorrow. Although the same drivers have been racing at the track each week, winning honors have alternated among Emil Andres, Wes Breeding, Verne Franke, Gordon Chard, Cletus O'Rourke, and Johnny Braun. The drivers will compete in two five mile and a ten mile race tomorrow.

A junk car race also has been scheduled. The last One Hoss Shay Derby brought together a dozen dilapidated cars.

Johnny Fitzpatrick Gets Decision Over Jack Otey

Johnny Fitzpatrick last night defeated Jack Otey, south side 130 pound boxer, in the five round windup of the professional boxing show at the Rainbo fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. In another five round bout George Engle and Roy Moore fought a draw. Other results:

Elmer Hedquist beat Pete Blanchard [4].

Fred Gravelle beat Popeye Huber [4].

Bobby Hilsapp and George Williams drew [4].

Lake View Student to Attempt Distance Swim

An attempt will be made by a Lake View High school student, Jay Meling, 2017 Roscoe street, to swim from the Michigan avenue bridge to the World's Fair bathing beach tomorrow morning. Meling will enter the water at 11 a. m., and after leaving the mouth of the Chicago river will attempt to reach his goal by swimming just inside the breakwater to a point just south of the Adler planetarium.

YANKEES' EIGHT RUNS IN FOURTH BEAT BROWNS, 8-3

Ruth Forced Out When Hit on Leg by Pitcher.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The New York Yankees acted like the team which won the world championship last fall again today, hammered Wally Hebert and Hank McDonald in a furious fourth inning attack, and scored enough runs to beat the Browns, 8 to 3, and get an even break for the series. The victory still left them 7½ games behind the Washington Senators.

The Yanks had a scare in the midst of their big rally when Babe Ruth, at the plate for the second time in the inning, was struck over the right ankle by one of McDonald's pitches and was bruised severely enough to make him leave the game. Ruth dropped to the ground when hit and for a moment the Yanks and the fans feared a broken leg. Examination revealed, however, that the injury was nothing more than a painful bruise and Ruth is expected to return to action tomorrow or within a few days.

Russ van Atta pitched a well earned victory for the Yanks. He yielded eight hits, well scattered, and fanned eight Browns. It was his tenth triumph of the season.

TIGERS, 7; ATHLETICS, 6.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Detroit won an uphill battle from Philadelphia in a series opener today, batting around in the sixth inning to score four runs, then putting over what proved to be the winning run in the seventh without the aid of a hit.

The Tigers' sixth inning attack wiped out an early lead the Athletics had amassed, largely due to a homer by Cochrane in the fourth with none on and Jimmy Foxx's 36th home run of the season, which came in the sixth after Cochrane had singled.

Williams' fumble of Gehringer's grounder, a pass to Greenberg, and Doljack's force of Greenberg, on which Gehringer scored from second, gave the Tigers their seventh run. Score:

GIANTS, 4; REDS, 1

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Giants added another comforting half game to their National league lead today but missed their twenty-first shutout, defeating the Cincinnati Reds for the third straight time, 4 to 1. As Pittsburgh was idle, the victory gave the Giants a five game lead over the second place club.

Fred Fitzsimmons blanked the Reds until two were out in the ninth; then his rival pitcher, Red Lucas, came through with a single that drove in Harry Rice from second. Fitzsimmons yielded ten hits, but three double plays helped him out of the tight spots.

Joe Moore led the Giant batters with a double and two singles and scored the first two Giant runs. Mel Ott knocked in two with a pair of base hits and Johnny Vergez accounted for the last with his thirteenth homer of the season. Score:

base in the third, but this time the veteran right hander dug his own grave. Jordan doubled down the left field line for a starter and scored on a single to center by Berger. This was where Root was excused. Nelson stepped in and closed the inning without losing the lead.

From the second to the start of the sixth inning the Cubs were meek, but Jurges opened the sixth with a single to center. Nelson tried to sacrifice, but Whitney picked up the bunt and whipped it to second to force Jurges.

Berger Robs Cuyler.

Jurges went into the base with his feet flying and Urbanski thought the proceedings entirely unnecessary. He spoke to Bill, who spoke back. Urbanski laid his glove and the ball on the ground and started for the Cub infielder, but Umpire Rigler stepped between them. Rigler, being of enormous proportions, hid Jurges from Urbanski's view. The Brave finally circled Rigler's waistline and found his target, but by that time there were a couple dozen athletes on the scene and order was restored.

Cuyler cooked up a scoring opportunity when he led off the seventh with a double to left. It would have amounted to something if Berger hadn't taken a hand. Babe Herman hit one so hard it seemed to be headed for the Charles river. Mr. Berger turned, dashed toward the center field wall, and just as he hit the barrier he made a gloved hand catch of the ball over his shoulder. The next two fellows popped out. The remainder of the day's action was unimportant, though imperative.

WARNEKE FACES GIANTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18.—The Cubs quit Boston as quickly as possible after the game with the Braves today in order to reach New York in time for a night's rest in stationary beds. They open a four game series with the league leading Giants tomorrow. Len Warneke will pitch the opener and the Giants probably will counter with Carl Hubbell, dispenser of the devastating screw ball.

William Veeck, the Cub president, is willing to join in any move toward standardizing the baseball in all leagues, including the minors. The various balls now in use make it impossible to gauge the relative worth of players in different circuits. Even the major league averages don't mean anything for purposes of comparison. The American league ball is livelier than the National.

The Cubs had to be content with the short end of the 11 games played here this season. The score was four and four until this series, in which the Cubs dropped two before winning the final today.

The loss of a hit on Berger's catch against the wall in the seventh made Babe Herman slightly peevish. When he came up in the ninth and hoisted a foul to Spohrer, he sailed his bat into the Cub dugout and almost knocked the heads off of a couple of his pals.

FOXX BOOSTS HIS BATTING MARK 3 POINTS TO .363

Jimmie Foxx swung his bat with devastating effect against Detroit pitching yesterday to register a big gain in the big six batting race. Foxx smashed three hits, including his 36th homer of the season, in four times up and shot his average up four points to .363. Chuck Klein, big six leader, was idle, while Al Simmons, second in the American league and third in the big six, dropped three points to .349 as he failed to connect in four tries. Bill Terry and Heinie Manush got a hit apiece and each dropped one point, standing:

BASSETT MEETS SIMPSON TODAY IN INDIANA FINAL

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Bill Bassett of Hammond, defending champion, and Johnny Simpson of Washington, three time title-holder, will meet tomorrow in the 36 hole final for the state amateur golf championship. Eighteen holes will be played in the morning and 18 in the afternoon.

Bassett reached the finals today by eliminating Tony Bruggeman, Fort Wayne, 6 and 5, in a 36 hole semi-final match. Simpson defeated Phil Talbot, Bloomington, 2 and 1. Both Bassett and Simpson held leads of 1 up at the end of the morning round. Bassett was never threatened by Bruggeman, but Talbot squared his match with Simpson on the 17th hole and lost out on the last nine.

after the catch. Swanson stole second. Kress also went for a long one. Manush going to the left field wall for his smash. Heving scored after the catch. The inning ended with Simmons' high fly to Harris.

The Sox made their third run in the fifth. Swanson opened with a single to right and went to third on Haas' single to center. For some reason Haas wandered off first and was run down, Sewell to Myer to Kuhel, Swanson holding third, whence he scored while Cronin was throwing out Kress. The inning ended with Simmons' tap to Myer.

In the seventh the Sox tied the score in the following manner: Sullivan batted for Heving and singled to center. This caused the Senators to replace Thomas with Russell. Swanson then came through with his third straight single, sending Sullivan to third. Haas hit into a double play, Sullivan scoring the tying run. Cronin threw out Kress.

Double Play Stops Sox.

After Simmons had flied to Schulte to start the eighth, Appling singled to center, but went down in a double play with Dykes.

Cronin walked with one down in the tenth, the first batsman in twenty to reach first. Goslin singled to left for the first hit off Wyatt, Cronin stopping at second. Schulte caromed a single off Wyatt's glove, filling the bases. Kuhel supplied the second out with a foul to Dykes. Bluege singled to center, scoring Cronin and Goslin. Bolton batted for Sewell and lined to Simmons.

Swanson started the Sox tenth with a walk. Haas grounded to Myer, who tagged Swanson and threw to Kuhel to complete a double play. Cronin threw out Kress to end the game.

YANKEES COME TO TOWN

The Yankee circus comes to town today. It is reported that the lions are a bit mangy, the elephants have sore feet, and the clowns have stolen the feature acts. But it's still a good circus. Ed Durham will pitch in the single encounter this afternoon and Sam Jones and Ted Lyons will do their stuff in the double header tomorrow. Johnny Allen is said to be in shape to pitch the opener for the Yanks.

Harold Johnson, editor of Who's Who in Major League Baseball, a 544 page album and history just off the presses, this afternoon will present Manager Joe McCarthy and each of his hired hands with de luxe copies of the publication. The book is said to be the most ambitious ever printed about the personnel of any professional sport.

Today is to be celebrated as the second father and son day at Comiskey park. Every papa who pays to get in can fetch along one of his male offspring for nothing.

FORT SHERIDAN DEFEATS DAYTON FOR POLO TITLE

Fort Sheridan won the championship of the central circuit by defeating Dayton, 6 to 5, in the finals of the intracircuit polo tournament yesterday at Oak Brook. By this victory the soldiers earned the right to enter the national intercircuit tournament, which will begin Aug. 27. In the first match they will meet the El Ranchito players, champions of the Southwest circuit.

Rain Forces Postponement of Grand Circuit Races

Miss Johnson Takes Parks Golf Crown

Miss Shirley Ann Johnson of Sunset Ridge yesterday won the women's Illinois public parks golf title at Waveland by defeating Miss Josephine Souchek of Indian Boundary, 5 and 4, in the 36 hole final match. She gained all her advantage in the afternoon round.

They were all even at 18 holes and had equal medal scores of 97.

Mrs. Gohs Wins First Flight.

Mrs. Mildred Simmons of Hickory Hills won the championship consolation, 3 and 2, at 18 holes, against Miss Ruth Taylor of Medinah. The first flight consolation, also over the short route, was won by Mrs. Sam Hamilton, Santa Monica, Cal., who defeated Mrs. M. J. Wise of Lincoln, 3 and 2.

Miss Souchek outplayed Miss Johnson on the first nine holes, being 2 up at the turn. Honors were even on the second nine.

At the start of the final 18 holes Miss Souchek began to fall short on her approaches and to miss putts. She was able to win only two holes to seven for Miss Johnson, who was 4 up at the final turn.

Each Has a Penalty.

Trap trouble between the young golfers, both of whom competed last month in Evanston in the Western Junior, was about evenly divided. Each had a penalty, while Miss Johnson encountered two stymies in the forenoon. In view of the gale which blew over the course all day, their medal scores were satisfactory.

CROWDUS, MATHISON WIN

Walter Crowdus, Mid-City, and Harold Mathison will meet in the final round for the Chicago public parks golf championship this afternoon at the Jackson park course. In the semi-finals yesterday Crowdus won from R. F. Johnson, Mohawk, 3 and 2, while Mathison defeated Senerau De Willo, Hollywood, Cal., 1 up.

The championship consolation play was distinguished by the brisk play of Lee Creagan, who defeated Jack Kamsler, 3 and 1. With 34—84—68 in the forenoon Creagan was 2 up. He had 37—37—74 and Kamsler 39—37—76 in the afternoon. The other match was won by Erhie Bones, who defeated Joe Hennessey, 3 and 2.

Steele Defeats Cooney, 2 and 1.

In the first flight Charles Steele beat Chuck Cooney, 2 and 1, while Bill Werner beat Bill Daniel, 3 and 1. Play in the first flight consolation ended in a victory for Willie Buff, Olympic lightweight boxing champion in 1924. Buff defeated R. B. Loehner, 1 up, after being even at 18 holes.

Crowdus missed putts on the first nine in the forenoon and was 2 down at the turn. He lost the tenth, but Johnson was in the lake at the 11th and began to shoot wide of the greens. Johnson was 2 down at the end of 18 holes. Crowdus had 39—36—75. Johnson, out in 35, picked up at the 11th.

In the afternoon Crowdus' putter wouldn't function and he lost the first two holes. They traded six others and were square at the 27th. Rounding the final turn Crowdus won five holes and Johnson, apparently tired and running into hard luck, took only one, the 14th.

Mathison 1 Up on First Nine.

Mathison, out in 38, led De Willo, 1 up at nine holes. He was 3 up at the 13th with a 2, but the Hollywood player took the 18th with a birdie. Mathison came home in 35 for a total of 73. De Willo had 36 for an aggregate of 75.

In the afternoon De Willo won the first two holes to square the match. From there on the match bristled with brilliant play. They were square at the 34th. Mathison won the next hole after De Willo had put his second in a trap, and took the match by halving the last hole with a long putt. Their afternoon medal scores were Mathison, 38—40—78, while De Willo had 37—40—77.

G. Dawson's 73 Tops Roundup at Glen Oak

The Dawson family foursome did not win a prize yesterday in Glen Oak's 17th annual Roundup but one member of it did. George, with 36—37—73 even par, was low gross for the field of 192 that played in the first half of this popular invitational tournament. Today the last 18 holes will be played and prizes will be awarded, winners at a banquet in the evening.

George Dawson was the only one in the field who touched par. Art Sweet, with 37—37—74 and five birdies, was closest and he was followed by Johnny Lehman, Tom Frainey, Harry Rautenbush, and Frank Renwick with 76. Only 11 of the big turnout got under 80.

Starts Each Nine with Birdie.

In the foursome with George were his three brothers, John, Warren, and Harold. John and Warren had 77 while Harold, with a handicap of 5, the largest in the family, shot 86.

George began with a birdie and then lost it by missing a short putt at the fourth. He was one under par at the 5th, and three putted the 7th to turn in 36, even par.

Like the first nine, he started on the back round with a birdie and then threw it away with his second three putted green at the 11th. Even par to the 14th, he ran in a 3 there and three more pars followed and he was one under perfect figures. The small trap to the left of the 18th green cost him his advantage and he was forced to take a 5 and wind up with 37, even par.

His card:

Par—Out	443	453	544—36
Dawson—Out	343	543	644—36
Par—In	534	444	454—37—73
Dawson—In	444	434	455—37—73

Sweet had one three putt green, went over once, took two shots to get out of a trap and missed one shot. His Five birdies, all made with long putts, helped him out. His card:

Sweet—Out	354	454	543—37
Sweet—In	585	363	444—37—74

Lehman Has Three Putt Spree.

Johnny Lehman had a three putting spree, using extra whacks on three greens. He got behind the famous oak on the 14th fairway, but finished up with 38—38—76. All of the 76 shooters had the same rounds except Frainey who was 37—39.

Dawson was winner of low gross for the day's 18 holes; Sweet low net; Rautenbush second low net and Tom Frainey and Frank Renwick were tied for third.

Peoria Team to Compete in Tribune Swim

Five boys and girls will represent the Peoria, Ill., Country club in the fourth 100 yard swimming championships sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE at the Lincoln park lagoon Aug. 27. The entry was submitted by the team coach, Al Klingel.

"These swimmers have been in training all summer," Klingel writes, "and, although this will be our first experience in your meet, we hope to have a winner."

The team is composed of Harriet Vance, 12; Jackie Swann, 12; Grant Anderson, 15; Ed Harris, 16; and Richy Anderson, 12.

Only Four Days Left to Enter!

Only four days remain in which entries will be accepted for the races. All letters received postmarked prior to midnight next Tuesday will be accepted. The individual entry blank printed daily in THE TRIBUNE may be used, but team entries may be submitted in a group if the ages of the contestants are attested by the coach or manager of the team.

All arrangements have been completed for the races. Contestants must report between 10 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. on the day of the races for their racing numbers. The first heat of the class A division for boys 11 and 12 years of age will start promptly at 1:30. The winner in each preliminary will qualify for the finals, or semi-finals in case there are sufficient contestants to bring the number of preliminaries to fifteen. Fourteen lanes can be laid out and unless the number of heats exceeds this figure there will be no semi-finals.

Lincoln park life guards and swimmers from the American Red Cross will patrol the course and banks of the lagoon. The boys' races will be run off first except for the finals and then the girls will have their turn. The ten championship finals will complete the afternoon.

Officials Will Be Listed Tomorrow.

Number clerks are urged to report before 10 o'clock in the morning to Harry Berz, while all other officials should be ready a half hour before the first race. A list of officials will be printed in tomorrow's TRIBUNE.

The names and racing numbers of all contestants will be published in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE on the day of the races. A program also will be distributed without charge in the afternoon. Swimmers 16 years of age and over must be registered with the A. A. U. They may register on the day of the races or obtain their registration cards in advance from Capt. Roy E. Davis, 538 South Clark street. The cost of the A. A. U. card is 25 cents.

PELICAN HURLER PITCHES NO HIT, NO RUN GAME

New Orleans, La., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Fred Johnson of the New Orleans Pelicans turned in the season's second no-hit no-run pitching effort in the Southern association today when he blanked Birmingham, 6 to 0.

Only two Birmingham players reached the bases. Berres got on in the eighth when Catcher Autry missed the third strike, and Kane walked.

Gar Wood Will Start Boats Tomorrow.

Two hundred outboard pilots will compete in the gold cup regatta on the north lagoon at A Century of Progress tomorrow. The regatta will be started by Gar Wood, famed speed boat racer, at 10 o'clock in the morning. Competition will continue throughout the day.

Entrants represent 66 cities and 30 states and include 12 world's record holders. Among the champions entered is Charles Cabot of New Haven, Conn., who won the Albany to New York race last year.

Predict New Records.

Twenty-three races are on the program, which includes several stunt events by Bob Eastman and his troupe of drivers from Winterhaven, Fla.

Officials and drivers predict new records in the competition, which will bring the outstanding pilots of the country against one another in the latest racing equipment.

The craft in which Cabot won the Hudson river event averaged 44 miles an hour for the long race. Over a shorter course Cabot believes his speedster can break the world's record. The fastest time recorded for an outboard motor powered craft is 58.915 miles per hour, set by Art Sauerberg, a professional.

Tennes Defends Cup.

Horace Tennes, Loyola university student, will defend the cup which he won in the first regatta last year. His chief competitor will be Miss Ruth De Roo of Flint, Mich., who won the national class A championship at Bay City, Mich.

Marty Martin of Los Angeles, national champion in class A and C of the amateur division, also is a favorite competitor. All events will be contested on a one mile circular course over a five mile distance.

City Softball Teams Ready for Finals

Chicago's 1933 softball championships will be decided tomorrow at Wrigley field when the survivors of more than 1,000 teams meet to decide the winners in various classes, starting at 9 a. m. and continuing until late in the afternoon.

Championships will be decided in seven divisions, free lance, 14 inch ball; free lance, 16 inch ball; girls; boys 17 and under; commercial; church; fast pitching.

The first game will start at 9 a. m. and will be a playoff of a disputed game in the men's free lance division. At 10 and 11 a. m. semi-finals in the same class will be staged. The first title game will go on at 12 noon and will be followed by the others at hourly intervals.

Contestants in tomorrow's games are winners of a schedule which started early in June in which more than 2,000 games were played. Champions in each class will qualify for the world's championship meet to be held at

THREAT TO KILL BY WIFE BARED IN TORCH DEATH

Find Letter in Desk of Slain Husband.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Discovery of a threatening letter written by Mrs. May Hanson to her former husband, Earl Hanson, 42, torch murder victim, in which she stated that she would kill him, today strengthened the state's chain of evidence against the 38 year old mother of two children who yesterday was formally charged with murder.

The letter was found in Hanson's desk at the Ingersoll Milling Machine company by Robert Gaylord, president of the company. Hanson was a sales executive of the Ingersoll company. The letter was turned over to State's Attorney Robert E. Nash.

Assistant State's Attorney Max Weston said the text of the letter and the date on which it was written would not be disclosed, explaining that the prosecution desired to hold it "in reserve" until forced to produce it in court.

Makes Threat of Death.

"In the letter Mrs. Hanson said she was going to kill her ex-husband," the assistant prosecutor declared.

Mrs. Hanson is being held in the county jail pending her arraignment on the murder charge. Mrs. Hanson was taken into custody the day following the death of her husband, but was not served with a murder warrant until yesterday. Hanson died Sunday night when some one threw gasoline and a match on him as he backed his automobile in a lane in front of his divorced wife's country home.

He had brought his 12 year old daughter to the home of her mother after taking the child to a theater. Hanson was allowed to have the daughter on Sundays through the provisions of a divorce decree which separated the Hansons two years ago.

Mrs. Hanson, who was found standing near the flaming body of her husband by the first persons to arrive at the scene, was burned about the eyebrows, lips, and neck. She said she suffered the burns when she rushed from the basement of her house, and, fearful that her daughter was still in the car, looked into the flaming machine in search of the child. She admitted she gave no aid to her former husband while he lay in his death agony on the ground near her.

Regains Composure.

In her jail cell today Mrs. Hanson had regained her composure and exhibited only slight concern over the murder charge. Yesterday she fainted after screaming protestations of innocence when the warrant was served.

She has admitted buying a gallon of gasoline from a nearby filling station two hours and a half before her husband died. She also has admitted the ownership of the charred porcelain pan from which authorities say the gasoline was thrown on Hanson. She also told authorities that a box of safety matches with two or three matches missing, found at the death scene, was from her kitchen.

Coroner Walter Julian announced today that the inquest into Hanson's death will be held at 9:30 a. m. Monday. The Hansons' daughter, June, 12, will be the principal witness.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: What Will the Harvest Be?

PASTOR HELD FOR DELINQUENCY OF 17 YEAR OLD GIRL

Lived in House with Her and His Wife.

Angola, Ind., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The Rev. Sidney H. Beauchamp, 26 years old, revivalist who was formerly pastor of the Nine Mile United Brethren church in Allen county, is being held in the Steuben county jail here on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 17 year old girl.

Shortly after being locked up the pastor issued a short statement denying any wrongdoing and then organized himself and three other prisoners into a quartet. Whenever questions, after that, were asked him he promptly broke into song, aided by his companions. Their favorite numbers were haunting ballads without a hymnal flavor.

Wife Free on Bonds.

Arrested with the revivalist were his wife, Phyllis, 26 years old, and the girl, Geneva Bradbury. The complainant in the case is Miss Bradbury's mother. After she had sworn to a warrant it was served on the trio in a cottage at Gage lake, where they were all living together.

Mrs. Beauchamp, briefly questioned, is said to have acknowledged that her husband was avowedly in love with her younger rival. She had been afraid, however, to call public attention to the strange situation in the household for fear that publicity would react against her husband's pulpit career. The authorities permitted the wife's release on bonds.

Girl Kept in Jail.

The girl, on the other hand, was also kept in jail. It is understood that she made a statement to authorities, but this was suppressed and permission to interview her was refused by the sheriff and the county prosecutor.

"There was nothing wrong in my relations with Miss Bradbury," declared the minister. "I simply brought her into my home because she would have more advantages there than in her own."

A date for the hearing on the charge against him has not been set.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 18.—Patrick J. Ruttledge, minister of justice, tonight issued a warning that if Gen. Owen O'Duffy's National Guard [blue shirts] attempts to hold parades of uniformed or armed men the public safety act will be enforced and the organization will be proscribed. The blue shirts are supporters of former President William T. Cosgrave.

The government's warning means that the parades arranged by the blue shirts throughout the Free State for next Sunday in commemoration of Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and Kevin O'Higgins, martyred Irish patriots, are prohibited. It seems inevitable that if Gen. O'Duffy attempts to hold the meetings force will be used.

President De Valera announced today that the new section of the civic guard, which was organized last week as a special measure to cope with the blue shirt menace, would be maintained, ready for what he described as an "insecure domestic situation."

DELAY CHICAGO MILK DEALERS' FIGHT ON PRICE

Believed Independents Will Compromise.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—A one week continuance in the pending injunction action against the Chicago milk marketing agreement decided upon today to give counsel for the complaining independent Chicago milk dealers more time to work out a possible compromise with farm adjustment officials.

The week's delay was agreed upon at a conference between lawyers of the agricultural adjustment administration, Joseph Green, counsel for the independents, and James L. Fly, special assistant to the attorney general, who is acting as the government's lawyer in the litigation.

The case had been scheduled for hearing next Monday in the District of Columbia Supreme court. The continuance will postpone opening of actual prosecution of the suits until Aug. 28.

Reports were current today that the injunction actions filed by the Chicago independents to restrain enforcement of the federal license in the Chicago area may be dropped entirely.

PLAN CITY MILK STANDS.

The Independent Milk Distributors of Northern Illinois, who are opposing at Washington the Chicago milk agreement which would fix a minimum price of 10 cents a quart, announced their intention yesterday of invading Chicago proper with their "cash and carry" milk sales plan.

The stands have been barred from Chicago and some adjoining suburbs because their premises and the farms from which they get milk are not inspected by the Chicago board of health.

Yesterday Norman R. Dietz, president of the association, made public a letter to President Bundesen, asking him to inspect 500 farms.

"We inspect farms in the order in which applications are filed," said Dr. Bundesen. "There are about 1,500 applications already on file."

Justice of the Peace Martin H. McGrath of Oak Park, entered default fines of $50 each against four roadside milk stand proprietors when they failed to answer charges of maintaining unsanitary premises. Those fined were Anton Beckman, owner of the Grand Farm Products company, River Grove; Leo Gunick and Spencer Howard, owners of the Harlem and Lawrence milk depot, Norwood Park, and R. A. Stubenboll, owner of the Elmwood Dairy company, Niles Center.

BARTENDER IS HELD UP.

Barney Fernson, 7718 Cornell avenue, bartender in the Palais Royal beer tavern, 6700 Cottage Grove avenue, surrendered $40 to two bandits who entered the tavern yesterday.

TRAVELERS' AID BUREAU DUTIES GROW THREEFOLD

The work of the Travelers' Aid bureau in Chicago tripled during June and July of this year over the same period in 1932, Miss Alice McMaster, executive secretary of the organization, reported yesterday. During the two months this year the organization aided 18,433 travelers as compared to 5,321 who received help in the same period in 1932.

In all branches of the Travelers' Aid work, including that at bus terminals and at the branch office at the Fair, a total of 24,077 persons were served during the two months. The gain was laid to increased travel and changing economic conditions. Also the organization as a member of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies is carrying on special work as a part of the council's protective plan.

"Our office at the World's Fair at 23d street has been exceedingly busy," Miss McMaster said. "Since the Fair opened we have assisted 5,064 persons on the ground. We returned 2,291 lost children to their parents or guardians, and helped 2,088 adults, many of whom had become separated from relatives or friends, or were without funds. Others lacking knowledge of the city, wished to locate friends."

The Travels' Aid, Miss McMaster explained, helps stranded persons without friends and unfamiliar with the city. It advises visitors about reputable lodgings, contacts parents or guardians for runaways or young people who have failed to find the jobs they expected.

"We don't do spectacular work," Miss McMaster said, "but we are certain that our workers, always at their posts, have changed the currents of many a life at a crucial moment."

1 Workman Killed, Another Hurt When Scaffold Falls

Otto Holmquist, 60 years old, 3706 Agatite avenue, was fatally injured and David Palm, 52 years old, 3718 Janssen avenue, was seriously hurt yesterday when the scaffold on which they were working on a building at 2400 North Racine avenue gave way, throwing them to a paved alley four stories below. The men were bricklayers and had been engaged in tuckpointing the building. They were taken to the Alexian Brothers' hospital, where Holmquist died. Palm suffered a fractured left leg, a dislocated shoulder, and internal injuries.

James Belcastro Arrested Under New Vagrancy Law

James Belcastro, described by the police as "king of the bombers," was the first hoodlum to be arrested yesterday under the new vagrancy law passed by the last legislature. The warrant for Belcastro's arrest was obtained by Capt. Patrick Collins of the Des Plaines street police and was served on Belcastro when he appeared in court to answer a charge of disorderly conduct. He was released on $1,000 bond pending trial.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The second reported casualty among the actresses assigned to the leading rôle of Walter Winchell's movie came today when Lilyan Tashman was taken to a hospital. Miss Tashman was said to be troubled with adhesions after an appendectomy performed last October. Blossom Seeley, stage star "blues" singer, stepped into the rôle.

MISSOURI VOTES TODAY ON DRY REPEAL ISSUE

Wets Are Confident of Sweeping State.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Unless all signs go wrong Missouri tomorrow will sweep into the parade with her twenty-one sister states, which so far without a break have voted for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Final plans were being made today in Kansas City and the remainder of the state for tomorrow's balloting, with forecasts that the vote will be comparatively light, considering the long debatable question involved.

The Democratic party of Missouri will carry the chief end of the contest for repeal, joined by the Republican organization in St. Louis and in some other sections. The eve of the balloting finds the dry camp lacking in cohesion. In many districts the prohibitionists are inactive, and plan to remain away from the polls.

Leaders for repeal, including Gov. Park, are confident that Missouri will give a big wet majority.

SEIZE YACHT WITH $200,000 LIQUOR CARGO

New London, Conn., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The 111 foot auxiliary yacht Felicia, with 1,800 cases of assorted liquors valued at $200,000 in her staterooms aft, was seized near Race Rock light house today by a coast guard patrol boat. Ten men and two women found aboard were arrested charged with smuggling.

The Felicia is owned by Emanuel Morganlander of New York City. The coast guard said the yacht was formerly owned by United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island. The master of record was listed as Joseph Jerome, but none aboard the boat would admit being the master.

Lieutenant Commander Henry Coyle said the yacht and cargo will be surrendered at New York, as the seizure was made in New York waters. The persons arrested will be taken to New York to be arraigned.

ROBERT W. COYNE MADE DRY CZAR IN CHICAGO AREA

Robert W. Coyne yesterday took charge of prohibition enforcement in the Chicago area at the order of John S. Hurley, assistant director of the division of investigation for the department of justice.

Gus Simons, acting administrator whom Coyne supplants, was reduced to the rank of investigator. Similar demotions affect Deputy Administrator Al Aman, who led raids on a number of night life spots, and Chief Investigator Eliot Ness, who directed most of the raids upon large stills and breweries in the last two years.

Coyne, who comes from Boston, said he understood that the special agents' division will be placed under his direction. W. E. Bennett, formerly in charge, was transferred to Los Angeles.

Protest Elmwood Park Increase in Water Rates

Two hundred property owners of Elmwood Park held a massmeeting last night at Grand and Harlem avenues to protest against the recent change of water rates in the village from 10 to 28 cents per thousand gallons. They also protested against the plans to build a $150,000 reservoir. According to Thomas Carey, village president, the 18 cent difference in rates is not an increase. For years the equivalent of that difference, he said, has been included in the general taxes. It is now intended to transfer it to the water tax, where, he added, it properly belongs.

GANDHI WEAKENS; BRITAIN OFFERS TO SET HIM FREE

POONA, India, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The British government offered Mahatma Gandhi his liberty today on condition that he quit his civil disobedience movement. The mahatma is on the third day of a fast unto death.

Gandhi began the fast because the government prevented him from carrying on his campaign against untouchability in the manner in which he desired while a prisoner in Yeravda jail. Certain privileges were offered him to carry on the work in behalf of the untouchables, India's lowest class, but these did not satisfy Gandhi.

The mahatma began to show signs of weakness today from his fast and the government announced that he would be set free if he would abandon all civil disobedience against British rule.

The events, as outlined by Abner Bender, chairman, include a ball game between the Police post and the Firemen's post. The proceeds will be used to aid the unpaid employés of Chicago. Mayor Kelly will pitch the first ball. A golf tournament will be held at Elmgate Country club, and there will be a bridge party, a pajama contest, a songfest, races, the Schnitzelbank Follies, a concert by the Cook County Auxiliary drum and bugle corps, and a dance. Each child present will receive a gift.

GRAINS TUMBLE; LOSS IN WHEAT IS DAY'S LIMIT

Public Holds Aloof; Traders Sell.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Technical pit conditions are still a dominating influence in the grain markets. Development of an overbought situation was regarded by the best posted grain men on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday as almost entirely responsible for a break in wheat following a small early advance.

The market closed 5 cents lower, the maximum amount permitted under the exchange regulations. December was 88 cents at the last. December was 84⅞ cents asked and May was 91⅞ cents.

It was a coincidence that wheat started to decline a few minutes after Secretary of Agriculture Wallace began to broadcast his ideas on the hog and corn relief program, in which he mentioned large stocks in illustrating how the farmers' market had been curtailed.

Other Grains Decline.

Other grains sympathized with wheat to a considerable extent. Corn, after being up as much as 3⅝ cents over Thursday's finish at the start, dropped 5¾ to 6½ cents from the top, but rallied from the low almost as rapidly as it had declined and closed ¼ cent higher to ⅝ cents lower. September corn was 49¼ to 49⅝ cents and December was 54⅜ to 54½ cents at the close. Oats were off 1¾ to 3 cents, the May being down the limit for one day's operations, while the December option closed at 38 to 38¼ cents. Rye was off 3⅝ to 4½ cents, with December at 70 cents, and barley was down 2⅜ to 3⅜ cents, with the December delivery at 53 cents.

There was a fairly broad outside interest in corn and oats, but the action of wheat led to scattered liquidation by longs, which caused the decline. Numerous unfavorable crop comments were received on corn during the day.

Trader Analyzes Decline.

There was no evidence of any untoward developments in the general grain situation to account for the selling which sent the markets downward. The head of one of the leading La Salle street commission houses, in commenting on the break in wheat, said:

"There was a rush of buying on Thursday, when the market started to advance above the minimum prices, and a flood of outside buying developed. The latter class of buying was absent yesterday, but many of the professional speculators looked for a further big advance and bought freely. When the latter tried to sell they found support lacking, and the decline was the result."

Talk of Pool Dropped.

Despite the decline in wheat yesterday, there was nothing to indicate a revival of talk looking toward the formation of a pool. Those who were instrumental in starting this movement early in the week said such a proposition was dead, and they could see no reason for it being brought to life again.

Liverpool surprised the trade by closing 2½ to 3 cents higher despite pressure of German grain. The latter country is said to be exporting soft wheats and taking high protein grain from Canada and other countries.

Winnipeg wheat was 2⅝ to 2½ cents lower. American houses who sold wheat in that market recently when it was impossible to dispose of any great amount in this country were active on the buying side there early, covering shorts.

CHICAGO BANK SUES TO STOP ITS LIQUIDATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—An injunction suit seeking to enjoin State Auditor Edward J. Barrett from liquidating the East Side Trust and Savings bank of Chicago was filed here today on behalf of the bank. The bank was placed in receivership last week by the auditor.

The bill filed by the bank declares its affairs are in good condition. It has been in suspension since the national moratorium last March. The suit asks that Barrett permit the bank to reopen for business.

The suit was filed under the provision of the state banking act giving banks the right to appeal the decision of the state auditor through the county court here.

Chicago Grain Pits May End Price Limits

The Chicago Board of Trade is considering removal of the limitations on daily fluctuations in grains. An alternative proposal is to widen the permissible fluctuations.

President Peter B. Carey said last night that the governors of the Board of Trade will meet tomorrow to consider the proposals and that definite action may be taken before next Monday. Earlier in the day it was reported that the proposals had been discussed with administration officials at Washington. It was at the behest of the administration that the limits on fluctuations were improved.

Wallace Declines to Comment.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace refused to comment when told Board of Trade officials considered removal of the daily price fluctuation limits.

"That is their business," he said. "They have the rules and regulations to take the action."

Under prevailing regulations prices of wheat, rye, and barley can advance or decline 5 cents a bushel from closing prices of the preceding day, while fluctuations in corn are limited to 4 cents and in oats to 3 cents.

"The limits don't seem to have accomplished their purpose," Mr. Carey said. The present limits, he added, have made it impossible to have a free market in which it is possible for traders to hedge or unhedge cash grain without fear of sending the markets to the daily price limitations, and thereby checking business. Board of Trade officials believe that no limitations are necessary, although a 10 cent limit would be more comparable to the range now imposed on trading in cotton.

Sees Distribution Hampered.

The probability is foreseen that the distribution of wheat and other grains from farmers' hands to the consumer might be greatly hampered unless the exchange regulations are changed.

The fundamental position is regarded as so strong that as soon as general recognition is given to the actual situation in grains, rather than the technical one, it is feared millers and others who desire to secure wheat would be unable to operate freely, owing to inability to hedge. The practice is popular and permits mills to quote flour on a narrow margin of profit, knowing at just what price they can obtain the cash grain.

KANSAS CITY SEEKS CHANGE.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 18.—(AP)—J. S. Hart, president of the Kansas City Board of Trade, said tonight grain men here generally agreed the restrictions on day fluctuations in prices should be widened, and perhaps removed.

"Under present narrow restrictions buyers are unwilling to get into a market they cannot get out of," Hart said. "Inevitably when prices dip here within 2 cents of the maximum decline allowed for one day there is a rush to get out of the market and prices promptly drop the rest of the way. Many grain men here believe that if a little more freedom was allowed buyers would appear at the proper moment to send prices on the rise again."

He said he believed a 10 cent limit would be quite acceptable to most exchanges. The price limit on wheat here is 5 cents and on corn 4 cents. The matter was discussed today at a special meeting of directors and officers of the Kansas City Board of Trade.

GREGORY NAMED AN OFFICER OF PALMER HOUSE

J. I. Case Company Votes $1 Dividend on Preferred

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The J. I. Case company has declared a dividend of $1 on the preferred stock, payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 12. Similar payments were made in the two previous quarters.

STOCKS DRIVEN DOWN BY LATE SELLING BURST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 18.—Selling again outweighed buying of stocks today with the result that practically all active leaders lost from fractions to more than two points.

The market gave its best performance in the morning, when numerous moderate advances came about, but lacking the necessary speculative urge for a rise, the movement failed to carry through. Activity was only fair, the turnover halting just over the two million share mark.

Again the setback in stocks coincided with a reversal in wheat and other commodities, the selling quickening especially when wheat backed down the maximum decline. Much of the selling was attributed to alert traders taking profits against possible extension of the recession in wheat tomorrow while the stock exchange is in recess.

Traders Expect Selling.

Rather than perturbing the bulls, the turndown was anticipated in most quarters as a normal development following the brisk advance of yesterday. The lengthy recess over the week-end forced by the Saturday closing order tends to accelerate selling, a portion of which, in the ordinary course of things, would be held over for Saturday's short session.

A few stocks held rather stubbornly against the selling, but all had to make some concession to the shift in speculative sentiment on the reversal in wheat. Chrysler was a hard played favorite. The stock opened strong and advanced more than a point in heavy deals, only to back down and close unchanged. On its recession, however, it still looked better than it has recently. Mack Truck was another good motor, but General Motors was not in much favor.

Though subjected to no little pressure, Steel common managed to retain part of yesterday's gain, closing off 1¼. Other pivotals were for the most part fractionally lower on the day. Du Pont was more vulnerable than others, its net loss being 2¼.

Alcohol Issues Soft.

The alcohol "big three"—American Commercial, Distillers, and Industrial—were pressed down rather easily, and the same was true of their running mates, the chemicals and glass issues. Standard Brands, now a member of the liquor coterie, dipped a full point on the day.

Oils were active and had their strong spots, but were inclined to skid off in late deals. Rails had their moments of early improvement, but gave way one to three points before the close. New York Central claimed the largest volume here.

Utilities were bogged down behind the leaders most of the day, American Telephone dropping 1⅝ net. Pressure was in evidence against Anaconda and other copper leaders, largely on the row over a code for the industry. Case, Deere, and Harvester were naturally sensitive to the changes in wheat and cotton, as were the mail order issues, Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck.

TRADE REVIEWS SEE DIM CHANCE FOR RECESSION

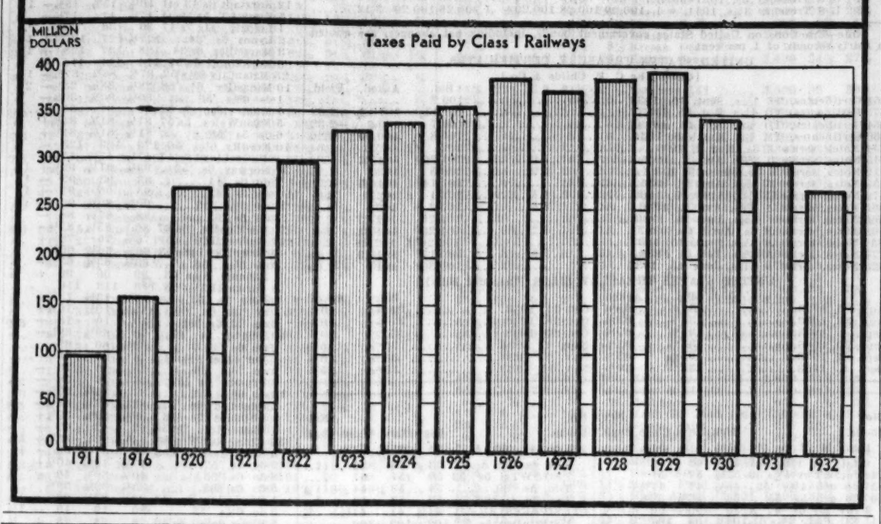
New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Passing of the midsummer season without appreciable slowing of the progress of recovery in business, said the Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., trade review today, makes the possibility of any sizeable recession more remote with each passing week.

At the same time the review pointed out that "the delay in perfecting codes of fair competition is exerting a retardative influence on the rate of activity in a number of industries."

"With each succeeding week," continued the review, "more and more of the small industrial centers throughout the country enter the group showing gains over the 1932 and 1931 figures.

"It is not solely the fear of the general advance of the price level of all merchandise, which will become effective on Sept. 1, which has given such a strong spurt to retail buying, but rather the millions in new found wealth which have been poured into the hands of consumers, who have converted these into long deferred essential requirements."

Taxes Paid by Railroads in 1932 Reduced—Still Exceeded Quarter of a Billion Dollars



A Boss Finds Code Works Only Too Well

What price recovery? A Chicago manufacturer who adjusted his plant's operations to conform with the President's blanket code reports some unusual results. Labor costs immediately went up 10 per cent, or so it seemed. At the end of the first week of operation, however, it was discovered that the workers had displayed greater efficiency during the shorter working period and the improvement just about offset the increase in labor costs. The manufacturer, whose business is a small one, is in a quandary. He is genuinely anxious to live up to the spirit of the President's appeal. Should he tell his workers not to be so efficient or else?

* *

A salesman for a La Salle street house recently sold a bond to a customer. In making the deal he said the bond was guaranteed by the United States Steel corporation. Returning to his office the salesman told the "boss" what he had said. "Get on the phone and cancel that sale," the salesman was ordered. "If you tell them anything you've got to tell them everything according to the new federal securities law."

"Telling all" would have consisted of reading the voluminous mortgage covering the issue and giving the history and financial situation of the big steel company, a somewhat lengthy task for a bond salesman.

At a recent conference at Washington between George N. Peek and representatives of the grain exchanges the former outlined his ideas as to the grain situation. Turning to a grain man he is reported as saying, "It is our desire to restore prices to the 1909-'14 level. What do you suggest?"

The grain man replied: "If I remember correctly the 1909-'14 period was the last five years when the grain trade did not have to contend with government interference."

"That is no answer," returned Mr. Peek.

"It's a damned good answer," one of his advisers is said to have replied

The inspired compositor got away with another one yesterday, inadvertedly using the ward 'tar" in place of "tax" in an article on the processing tax. A La Salle street wit spotted the error and commented: "Not so bad," he said. "We are sure going to get smeared, and it will stick."

Farmers coming on the market from various sections of Iowa predict there will be no liquidation of sows such as Secretary of Agriculture Wallace anticipates his bounty of $4 per head will bring.

"Almost any good hog raiser will pay almost $4 per head over the Chicago market price for a good healthy piggy sow," said C. H. Lamb from Benton county, Iowa. "While the market for sows to be disposed of through slaughter houses runs from $2.90 to $3.40 per hundred pounds, Iowa farmers are paying $4 per hundred in several sections for good piggy sows."

PUBLIC IS USING MORE CURRENCY; BLACK ASSERTS

Denies Reserve Banks Withhold Money.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The belief that currency actually in use by the public has increased substantially since March was expressed today by Gov. Eugene R. Black in explaining the federal reserve board's monetary policies.

Black's analysis of the present credit situation was contained in a letter made public by Senator Thomas [Dem., Okla.], a leading congressional inflationist, who has demanded that the reserve board either expand credit through greater open market purchases of government securities or that greenbacks be issued.

Thomas announced later he would continue his fight against what he terms currency and credit contraction by federal reserve banks, which, he said, threatens to retard or defeat the administration's recovery program.

Hoarded Money Returning.

Black, pointing to the movement of hoarded money back to the banks since the bank holiday and the return by federal reserve banks of funds they had borrowed against expected withdrawals, wrote Thomas:

"This return flow of currency has greatly strengthened the banking situation and increased the banks' ability to serve commerce, industry and agriculture, the money redeposited by banks in reserve banks being available for these purposes.

"The recent decline in money 'in circulation,' therefore, was not brought about by any attempt or purpose of either the federal reserve banks or the federal reserve board to curtail the aggregate amount of currency and did not reflect a withdrawal of funds from the public by the reserve banks, but the return flow to these banks of currency that had taken flight into hoards.

"On the contrary, it is believed currency actually in use by the public has increased by a substantial amount since March."

Black Explains Movement.

"The growth in circulation, which amounted to $2,000,000,000 between Jan. 11 and March 13 and carried a total of $7,581,000,000 on that date," Black said, "did not reflect an increase in business but resulted from the withdrawal of currency from the banks in which the public had lost confidence and the necessary replacement by such banks of this withdrawn money with currency obtained chiefly from the reserve banks.

"The reduction in the figures as to reserve bank credit to which you refer, resulted from the return of currency to the banks, which used the currency in excess of their requirements to reduce their borrowing at the reserve banks.

"The reserve banks have been buying United States government securities, thus taking the initiative in increasing the volume of funds available to member banks for lending to the public."

DOLLAR RALLIES AS STOCK, GRAIN MARKETS SLUMP

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—In inverse ratio to the reaction of stocks and grains the American dollar today displayed resistance to the selling pressure in foreign exchange markets.

The British pound sterling, up around 6 cents in early dealings, began to slip back when shares and commodities turned irregular and finished with a loss of ¼ of a cent at $4.48¾ for cables. French francs, also higher at the start, ended unchanged at 5.32½ cents, and Dutch guilders closed at the previous price of 54.90 cents. Belgian belgas and Swiss francs were about even, the Scandinavians sagged, and Canadian dollars eased. Japanese yen improved.

Dealers reported that the inflationary impetus, which was credited with the sharp slump in the dollar yesterday, apparently showed less vigor in today's late dealings and the seasonal demand for United States currency again came into evidence.

Chicago Ready to Redeem Portion of 1931 Warrants

R. B. Upham, city controller, announced yesterday that funds are now available for payment of interest and principal on city of Chicago tax anticipation warrants, 1931 series, number G4808 to G4942.

N. Y. Cotton Market Seat Again Sells for $21,500

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 18.—The sales volume of twelve big department stores here in the first two weeks of August ran 5 per cent ahead of the corresponding volume a year ago, after twenty-eight consecutive months of continuous decline, Grover Whalen, chairman of the local NRA campaign, revealed today.

Mr. Whalen gave the figures in a speech before the National Dressmakers' association at the New Yorker this morning. He added that "the current week is believed to be better than either of the first two weeks of the month."

In only one month in the last three years has the total sales volume of these twelve stores shown an increase over the same month a year before, he said. He declared that the approximate volume for these stores for last year was $223,000,000.

Spot Silver Up a Cent, Largest Gain in Weeks

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The price of spot silver was advanced 1 cent today to 36⅝ cents an ounce. This was the sharpest gain in several weeks. Silver futures on the Commodity Exchange, Inc., failed to follow the rise in the spot market, easing after an early rise of ¼ cent to levels a shade below yesterday's finals.

Federal Tax Income in July Doubles 1932

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The federal government started its new fiscal year with internal revenue receipts for July, the opening month, more than double their 1932 level, the bureau of internal revenue announced today.

In addition collections from all taxes except the income tax increased last month over the June totals for this year, moving up under the impetus of improved business. Income tax payments were lower in July because June is a quarterly payment month.

July collections from all internal revenue taxes aggregated more than 131 million dollars, compared with slightly less than 62 million dollars in July, 1932. Of the 1933 collections about $7,800,000 came from taxes imposed to finance the administration's farm and industrial recovery programs.

Processing Tax Included.

Yields under these emergency taxes for the first month of their existence were as follows: The tax on dividends, $658,417; the capital stock tax, $1,806,455; processing tax on wheat, $383,088; increased gasoline tax, approximately 5 millions, the bureau revealed. Of the processing taxes more than $382,000 came from levies on floor stocks.

Continuing to bring in revenue at these monthly rates, the emergency taxes would fall far below their estimated totals for the year, Treasury officials, however, believe that they will pick up in coming months.

Despite the doubling of internal revenue receipts in July, the government ended the month with a deficit of almost 108 million dollars, treasury records show. This deficit, however, was only about a quarter of the deficit for the same month in 1932.

New Taxes Swell Total.

The increase in collections last month was due largely to the increased effectiveness of twenty-five excise taxes which were enacted in June, 1932, and which were just getting under way in July a year ago. Last month their yields were easily double of those for July, 1932.

Included in this list of these excise taxes are the levies on electrical energy, bank checks, automobiles, lubricating oils, and tires.

In addition the new recovery taxes and the beer tax helped boost the 1933 total above that of 1932. Beer, showing an unbroken record for higher tax payments every month since its legislation, brought almost 14 million dollars into the treasury last month. Only the gasoline and cigaret taxes yielded more money.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 18.—Keystone Steel and Wire company declared a dividend of $3.50 on its 7 per cent preferred stock on account of accumulations. On Aug. 1 the company paid $5.25 a share on account of accumulations.

United States Foil company declared a quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share on the common, compared with 5 cents quarterly in the two preceding quarters. The regular $1.75 a share was declared in the preferred.

Butter Takes Its Turn as Markets' Pet

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Butter took the center of the stage in commodity markets yesterday. Prices advanced 2¾ to 2¾ cents per pound in the heaviest trade of the month on the strength of the report from Washington that the government is laying plans to provide 30 million dollars to withdraw surplus butter from the market.

Thus a new complication entered into a butter market already torn between opposing influences. So great was the activity in butter and eggs yesterday that the Chicago Mercantile exchange decided to open today for trading in butter instead of observing the Saturday closing rule previously decided upon.

* *

For several weeks butter prices have been strong because the traders were building up quotations in anticipation of the administration's price raising drive.

Then, as butter prices got out of line with prices of butter substitutes and consumers began to use less butter, extraordinarily large storage stocks of butter began to accumulate. This had a steadying effect on prices, but early in August predictions of a shortage of feed grains had a bullish effect on the market.

* *

Yesterday the report that the government would take over some of the surplus butter combined with the revival of inflation talk to force a spirited advance.

Four important influences thus have been brought to bear on butter prices—government manipulation, feed shortage, extraordinarily heavy supplies, and inflation—and the trade anticipates wide fluctuations as the public seeks properly to evaluate the effects of these four influences.

* *

The setback in grain prices yesterday was interpreted by Board of Trade experts as an indication that the public is still loath to get back into the grain market until restrictions on price movements are lightened still further.

Some observers predicted that in the near future the limitations on the daily fluctuations of grain prices would either be widened or eliminated entirely.

Pool talk had pretty well died out, but there was evidence that some of the big houses were buying at the minimum prices, not because they felt that the market needed support but because they regarded wheat, corn, and oats as good buys at yesterday's low prices.

* *

The continued decline in the demand deposits of New York member banks—116 millions last week—will lead to a tightening of money rates in the near future, because when deposits fall bank credit is curtailed.

Last week New York banks were enabled to maintain their previous volume of loans and investments because the increase in government deposits more than offset the decline in demand deposits as out of town banks and commercial depositors withdrew funds.

The money that the government has on deposit in New York, however, will sooner or later be needed to pay for the public works projects, for which allotments of more than a billion dollars have already been made.

Therefore, unless the treasury chooses to raise additional funds by selling more securities, bank credit in New York may be tightened just about the time the NRA program gets under way and causes an increased demand for bank loans.

The drop in demand deposits in New York banks is the result of the provision in the new banking act prohibiting payment of interest by banks on such deposits. It cannot proceed to a point where it would cause the banks any worry, but it has the effect of reducing the tremendous oversupply of cash in New York and thereby tightening money rates.

* *

If there should be inflation, can it be controlled?

Bankers say it can if there is a strong hand at the helm.

Four things are necessary, they say—enough gold bullion to provide an adequate backing for currency after the devaluation has occurred; a favorable balance of trade to insure no unusual drains on the gold supply; a balanced budget, and an administration courageous enough to resist all pleas for more stimulant when the time comes to stop.

The United States would begin with two points in its favor. It has a large gold supply and a favorable trade balance. Its budget is not in balance.

Armour & Co. of Delaware Votes Preferred Dividend

Directors yesterday voted the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock of Armour & Co. of Delaware, payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 10.

SEARS-ROEBUCK PROFITS SPURT IN 2D QUARTER

Six Months' Net Put at $1,619,000.

Pickup in Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s business in the second quarter resulted in a profit of $3,206,000, Gen. R. E. Wood, president, reported yesterday.

GEN. R. E. WOOD. [Moffett Photo.]

The earnings in the period overcame a first quarter loss of $1,587,000 and closed the first half of the year with a profit of $1,619,000, before federal taxes. In the first half last year the big mail order and chain store organization incurred a deficit of $2,120,000.

The half year included the first six four week periods from Jan. 29 to July 13. The first quarter was from Jan. 29 to March 25.

Cash Up, Loans Decline.

Cash on hand on July 15 was $2,500,000 greater than on the same date a year ago, the company reported, while notes payable showed a decline of $3,000,000.

Two items amounting to $500,000 were written off against current expenses during the period. Of this $350,000 represented the entire cost of the company's World's Fair building and $150,000 of deposits in closed banks. Total deposits of the company in closed banks are $233,000.

Reserves were reduced $1,357,000 largely through payment of $1,260,000 of contested federal taxes, applicable to previous years.

First National Profits.

Earnings reports for the half year period were issued by a number of other concerns yesterday. First National Stores reported a profit of $1,331,468, equivalent to $1.53 a share, as compared with $1,138,504, or $1.30 a share, in the same period last year.

Universal Pipe and Radiator company reported a June quarter loss of $177,458, against a deficit of $231,708 in the like period of 1932.

STEEL PLANTS IN OHIO USING MORE IRON ORE

Cleveland, O., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Furnaces in this district consumed 2,626,293 tons of ore last month, which represented an increase of approximately 750,000 tons over consumption in the preceding month. Only 644,732 tons of ore were consumed during July last year.

Reports from steel mills indicated that practically all of this year's expected movement of 22,500,000 tons of ore will be consumed. Steel mills have been receiving large orders and some of them are operating three eight hour shifts. Twelve furnaces were added to the active list last month, making a total of ninety-four that were in blast the first of this month. This is an increase of thirty-eight stacks in the last two months.

Despite heavy lake shipments of ore to Lake Erie docks, there are approximately 4,500,000 fewer tons of ore at furnaces and on docks than there were at this time a year ago.

J. L. MARKS & CO. LOSES ILLINOIS BROKER LICENSE

The license of J. L. Marks & Co., 30 North La Salle street, to conduct a security business in Illinois was revoked by Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, on Aug. 17, according to announcements yesterday. The action was the result of complaints filed with the securities department by clients who claimed that the firm did not account promptly for funds and securities.

The company had built up a large business in this state in the sale of securities on the partial payment plan. Estimates of the loading charge on the sales ran from 30 to 40 per cent. This method of doing business was disapproved by Rupert F. Bippus, securities commissioner, and it is understood that Marks agreed to discontinue it. According to dated circulars it appears that this agreement was ignored.

BANKS MAY PAY INTEREST ON STATE DEPOSITS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The state treasurer's office received a ruling today that member banks of the federal reserve system in Illinois may act as depositories of state funds under the Illinois law and pay interest under the 1933 national banking act.

Treasurer John C. Martin asked Attorney General Otto Kerner for the opinion when a number of federal reserve banks withdrew as depositories after the new national law became effective. The federal law says that federal reserve members shall not pay interest on demand deposits other than those on public funds where required by state laws. The Illinois law requires that funds deposited in banks by the treasurer must earn interest.

Buffalo Group Negotiates for Pierce-Arrow Plant

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The reported negotiations of Buffalo financiers to purchase the Pierce-Arrow plant at Buffalo are still in a conversational stage, according to Harold S. Vance, who is one of the receivers of the Studebaker Corporation of America, of which the Pierce-Arrow company is a subsidiary.

Whitney Denies Plan to Limit Brokers' Activities Just Now

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 18.—Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock exchange, today characterized as unauthorized a report that the exchange would soon frame rules requiring its members to confine their operations to one type of trading activity.

RICHARD WHITNEY

However, it has been admitted for some time among some of the more conservative members of the big board that there would some day probably be a segregation of such trading activities as commission business, the work of specialists, retail distribution, and underwriting.

Because of the nature of the stock exchange organization, dissatisfaction in the ranks has seldom developed, for the disciplinary powers of the various committees and officers are severe, and rulings, even when they have been onerous, have been accepted as necessary.

A segregation of the trading activities in the exchange would undoubtedly work hardship on some members who have combined two if not all of them. From the viewpoint of one member the position of the exchange governors in the matter is an uncomfortable one, for such severe rules would mean the loss of large revenues by many members.

It was the thought in other quarters that at some future time and under the stimulus of demands from Washington, which have already been made and which will probably be augmented, for a reorganization in security distributing methods, the stock exchange most likely will pass some rules which will divorce the work of the specialist from that of the security retailer, or that of the security retailer from that of the straight commission broker.

Chicago Utilities Will Fight Sales Tax on Power in Courts

The ruling of the state finance department making the 2 per cent sales tax applicable to gas and electricity will be contested in the courts, George A. Ranney, vice chairman of the three Chicago utility companies, announced yesterday.

Mr. Ranney said that he did not consider that gas and electricity are tangible property and the companies are prepared to test the question in the courts. He also described as unfair the provision of the ruling which declares that the utility companies must pay the tax themselves and cannot pass it on to their customers.

Ranney Estimates Cost.

The tax if applied to utilities will mean upwards of $2,500,000 to the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company and the Public Service company of Northern Illinois, Mr. Ranney estimated. This is more than 5 per cent of the total which Gov. Horner estimates the tax will yield in the first year, he said.

"While not desiring to curtail by one cent the amount that should be raised under the two per cent occupational or sales tax, so badly needed to meet our unemployment situation, it is our opinion that electrical energy and gas are not subject to this tax, which is levied only upon persons engaged in the business of reselling at retail tangible personal property," the statement issued by Ranney said.

Discrimination Is Charged.

"It further appears to us that the state officials have singled out the public utilities as the only retailers in the state who must absorb the tax and who are not permitted, as all other retailers are, to include it in their prices to their customers.

"This privilege, accorded to other retailers, is denied by the state to the public utilities. This ruling seems devoid of equity and prompts the companies to aggressively defend the rights of their many thousand security holders."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 18.—Bonds on the stock exchange had an irregular time of it today, with the average prices of leading domestic railroad, utility, and industrial issues showing small declines, while those of foreign loans pointed higher.

Trading was active, exceeding $12,000,000 for the first time in several days. United States government bonds ruled steady, six issues moving up 1-32d to 2-32ds point, four selling off 2-32ds to 3-32ds, and two holding unchanged.

Foreign Issues Rise.

A number of issues in the foreign group were bid up briskly as a result of the further decline of the dollar, with not a little of the buying reported as coming from foreign sources. Dutch East Indies bonds jumped 1¾ to 5½ points, bonds of the Australian group fractionally to 1¾ points, and French government and municipal loans fractionally to 1½ points.

The German issues closed irregular, with the government loans showing fractional declines. Further gains of 1 to 4 points in Argentine government bonds was a feature of the South American group. United Kingdom 5½s declined slightly.

Some Industrials Weak.

As far as the domestic corporation bonds were concerned, the more active issues showed the smallest net changes for the day. Pronounced weaknesses, however, occurred in the obligations of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, United Drug, and Postal Telegraph and Cable.

The performance of the bond market on the Curb exchange was largely a replica of that of the big board. Domestic corporation bonds swung lower in fairly active dealings, while foreign loans pointed higher.

Walgreen Co.

Investors' Guide: Please send information concerning Walgreen common stock.—L. M. H.

Answer: Walgreen company is the second largest retail drug chain store organization in this country. It operates 466 units, manufactures cosmetics and pharmaceutical products, and makes its own ice cream and candy.

Sales for July, 1933, were 9.8 per cent more than in July, 1932. For the first seven months of 1933 sales were 6.2 per cent less than in the corresponding 1932 period. This was substantially less than the 14.3 per cent decline in the first quarter comparison.

Net sales for the six months to March 31, 1933, totaled $21,563,000, and net income was $519,000, or 51 cents per common share. For the six months to March 31, 1932, sales were $25,072,000, and net income was $767,000, or 78 cents per common share.

Net income for the 1932 year was $1,623,000, or $1.75 per common share, against net of $1,991,000, or $2.05 per common share, for the preceding year. For the nine months to Sept. 30, 1930, net equaled $1.56 per common share. The company earned $3.29 per common share during the 1929 calendar year.

On March 31, 1933, current assets, including $1,134,000 cash, totaled $7,622,000 and current liabilities were $2,078,000.

Capitalization consists of 41,394 shares of $100 par preferred and 760,315 shares of no par common. An initial dividend of 25 cents a share, placing the common on a $1 annual basis, was paid Feb. 1, 1933.

Pyramiding.

Investors' Guide: What is meant by "pyramiding stocks"?

Answer: This refers to a highly speculative form of dealing in stock on margin. When an individual purchases stock on margin and the price of the stock rises, his equity, or paper profit, rises. In order to pyramid his stocks he uses this increased equity as margin to purchase additional shares. This he can do without putting up more cash. He does it in the hope of a further rise in the market, which will further increase his paper profit, which in turn will enable him to purchase more stock, etc.

Although this process enables him to increase his profits geometrically as long as the market continues to rise, he has increased his total debt and has placed himself in a position where a sharp drop in market prices could not only wipe him out but possibly leave him in debt.

RAIL EARNINGS CONTINUE RISE AS TRADE GAINS

Great Western Returns to Profitable Basis.

Among the roads to show much improved earnings was the Chicago Great Western, which reported a net income for June of $106,128, after taxes and charges, compared with a net loss of $125,980 in June, 1932. For the six months ended June 30 the road sustained a loss of $892,414 compared with a deficit of $406,139 in the like period of last year.

Wabash Lowers Deficit.

The Wabash sustained a deficit of $103,980 for June, after all charges, compared with a deficit of $639,673 in the corresponding month last year. A loss of $3,444,631 was reported for the first six months of this year, compared with a loss of $4,020,322 in the like period of last year.

July operations of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis resulted in a net loss of $237,034, compared with a loss of $505,693 in July, 1932.

The Kansas City Southern reported a net income of $153,721 for July, compared with $61,652 in the same month last year.

The Milwaukee road has joined other lines which have reduced the number of rides on commutation tickets to meet the reduced working hour week established by many companies in conformity with the national industrial recovery act.

Announce Labor Day Rates.

Unusually low excursion rates over the Labor day holiday will be put into effect, according to an announcement yesterday by H. W. Siddall, chairman of the Western Passenger association. Round trip coach fares will be reduced to 60 per cent of the regular one way fare, Mr. Siddall said, which will bring the rate down to almost a penny a mile. First class fares will be reduced to one fare plus 25 cents for the round trip, while round trip sleeping car rates will be cut 25 per cent.

Another fare reduction for the entire country affects students and teachers attending or connected with universities, colleges, preparatory schools and other educational establishments for the 1933-'34 terms. The western railways' committee on public relations states that rates will be put into effect on round trip tickets between any station and a point in which an educational establishment is located, which will enable students and teachers to return to their homes at holidays at substantial savings.

BUTTER AND EGGS HIGHER

Another speculative wave of buying shot butter futures forward on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, gains of 2⅝@3⅝c per lb. more than $400 per car being recorded in both deliveries. The rise was brought about by a heavy wave of new buying and stampeded short covering as a result of reports that the government was planning on buying butter in the open market and planning to reduce production. Eggs also moved higher, closing ¾@1c higher.

Butter opened with sharp advance on the first sales and the market climbed another cent in the first five minutes.

Shorts started buying in at the best prices available, out at 23c profit taking checked the upturn for a time. In the last half hour another wave of buying carried prices to the best figures of the day.

The movement of stocks into storage reported yesterday was 500,000 pounds over last year. The rise in eggs was brought out by the saving in butter largely, but the movement also was aided by storage figures showing 4,000 cases more out than last year. New buying was pronounced. Sales: Butter, 428 cars; eggs, 348 cars. Prices follow:

HOG PRICES RISE EARLY, BUT FAIL TO RETAIN GAINS

Heavy Butchers 5-10 Cts. Under Preceding Day.

The hog market rallied a trifle at the opening yesterday, but prices sagged back before the finish, the heaviest of the butchers closing 5 to 10 cents under the average of the preceding session. Enough of the day's business was transacted at the early prices to pull the general average price up 5 cents to the $3.85 line, while the early top in light weights indicated a 5 cents advance at $4.55.

The Wallace speech came too late to be of influence, but traders still on the "planks" during the afternoon regarded it as bearish as far as the hog market was concerned, because of the prospects of a tax on pork. A processing tax of "considerably less than a cent a pound" will be levied on pork to bring in about $55,000,000 to finance the emergency program, according to Mr. Wallace.

Cost of Marketing Plan.

At current market prices the 1,000,000 piggy sows would be worth $13,000,000, including $4 per head bounty. The 4,000,000 pigs at $6.00 to $9.50 per cwt. would bring in the neighborhood of $20,000,000. A reduction of this kind in the hog production would raise the Chicago average market to around the $5.00 line, or 25 to 30 per cent above the current level, the secretary believes. Yesterday's average hog market showed a loss of 25 per cent compared with the 1933 high day, and was 50 per cent under the pre-war average.

Heavy butchers have been hardest hit in the last three weeks. Yesterday's closing declines carried 350 to 400 pound averages down to $3.25 to $3.40, while 275 to 300 pound averages were bought at $3.65 to $4.00 and 160 to 250 pound light and light butchers sold at $4.15 to $4.55. Most of the 275 to 600 pound packing sows cashed at $2.90 to $3.35.

Cattle Prices Firm.

The meager supply of cattle on the market yesterday cleared quickly at good strong prices, with action surprisingly brisk considering the liberal supplies packing houses got during the first half of the week, when receipts ran heaviest of the year. Only 1,900 "fresh" receipts arrived and 400 of these were billed direct to packers from other points, leaving a small supply of "beef" on the trade.

Market Top Is $6.50.

Nothing choice was offered yesterday, the best here consisting of a load of 1,238 pound steers that sold at $6.50. The few scattered lots of cows and heifers also were cleaned up readily on a fully steady basis.

Meager receipts of sheep and lambs sold quickly at strong to 25 cents higher prices yesterday, but the market still shows mostly 75 cents loss compared with the close of last week. Both natives and westerns topped to all interests at $7.75 and compared with a top of $8.50 late last week.

Country buying of breeding stock held up well, some odd lots of yearling ewes going to breeders as high as $5.50. The highest paid for breeders all last year was $4.75.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Raw sugar was firmer today and, with offerings still limited and a little better inquiry from refiners, prices advanced 4 points to the basis of 3.48c for spots. There was a sale of 25,000 bags of Cubas for September shipment to an outport refiner at the quoted price. After reacting from early advances of 2 to 3 points to the previous close, sugar futures firmed up again on trade buying and closed at net advances of 2 to 4 points. Sales were 27,300 tons. The sharp break in the wheat market in the early afternoon led to increased liquidation by commission houses. Prices follow:
